Why not live on the seashore this winter at Coronado or Santa Barbara? There January is June. The salt air will build you anew.

On the way is the rainbow-hued Grand Canyon of Arizona.

A Pullman takes you to the rim of this titan of chasms.

Two to five days' time, $6.50 railroad fare, a reasonable hotel bill at El Tovar (management of Fred Harvey) and a few dollars for rim and trail trips—that's all the extra expense.

BIG DANE DOWNS DE ROUEN

Westergaard Wins Wrestling Match in Two Straight Falls.

BOUT ROUGHEST ONE SO FAR

Frenchman Loses to Iowan in Thirty-Two and Twenty-Nine Minutes —Bill Hokuf Throws Three.

Jess Westergaard lowered the colors of France Thursday night at the Auditorium, when he won in straight falls from Raoul de Rouen, the time being 32:35 and 29:14. Seldom has such a rough match been witnessed in Omaha and Referee Griswold was forced to give the first fall to Westergaard on a foul. The second was won in hollow fashion on a head hold and hammerlock.

"Frenchie" was unable to keep his hot temper from exuding at times and he displayed his disposition several times, but it did not seem to bother "Big" Jess. A little unnecessary roughness cost de Rouen the final fall. He was pushing his hand into Westergaard's face when Jess walked right into the trouble and grabbed a head hold, from which the Frenchman was unable to extricate himself for five minutes, at the end of which time he round his shoulders on the mat and himself exhausted. The long arms of the Dane entwined his head and Westergaard held onto that powerful hold until he secured a hammerlock, which he later released to use his free arm in forcing the Frenchman's shoulders down.

Rough Work Begins.

The Frenchman started the rough tactics, but got decidedly the worst of the deal, as rough work cost him the first fall on a foul and cost him the second fall by giving Westergaard an opening which ended the match. De Rouen seemed the more powerful at the start, but at the finish Westergaard seemed the stronger of the two. His elongated muscles seemed to stand the strain better than those of the more powerful looking antagonist.

De Rouen was behind the greater part of the first fall, but he was unable to secure a successful hold on Jess. This angered him and he started to pull hair. The referee ordered him to stop, but he only struck out at the referee and continued his work. After having his hand pulled out of Westergaard's hair several times, the referee had to take a hand, and after using force in vain to make the Frenchman stop his rough tactics, he gave the fall to Westergaard.

De Rouen showed his fire eating disposition during the first fall, when he insisted on having the best of an argument. Frenchie was behind, but in a mixup Jess got behind, and then they went through the ropes.

Point for Referee.

When they came to the center of the mat Frenchie insisted that Jess go to the mat and let him behind. The referee knew it was not right, but could not talk to the Frenchman except with his hand. Westergaard showed his fairness by getting down on his knees in the center, but the referee would not allow it, so they compromised by taking a fresh start, all standing.

During the second fall the Frenchman showed clearly that he can wrestle fairly if he must, and there was little rough work.

Bill Hokuf won his match in 14 minutes and 9 seconds, which was considerably less than the hour in which he was given to throw three competitors. Luther Grove lasted just forty seconds, for Big Bill went at him like a bull and with a hammerlock and half-Nelson soon had him pinioned.

Jack Meyer stayed for 7:30, when he went down with a head hold, and Schwager wrestled for 6:09 before he, too, had to give way to the deadly hammerlock.

Ralph Rezadell, an Austrian wrestler, won his match by throwing both Joe Pospisil and Paul Hoge in less than half an hour. Pospisil stayed for 17:15, when a head hold finished him, and Hoge lasted for 7:30.

JOHN T. BAILEY WRITES CON YOUNG OF OMAHA'S VICTORY

Getting Clay Court Tennis Meet Was "Glorious, Unmarred and Bloodless Victory," He Says.

