MISSIONARY MOVEMENT IS ON

Laymen's Association Opens Omaha Headquarters at Y. M. C. A.

HOLD CONVENTION IN MARCH
Ministers and Business Men Evincing Deep Interest in Campaign—National Congress at Chicago in May.

Headquarters for the Laymen's Missionary association, which holds its convention in Omaha, March 17 to 20, inclusive, have been opened at the Young Men's Christian association, J. C. Prall, executive secretary of the association, has established an office on the second floor, where all the business of the missionary movement will be transacted.

"The call for men in Omaha has already been sounded," commented Mr. Prall and the campaign is now on in earnest. Seventy-five conventions are to be held throughout the United States within the next three months similar to the Omaha meeting. The big campaign will culminate in a National Missionary congress to be held in Chicago, May 2-6. This is destined to be the greatest congress of its kind ever held in the United States.

"Representative local committees are at work in this city as well as in seventy-four other large cities of the country. The movement is wholly educational and spiritual. It does not send out missionaries nor does it administer missionary funds, endeavoring only to assist our churches in enlarging their missionary work to meet the spiritual needs of mankind."

Mr. Prall comes to Omaha from Ames, Ia., where he has been general secretary of the Young Men's Christian association for ten years. He is a graduate of the University of Iowa and since taking his degree has done considerable work of this kind.

The campaign in Omaha promises to give striking evidence of co-operation on the part of the churches of modern times. The movement is inter-denominational. The pastors of Omaha have united in directing their efforts toward making the campaign a success, and business men and church workers, generally, have manifested enthusiasm over the movement.

Committees are active in waging campaigns. The committee on deputation, headed by Henry Keeler, is composed of fifty church workers and business men, who will go out among the cities of the state issuing the call to men to join the missionary movement. The committee on education, with J. H. Franklin as chairman and the committee on registration, headed by B. C. Wade, held conferences at the Young Men's Christian association, Friday.

Clement Chase, chairman of the co-operative committee, will address the men's meeting at the Young Men's Christian association, Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, on the question, "What would you do with a Pit-a-Pit?" He will explain the work of the Laymen's Missionary association and its objects.

MAYOR JIM MAKES MEDICINE

Holding Forth in Tepees of Redmen at Aurora Gathering.

PLEASED WITH BERGE'S IDEA
Dahlmanties Are Gleefully Welcoming Reports of Entry of Lincoln Man in the Coming gubernatorial Race.

Mayor Dahliman is up on the bit and going strong.
The appointment of Charles Otto Lobeck as delegate to the municipal league meeting at Lincoln stirred the mayor a trifle more than he let on. So he backed his grip Friday morning and took the train for Aurora, where a great gathering of Redmen is now in progress. In the afternoon he was at great length before the visiting Indians. Of course, no secret will be made of the fact that Brother Dahliman is an open candidate for governor, with his money paid in and ready to play or fight, as the occasion demands.

The mayor and his advisers are quite pleased over the public announcement of Governor Shallenberger that there will be no extra session of the legislature, for the present, at least. The guaranty law litigation is as good an excuse as any, they say, and they have cast off that worried look which came when they learned that the Shallenberger men were apparently determined to put one over on them through the medium of a special session.

Nigger in the Woodpile.
It is not conceded by his opponents that the governor has given out the correct reason for abandoning his plan for a special session. They insist that Allen, Mullen and the other managers have been given straight tips from some signers of the petition prepared by Mullen that it was signed without proper consideration. A sufficient number of recalcitrants made themselves heard to make it very doubtful if the prior initiative and referendum law could be passed. This is the assertion of Dahliman men professing to know what they are talking about, and it has received pretty general credence by the announcement of the governor that a special session is mighty doubtful.

One more cause for Dahliman glee is found in a report from Lincoln, said to have originated among certain delegates to the municipal league meeting, that George W. Berge is not going to permit Shallenberger and the Omaha mayor to have a clear field in the primaries. Berge doesn't easily get over a hurt, and he is nursing two hurts that scarred him deeply. He believes he was whipsawed, by trickery and cunning innuendoes in the last gubernatorial primary; also that he was the man who ought to have been given the call to congress instead of John A. Maguire, when "Bill" Price was forcibly sidetracked from the congressional course and thrown in the race for state auditor.

