Pokorney Denied Reinstatement

Commission Holds that Playing Under Assumed Name is Not Valid Defense.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 13.—Playing under an assumed name is not a legal avoidance of the rules of organized base ball. This is the substance of a decision handed down Saturday by the National Base Ball commission in the case of Player Pokorney, application for whose reinstatement to the eligible list was made by officials of the Toledo club of the American association.

Pokorney was originally sold by Toledo to Evansville, but never reported to that club and under an assumed name, played with the California state league.

The commission in its findings says: "The fact that Pokorney used an assumed name cannot be used as an argument why the ineligibility against him for the Toledo club should be removed. The commission therefore, refused the request for a reversal of the finding heretofore made. The commission also recommends that when the time limit of ineligibility against this player has expired he be given notice to show cause why penalty should not be inflicted against him."

TIGERS BOOK FAST TEAMS

Good Schedule in Store for Basketball Fans.

The basketball fans of Omaha have a treat in store for them as they will get to see some of the classic basketball games ever played in Omaha. The Tigers have booked games with the Sioux City Giants, the crack Company E team from Shenandoah, Ia., and will, in all probability, meet the Kansas City Athletic club, and the champion Salt Lake City Young Men's Christian association teams. The latter two games depend in a great measure on the attendance that is accorded the "Tigers" in their game with Sioux City. As large gate receipts must be made to such teams as Kansas City and Salt Lake City, and since the Tigers are financing their own games, it is therefore up to basketball fans of Omaha to show whether or not they want to see some of the classic games ever offered.

The Sioux City Giants have the fastest team this year that they ever turned out is shown by their score against the champion Ottumwa Young Men's Christian association, whom they defeated last week by a score of 44 to 28.

YORK WINS; COTNER LOSES

Omaha High School Defeated, but Y. M. C. A. Tigers Get Victory.

DOUBLE SERIES OF BASKET BALL

Fast and Careful Work of Visitors Does for Omaha High 28 to 25—Other Game Results 34 to 24.

York High school defeated Omaha High school 28 to 25 and the Omaha Young Men's Christian association Tigers defeated the Cotner university five of Bethlehem college university basketball ball games at the Omaha Young Men's Christian association Saturday evening. The biggest crowd of the year saw the battles, the gymnasium and the gallery being packed.

Cotner university brought some of its students with the team and these did loyal rooting. Some South Omaha High school pupils were present, rooting for the York boys, but they were almost smothered by the volume of sound coming from the Omaha students.

The team work of the visiting high school was the finest seen from any high school so far this year on the Omaha floor. Times and again they brought the ball down to Omaha's territory and only the good work of the Omaha guards saved the score from being put against their team. York's system of plays seemed somewhat to baffle the Omaha boys until the ball would come almost under the basket when they would succeed in breaking it up. Nelson and Armstrong did most of the goal shooting for their team and both played a star game throughout both halves.

Omaha Slightly Erratic.

Omaha's work was a little speedier than that of the visitors, but lacked that sureness which was necessary to get the ball into the enemy's territory and keep it there long enough to place it in the basket. Many plays were broken before being brought half way across the floor, owing a great deal to the fact that they were often playing to a man whom two or three of the York team were guarding.

The goal throwing of the home team was much better on the whole than York's whenever the ball was in a position for a throw.

Henderson of York started the game with a goal for his team and from then until almost the end of the half the playing was about even, when Armstrong made a couple of goals, leaving York three ahead in the scoring.

In the second half both teams came out determined to win and the play became so rough that about twenty fouls were called on players. The Omaha boys braced up and pulled off some startling plays, but were watched so closely by York that they were unable to make up the difference in the score, and at the end of the half York was still three ahead.

The feature of the game was the fact that the half was a long throw" by Trimble from the center of the floor into the basket.

York Ever Watchful.

Captain York did valiant work trying to lead his team, but he was watched too closely to allow him making any scores. Patton of Omaha also showed himself a player in the manner in which he guarded his goal. Lineup:

YORK. C. J. OMAHA. Finley. Henderson, C. C. G. G. Burdick. Nelson, R. G. R. G. Patton. Armstrong, F. F. F. F. Doda. Mering.

Score, first half: Omaha, 8; York, 12. Second half: Omaha, 17; York, 13. Total: Omaha, 25; York, 28.

