"Mirage" Silk for Five Years Advertised and Sold at the Fixed Price, $1.35, at 50c Yard Less Here Monday

1,500 yards and 25 good shades. No silk is better known and none so widely used. The magazines of America have for five years been sounding its praises. "Mirage" silk is more popular today than ever. Its soft satiny, glaze finish and its sturdy strength have appealed to women everywhere as no other silk ever has. It is very successfully employed for street dresses, after dinner gowns and evening costumes.

Never before has a yard of it retailed under $1.35—that was the agreement the maker exacted from the dealer before he could handle the goods. Now, we are going to sell it to you for 85c Monday—50c a yard less than established price. That's the good news we have for you today. Yes, it's the genuine "Mirage"—every piece has the name on the selvedge. Dressmakers and all women are invited to share in the splendid bargain. It's 24 inches wide—25 selected shades, including white and black—at, yard

25 Tables and Two Booths of Brilliant Cut Glass in the February Sale

1/3 and 1/2 OFF 331-3 to 50% reductions on Libbey's Cut Glass, Stephens & Williams Rock Crystal and Venetian white and gold and other leading makes 1/3 and 1/2 OFF
Our February sale for 1910 will top the list as our greatest achievement in cut glass retailing. Aside from the fact that it's far and away the most extensive exhibit ever attempted here, the values are also so pronounced that judges of quality will readily recognize the advantages of buying now. Practically every prominent maker of cut glass is represented. Many lines are exclusively shown here, consequently we are favored by the makers when special price lots are to be had. Unusual preparations were made for this occasion. At no other time have values been so universally good, and for this reason we bought rather heavily. To simplify the selling we have arranged all pieces of one price on special tables. In every instance the price is a third to a half under value. Gift buyers will find this an opportune time. Those who are replenishing will not likely have another such opportunity to save.

Some Things You Want to Know
Arizona

For fully a third of a century Arizona has been hoping and working for statehood. At least it stands on the threshold of realizing this ambition, and it is asserted that no other territory has come into the union with a more splendid past or a more promising future. Here irrigation is touching the soil as Moses touched the rock with his rod. Here the mineralogist finds fabulous hidden wealth. Here the geologist sees the world's best story of its own making. Written in books of stone in its canyons and gorges and petrified forests, in characters which the expert may read, is the account that nature gives of the unnumbered millions of years since America emerged from a shoreless sea. The four greatest of sculptures—Fire, Water, Sand and Wind—have united to make Arizona a treasure-house of wonders. The debris of their studios has not been cleared away, hence it is the geologist's paradise.

Here, too, the ethnologist and the archaeologist find wonderful records of the past. The ethnologist can picture a people who lived but little removed from the stone age. Through the work of the archaeologist he is permitted to study the surroundings of cave dwellers and cliff dwellers who lived in times so remote that even tradition is dumb as to whence they came or whether they went. In fact, one wonders if he does not survey at one glance the whole existence of man from the time of Adam to this year of grace 1910. The dry, preserving qualities of the atmosphere have kept intact ruins that elsewhere might have crumbled into dust thousands of years ago.

But Arizona is more than a nature-writ record of Bygone ages. It is as much a land of tomorrow as of yesterday. The plants of the tropics commingle with those of northern climes, and the growing things of the desert associate with the fruitage of the valley. Nature has stored up mineral wealth of untold value. Gold, silver, precious stones, copper, lead, zinc and coal are all here. There is copper in such quantities as to justify the prediction that the Arizona ranges henceforth will lead the world.

The work of the government in constructing the great irrigation project of the Salt River valley will make this one of the foremost irrigated regions of the world. The famous Roosevelt dam is one of the parts of this project. It is located across the canyon of the Salt River, almost seventy miles northeast of Phoenix. It rises 25 feet above bed rock, and is so intersected with the side walls of the canyon that it seems almost a part of the everlasting hills. Over 300,000 cubic yards of solid masonry, and nearly as many barrels of cement, have entered into its construction. The water it impounds will form the largest artificial lake in the world, with the single exception of the one which will be formed by the great Gatun dam at Panama.

The lake will hold enough water to cover 1,284,000 acres of land one foot deep. The average amount of water required to grow a season's crop is four feet, and all but some ten inches of this must come from the mountains through the rivers that drain the water sheds. The government builds the irrigation works and gets its money back from the sales of land and water. The Yuma project is almost as large as the one at Salt River. The Colorado, mad from its wild rush down the Grand Canyon, is impounded and its waters scattered over the desert, transforming the barren waste into a land of surpassing productivity.

It is said that Arizona has the largest unbroken forest in the world. It lies within the San Francisco mountain and the Black Mesa forest reserves, and contains over 6,000 square miles of timber land. In addition to this, there are other vast tracts of timber that stretch far north of the Grand canyon.

The work of the reclamation service is converting millions of acres of land into a veritable Eden, and intensive farming will make possible a density of population undreamed of in any region where irrigation is unknown. Egypt, with less irritable land than New Mexico and Arizona, with no forests, no minerals, and next to nothing in the way of manufactures, supports a population of 11,000,000 souls; at the same time paying a tribute of $3,000,000 a year to the sultan, maintaining an army of 30,000 men, and paying interest on a bonded debt of staggering proportions. With its giant dams and reservoirs, Arizona may well be expected to rival in productivity the far famed valley of the Nile.

