KING OF MARDI GRAS ENTERS NEW ORLEANS IN STATE

Crescent City Nearing Climax of Its Big Festival, with Biggest Crowd on Record.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 7 .- Halling Rex, "king of the carnival," New Orleans today approached the climax of Mardi Gras festivities. The Sirens of river craft and the cheering of thousands on shore welcomed the approaching monarch as he came up the Mississippi river and landed from his royal yacht. The formality of turning over the keys of the city to him and his parade followed.

Every train in the city, including many specials, brought hundreds of visitors today. It is believed the Mardi Gras attendanes is the largest on record.

The pageant and the ball of Protous will take place tonight. Tomorrow the parade and ball of Rex will be given, followed at night by the pageant and ball of President Issues Proclamation Extending Provision of Tariff Law to That Country.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 .- The president today issued a proclamation under the provisions of the tariff act of August 5, 1905 in which he declared that from and after March 31, 1919, all articles imported into the United States or any of its possessions except the Philippine Islands and the tslands of Guam and Tutiols, from Ger many are entitled to be admitted at the minimum rates of duty prescribed by section 1 of the present tariff act.

The proclamation does not include the German colonial possessions for the reason that the Department of State has not yet had sufficient time in which to investigate the question as to whether colonies unduly discriminate against importations from the United States. Inasmuch as the maximum rates of the United States do not go into effect until March 21 next ample time will be afforded to determine that question The proclamation is identified with that published some days ago with respect to Italy and several other countries.

MPORTS OF FARM PRODUCTS

> JAIN MADE OVER POPULATION ceretary of Agriculture Shows that Prices of Foreign Grown Materinis Have Advanced > > Steadily.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 .- (Special.) - The arm products imported into the United States during the fiscal year 1907-the year of highest record-amounted in value o nearly $627,000,000. The imports for 1908 were valued at $540,000,000 in round authbers, and the average for the five years 1901-1905 was a trifle over $455,000,-000. These and other interesting figures appear in a bulletin recently issued by the United States Department of Agricul ture, which reviews the country's imports of farm products during a period reaching back to the middle of the last cen-

The farm products imported may be di vided into two general classes, (1) those which compete with products of farms in this country, and (2) those which do not so compete to any considerable extent The first class, embracing such items as sugar, tobacco, hay and hides and skins makes up a little less than half of the total. The principal items of the second Nebraska Teacher class are silk, coffee, tea, sisal grass, manile fiber, jute, bananas, cocoanuts and class are silk, coffee, tea, sisal grass, ma-Peruvian and Egyptian cotton. Increase In Imports.

Farm products have always constituted a large part of our imports, but not the preponderant share that such products hold in our export trade. In the '50s only about one-third of our imports were farm products. But their importance gradually increased, and in 1875 to the end of the century agricultural products made up just about one-half of the total, in some years rising above and in some years falling below the 50 per cent line. Since 1900, however, while farm products have continued to increase, the gain in imports of manufactures and other nonagricultural articles has been even greater, so that only about 46 per cent of the total imports since 1900 are to be classed as agricultural.

By comparing imports with exports it is found that for the five years 1901-1905 our average exports of cotton, grain and grain products exceeded by $74,000,000 our total imports of products of the farm. Gain on Population.

Imports of agricultural products have increased much faster than population during the period covered by this review In the period 1851-1855 these imports averaged in value $2.71 per capita; during the five years 1901-1905 the average was 5.67. Of this increase of $2.96 per capita 55 cents was due to increased imports of silk, 55 cents to packing house products, 45 cents to vegetable fibers, 28 cents to coffee, 20 cents to wool, 18 cents to to-bacco, 17 cents to all fruits, 10 cents to cocos and chocolate and 7 cents to vegetable oils.

Comparing the two periods, 1851-1855 and 1901-1905, it is found that in fifty years imports of coffee increased from seven to twelve pounds per capita, imports of tea from three-fourths to one and two-tenths, and imports of sugar from seventeen to forty-six pounds per capita, while during the half century imports of manufactured tobacco doubled and imports of wool treb-

Import Prices Rise. Import prices show some marked changes, 1506 Parnam St., Cheese rose from 9 cents a pound in Years of experience with thousands of 1851 to 19 cents a pound in 1908, and povalued at $76 a ton in 1862, when first recorded separately among the imports; it Gold has subsequently more than doubled in price, being rated at $171 per ton in 1908. Philippine sugar, on the other hand, despite improvement in grade, fell from 2.9 of juvenile court Monday and left that cents to 1.7 cents a pound during the fifty-eight years under review, while Cuban cause of the efforts of associates in the sugar declined from 3.6 cents to 2.5 cents vanced from 2.5 cents to 7.5 cents a pound, than one-fifth of the 63 cents recorded in 1851. Difference in Charges. Raw silk imported from Italy is valued higher than that from the far east, and of the latter the silk from Japan is higher than that from China. Brazilian coffee shows an import price little more than half that of coffee from the Dutch East Indies, (Java and Sumatra) but Guatemalan coffee comes almost as high as the latter. Before 1861, however, there was little difference in price between coffee from Brazil and from the Dutch East Indies; in fact for four out of ten years the price of Brazillian coffee was the higher. In the early nineties Cuban wrapper tobacco was frequently valued below Sumatra wrapper; in the five years ending 1908 the import price of Cuban was 75 per cent higher. The relative import prices of Cuban and Turkish filler tobacco vary considerably from xear to year. Thus in 1903 and 1904 Turkish was 12.5 per cent higher, but in the next four years Cuban was invoiced at a ra