Look for Berge, Too.
Berge is looked for to get into the gubernatorial contest, and the supporters of Mayor Dahliman are praying that he will enter very soon. "With Berge in the race," said a Dahliman club manager, "there would be nothing to it but the mayor. We think, too, that Berge would prefer Dahliman to Shallenberger, under the circumstances."

While attending the pow-wow of the Redmen at Aurora the mayor will not neglect the fine opportunity to mix the very best medicine he is capable of compounding. He will be meeting a bunch of brothers and sympathetic friends from all over the state, and his local managers are willing to wager he will more than offset an advantage Lobeck—who always hovers on the horizon—may have gained at the Lincoln gathering.

The city comptroller came home Friday morning with another office, that of trustee of the new state league of municipalities. He has not paid his filing fee, though, either for congress or governor. When he will do either, he says, is problematical. Quite a methodical person, the comptroller refuses to be stampeded in any direction, but, in watching developments keenly. Through his friends, "some of the boys on the road," as he puts it, he is keeping pretty close tab on the shaping of events. From his present expressions it is a safe bet that Lobeck will not file for congress unless Hitchcock gives him the word direct that he is to quit; also that he will not file for governor, falling the other, unless Berge lets it be known that he will not make the race again.

HELP FOR RURAL ROUTE MAN

Patrons Are Ordered to Leave Their Stamp Money Enclosed in Convenient Envelopes.

Rural route patrons will be forced by the government to be more thoughtful of the convenience of the carrier man. A bulletin issued by the postmaster general, received in Omaha Saturday, announces that all money left in rural route boxes for stamps, money orders and other postal supplies must be enclosed in envelopes or coin cards.
The rural route man rose in his dignity a few weeks ago and made some public remarks about the people that left pennies in the bottom of mail boxes for the purchase of stamps. Cold, benumbed and in a hurry, it makes the carrier man peculiar to stand around in the snow and fish for coppers frozen to the bottom of an ever-grown tomato can.
The government has come to his rescue and from February 15 on all money left in mail boxes must be enclosed in such a way that the mail man can grab it in a hurry.

Carl Wilson, Alleged Forger, is Captured

Man Said to Have Beaten Several Omahans is Arrested at Colorado Springs.

Carl Wilson, who is said to have defrauded several Omaha persons January 17 by passing forged checks, has been arrested at Colorado Springs, according to the information sent Captain Savage, chief of the Omaha detective staff. He was carrying on the same game west when he got caught. Before that he had practiced upon a man named Cole of Iowa, whom he met at Salt Lake City. His nom de guerre at Colorado Springs was Conrad Roskop.

While "working" Omaha he got away with $18 from the Union Pacific eating house on Farnam street, $15 from Samuel Adler, general merchandise store, 1119 Farnam street; $25 from the Regent Shoe company, $20 from the Berg Clothing company and $25 from Sol Brodkey, jeweler, 1201 Douglas street.

Wilson, or Roskop, is by occupation a carpenter and he was able to do the trick in Omaha by forging the name of Fred Christiansen of the firm of Fred Christiansen & Sons, contractors, 2429 Parker street.

COLLEGE BOARD DOES NOT DISREGARD ACTION OF SYNOD
Erroneous Reports About Dr. Mackenzie's Statement and Consequent Disposition Corrected.

The Hastings College Outlook for January corrects some erroneous impressions and statements that have been published by some papers regarding the visit to Omaha and Hastings of Dr. Robert Mackenzie, formerly president of the Presbyterian college board, and the action of the board on the proposed merger of Bellevue and Hastings colleges, which proposition has been knocked out.

Here is what the Hastings College Outlook said:
A statement has appeared in some newspapers to the effect that the college board in New York might disregard synodical action and refuse to endorse the proposed merger. There can be no foundation for this view as the college board always recognizes the authority of a synod in designating its authorized educational agencies. Dr. Robert Mackenzie, formerly president of the board of the Nebraska Synod, and stated clearly that the purpose of his visit in behalf of the board was not to determine what college should be recognized, but to ascertain the conditions upon which the board could co-operate most effectively with the institution officially recognized by the synod.

TRAINING CLASS AT MEETING

Owing to the convention of the County Sunday School association the teachers' training class of the Young Women's Christian association meets this afternoon at 2 o'clock instead of at 3 o'clock, the usual hour.
At 3 p. m. today in room 315, Young Men's Christian association building, Miss Margaret E. Brown, elementary superintendent of the Nebraska State Sunday School association, addressed the teachers of the primary grades upon methods of working with the children in the Sabbath school.