The Salt River valley ranks with South Africa as a home for the ostrich, and 90 per cent of all the ostriches in the United States are to be found in this one little section. More than 2,000 baby ostriches of last year's hatch are now growing to maturity, and the best hatching and growing records of South Africa do not surpass those made by the Salt river growers. The feathers are among the finest in the world, and the profits are large. The birds are plucked every eight months, and a mature ostrich gives a pound of feathers at each plucking. The annual sale of feathers from each bird amounts to about $7. Governor Sloan states that the business of ostrich growing seems capable of indefinite expansion in all the valleys located like the Salt river region, and that the world's principal supply of plumes for millinery's bonnets may yet come from Arizona.

The territory of Arizona will make no mean state in point of size. In fact only

TRIBUTE TO DR. J. W. CONLEY
Resolutions Adopted by Members of First Baptist Church.
CORDIAL EXPRESSION OF EACH
Remotest and Dearest of One Who Has Been an Inspiration and Commend Him to His New People.
First Baptist church pays a stout tribute to Dr. J. W. Conley, who has served it for years as pastor and Sunday lays down his work in Omaha to take it up in Fresno, Cal. This tribute is in the form of resolutions drafted by a committee appointed for the purpose and voted Friday night at a church meeting as the cordial expression of every member.
In most part the resolutions read:
We are profoundly impressed with the fact that Dr. Conley has faithfully and conscientiously discharged every trust which eight years ago he assumed when he first became our pastor. During all of that time, services to God and to this church has been the key with which all the harmonies of his life have been tuned. Without stinted form or senseless cant, but with hearts full of sincere love to him, we desire to express our appreciation of the splendid services of Dr. Conley during his eight years' pastorate in this church—eight years of beautiful, helpful and ever-remembered service—eight years of self-sacrificing labor, crowned with blessings beyond computation for our church and city. In the pulpit he has been a master builder, able, eloquent, fearless, always speaking the truth in love—a workman needed never to be ashamed. With profound learning and the deepest spiritual fervor he has expounded to us from week to week the richest truths of the Gospel. In our homes he has ever been a benediction—a real shepherd of the flock. At the bedside of sickness and pain he has been a ministering angel of consolation and help. He has changed us in his discourses, comforted us in our sorrows, married our young lovers, buried our beloved dead and always whether in joy or sadness has been a brother, a pastor and a friend.

very love for him should impel us to acquiesce in a decision which we could only have made for the most careful and prayerful consideration. Let us, therefore, however deep and universal may be our regret and sorrow, accept the resignation of our pastor, to take effect, as requested by him—on the 28th day of February, 1910.

Dr. Conley's work will abide, for he has been the scholar in the pulpit, the philosopher in literature, the most careful and beloved citizen in our city. In all our public and private affairs he has embodied in himself the mission of a Christian minister.

In his new home and field may goodness and mercy be his constant companions. His cherished gifts drop upon him—the prayer of the ancient prophet of Israel, is our prayer for Dr. Conley and his family. The Lord bless and keep them; The Lord make His face to shine upon them, And be gracious unto thee; The Lord lift up His countenance upon them, And give thee peace.

CORNERSTONE DATE PUT OFF

Board of County Commissioners Decides Not to Have Ceremony Until March or April.
The Board of County Commissioners has decided to postpone laying of the cornerstone of the new court house until some time in March or April, because there is more likelihood of a favorable weather then, and the progress of the new building will be, it is hoped, considerable in the meantime.

George N. Caldwell of Caldwell & Drake is back in Omaha and makes the same answer as before to the demands of the Sheet Workers' union with respect to men employed. The county commissioners have once more told representatives of the union that the board is without power to tell the contractors whom to employ.

"All the steel and iron workers we have are Omaha men," declares Mr. Caldwell in answer to the charge that he is passing over Omahans and employing outsiders.

HOW FAT WOMEN CAN REDUCE THEIR WAISTS.

Fat shows a preference for the abdomen, chin, ankles, hips, etc.—the quiet spots—just the places where it can show the most, or worst. What is to be done—exercise and diet—argue they the only alternative? On the contrary, they seldom do the work.

A better plan for reducing the fat is to use the Marmola Prescription Tablet. One of these after meals and at bedtime will produce the requisite reduction without bother, delay or harm. In a few weeks you can be losing a pound of fat a day. It will drop off as it were; disappear as quietly as it came; remove uniformly without causing even a suspicion of a wrinkle of distress. Meanwhile, eat and act as usual; deny yourself nothing. It is not required, if Marmola Tablets are used.

Get off your waist line before the month's end. It can be done—certainly, cheaply, safely. The Marmola Tablet is non-toxic (it being made after the famous fashionable formula—5 or Marmola, 1/2 oz. Ft. St. Casarsa Aromatic, 25 oz. of super-saturated Water, and it costs only seventy-five cents, the large case, of any druggist, or direct from Marmola Co., 123 Pomeroy Bldg., Detroit, Mich.