In telling of the victory Omaha scored in securing the honor of holding the national clay court championships at Omaha, John T. Bailey of Tallhina, Okl., who represented Omaha's interests at the meeting of the National United States Lawn Tennis association, writes to Conrad Young, who first brought the matter before the association in 1907:

"It was a glorious, unmarred and bloodless victory. We landed it for Omaha at about 1 a. m. We had trouble to get the location of the tournament from the executive committee, as many thought we had enough when we got the clay court sanction. Cincinnati would have beaten us in the executive committee two to one, and they gave us a hard fight on the floor. Holterhof of Cincinnati, Hawk of Illinois and Waidner of Chicago, were the hardest fighters for Cincinnati, and were aided by eastern men. Lamb of North Dakota, Seymour of Pittsburg, Mahan and W. A. Larned and Riddleberger of Virginia, gave us help and the argument of "fair play," priority of Omaha's claim and interests of western tennis won the men over until we finally had a big majority. Waidner fought Omaha bitterly, representing the western association and I think his evident hostility lost him votes. I begged the championship for Omaha and I hope you will approve, as with our proxies gone there was nothing else to do.

"You will have to take up time of tournament with Cincinnati and the Pacific coast. George Wright says 'if you follow Cincinnati, the Pacific coast players will attend.' I favor following Cin, but will leave it all to you. Hawk worked hard for clay courts. I refused to go on the executive committee as I feared it might split Hawk's vote, and if I were elected, as was probable, I thought, it would hurt our chances for Omaha and the clay courts. I shall ask you to thank Butler, Lamb, Seymour and Riddleberger. JOHN T. BAILEY."

"P. S.—P. B. Hawk says he will play at Omaha and a lot of others expect to come."

AMES WINS GAME WITH EASE

Takes Measure of Nebraska Five to Tune of 34 to 23.

CORNHUSKERS' AIM VERY POOR

Fast Aggie Players, on Contrary, Place Ball Where They Desire—Nebraska Excels at Team Work.

AMES, Ia., Feb. 11.—(Secial Telegram.)—Ames easily defeated Nebraska university this afternoon in basket ball by a score of 34 to 23. Ames led from the start. Nebraska did splendid teamwork, but could not throw baskets when opportunities offered. Hutchinson seemed to be the only Nebraskan able to pick baskets.

Ames was crippled by the loss of Brown and Mosher, and did poor teamwork, but the ability of all its men to throw baskets won the game for it. Nebraska fought fiercely and was excellent on guarding. The Ames men played fast and around them. Petraschek played a great game at center against Teveltrup, but could not prevent the latter from throwing baskets. At two different times he made goals with Nebraska men grasping him around the waist.

Walker made one brilliant dribble the entire length of the hall for a basket. Walker is a fast man, but could not keep his eye on the speedy Hutchinson. The latter got all Nebraska's points with the exception of two baskets.

The stars for Ames were Herbert and Teveltrup. Chappell did splendid guarding breaking up Nebraska's teamwork repeatedly. Lineup:

NEBRASKA.		AMES.
Hutchinson	R. F.	R. F.	Herbert
Perry	L. F.	L. F.	Weiss
Petraschek	C.	C.	Teveltrup
Amberson	R. G.	R. G.	Walker
Jones	L. G.	L. G.	Chappell

Substitutes: Weller for Weiss; Dorsey for Chappell. Baskets: Herbert, 5; Televitrup, 5; Walker, 3; Chappell, 2; Weiss, 1; Hutchinson, 8; Perry, 1; Jones, 1. Scores on fouls: Herbert, 2; Hutchinson, 3.

Nebraska Defeats Drake.

DES MOINES, Feb. 11.—(Special Telegram.)—Nebraska won its fourth straight game from Drake here last night, 22 to 13, outfooting the Drake team in the first minute of play and never being headed. The feature of the game was the attempt of the Nebraska men to allow their captain to score a basket. Perry did not score in either game, due to the close guarding of Neiman. The lineup:

DRAKE.		NEBRASKA.
I. Hoffman	R. F.	R. F.	Perry, Schmidt
Maricle, Debutts	L. F.	L. F.	Hutchison, Walters
C. Hoffman	C.	C.	Petrashek

Uncle Sam's Farms.

OMAHA, Feb. 10.—To the Editor of The Bee: In noting the resolution just passed by the Central Labor union one cannot help but wonder whether the demand upon Uncle Sam is for a farm home or just a chunk of land.

To the city laborer and mechanic it would seem that money is the main factor in building up a farm home from the raw material, but a few years spent in trying to make two ears of corn grow where only one grew before might be a good stepping stone.

It is all very well and good to have the vacant spots of the public domain transformed into flourishing farms, but it is far better that Uncle Sam hold the titles until we grow a few more farmers, than to turn half the farms over to nonresidents.

We heartily favor the first clause of the petition, doing away with the gambling feature of our homestead entry laws, but are sorry to see it used to such a purpose when either clause carries import enough to have gone before the public separately, each upon its own merits. Our homestead laws are good, but every nonresident clause has been a detriment to the main idea of making resourceful farms from our public lands.

Let us try to stay by what has proven good, even though it delays the game a few years.

If you know how to farm, go on a homestead; if you don't, learn how, then go; but don't go without knowing; likewise don't know without going.

SUIT AGAINST LAURA BIGGAR

Mrs. Agnes M. Hendrick of New York Asks Hundred Thousand from Former Actress.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Laura Biggar, the actress, who has had a spectacular career in the courts, is named as defendant in the suit began here today by Mrs. Agnes Mary Hendrick to recover $100,000 damages for alleged alienation of the affections of Mrs. Hendrick's husband, Dr. Charles Hendrick.

Hendrick and Laura Biggar were indicted for conspiracy in connection with the notorious contest for the $1,000,000 estate of the Pittsburg theatrical manager, Henry M. Bennett, several years ago. Laura Biggar was acquitted and Hendrick was sentenced to two and a half years in prison, but the sentence was never enforced, because of a legal technicality. The woman subsequently obtained a $350,000 settlement from the Bennett estate. The Hendricks separated at that time and divorce resulted. Neither Dr. Hendrick nor Laura Biggar was in court today. She is in California, and, it was said, will not attend the trial. Counsel will submit depositions in her behalf, denying the charges.

FARMERS' GRAIN DEALERS FAVOR USING HOME TWINE

Association at Sioux Falls Adopts Resolutions in Favor of Parcels Post and Conservation.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Feb. 11.—(Special Telegram.)—The third annual convention of the South Dakota Farmers' Grain Dealers' association was concluded here tonight after one of the most successful conventions in the history of the association. The resolutions declare in favor of the parcels-post, the enactment by the legislature of a more perfect system of road building; demand that the government take over the express business, the rates of which are declared exorbitant, and conduct it in connection with the mails; demand the carrying out in letter and spirit of the conservation policy inaugurated by Theodore Roosevelt; demand the enactment of a law preventing illegitimate speculation; recommend that all farmers' elevators in the state handle the product of the binding twine plant at the Sioux Falls penitentiary.

DAKOTA DEMOS OPPOSE TICKET

Resolutions Adopted at Conference Held at Huron.

HURON, S. D., Feb. 11.—(Special Telegram.)—A democratic conference here today was called to order by Chairman Lyons of the state executive committee, with 150 representative democrats from various parts of the state in attendance.

The committee on resolutions, consisting of Granville Jones of Chamberlain, Chauncey L. Wood of Rapid City, Denis Chenault of Custer, Steve Donahue of Sioux Falls and T. W. Childs of Mellette, reported a protest against nominating or attempting to nominate a ticket prior to the June primaries, which was adopted. Further, the resolutions say all officials should be bound by the platforms on which they are nominated.

It was decided to appoint a committee of eight, each one of whom shall receive answers to one of the following questions and report at the state convention to be held after the primary election for the purpose of aiding in formulating a platform, the questions being: The regulation of corporations, management and support of state institutions, proper construction of amendment and referendum laws, state development, state revenue and expenditures, relation of state and federal governments, lands and mines, representation in national legislation and simplifying state laws.

The establishment of a democratic daily newspaper was urged and the democrats were urged to refrain from voting for republicans in the primary elections.

The executive committee is to see that petitions are circulated for all state and congressional offices and to see that a full ticket is named.