Umpire: Kiewit. Timekeepers: John and Scott. Field goals: Burdick, 4; Trimble, 1; Finley, 2. Free throws: Armstrong, 5; Henderson, 2. Free throws: Burdick, 3; Nelson, 6.

The Omaha High School orchestra made its first public appearance at the basketball game between Omaha and York High schools on Saturday night. It is under the direction of Alfred Morris, a high school student, and promises to be one of the best orchestras ever turned out by the Omaha High school. Those composing it are: Alfred Morris, Mac Beebe, Ada Hertz, Evelyn Hanson, Ruth Todd, Hazel Laverton, Hugo Enholm, William Morzi and Charles Killian.

Eight Ships Hunt For Little Naval Tug Long Overdue

Fear that Vessel Which Left Hampton Roads for Boston Last Sunday is Lost.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Somewhere off the Atlantic coast, between Norfolk and Boston, the little naval tug Nina, with thirty-two men on board, is wallowing in the great billows with broken machinery, awaiting the arrival of one of eight government vessels now speeding to its supposed location.

As bad as is that prospect, it is the best hope of the officials at the Navy department today. The alternative is that the Nina is at the bottom of the sea, with just a bare chance that its crew has been taken off by some passing vessel.

Last night news was felt at the time for the safety of the Nina, for the gallant little tug, built in the closing days of the civil war, had weathered many a worse blow. Under ordinary conditions the tug should have arrived at the Boston navy yard last Tuesday morning. The Nina steamed out of Hampton Roads bound for Boston. It had just safely towed two submarines from Boston to Norfolk, and was on its homeward voyage. Before the day was advanced a stiff northwest wind sprang up, making what sailors call a "mazy sea."

It had just safely towed two submarines from Boston to Norfolk, and was on its homeward voyage. Before the day was advanced a stiff northwest wind sprang up, making what sailors call a "mazy sea."

From Norfolk went the swift scout cruiser Salsom and the battleship Louisiana, these vessels were instructed to cruise as far as Cape May along the coast. From the New York navy yard the collier Cuisca started on a cruise and it will be followed shortly by the tugs Apache and Pontiac. These three vessels will make the march between Cape May and Nantucket. The destroyer Lamson will cruise off the Delaware capes.

The gunboat Castine and the collier Caesar steamed out of the Boston navy yard to search the waters between Massachusetts bay and Nantucket. Then the revenue cutter service went to the assistance of the Navy and orders were flashed to cutters Anshutz and Greenham at Boston and New London to join the searching party.

The search would have been much simplified if the Nina had been equipped with a wireless outfit, but the Navy department has not gotten as far down as tugs in such equipment.

No problem presented in this case is known as a "search problem" in navy strategy.

It is the theory of the naval officers here that the Nina broke a shaft or dropped a propeller on its cruise and was blown off shore by the northwest gale.

Pinchot Guest of Yale Alumni

Former Forester Discusses Growth of Sentiment in Favor of Conservation.

BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 13.—Gifford Pinchot was the guest of honor tonight at the annual banquet of the Yale Alumni association. In his address he paid a high compliment to the ability of his successor as chief forester. He said also that he is surprised at the intensity of the hatred of the common people against monopolies and trusts. He said that the fight against special privileges has just begun and that it will go on after he and his hearers are dead; that the rapidity of its growth has exceeded his fondest hopes and that it will result in general good. He declared that when one touches the matter of the conservation of forests, water powers and the like one comes immediately thereafter into contact with the great questions of the conservation of life—of child labor laws, the white slave traffic and the many other vital matters relative to human life.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 13.—Gifford Pinchot today accepted an invitation to speak before the Roosevelt club at a big conservation banquet here on March 19, provided he is not detained on account of the investigation of the Interior department at Washington. Former Secretary of the Interior Garfield and a number of "insurgent" senators have also been invited to speak.

ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR HADLEY

Missouri Executive Speaks to Young Republicans of State.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 13.—Governor H. H. Hadley, in addressing the Association of Young Republicans of Missouri here Saturday, urged his hearers to send President Taft a message to the effect the republicans of Missouri will uphold him in making effective the policies inaugurated by President Roosevelt.

In the first part of his speech the governor paid a tribute to Abraham Lincoln, whose memory, he said, would always remain to the American people both an inspiration and a benediction.

"The influence of the Missouri republicans," he said, "should be exerted to assist the president of the United States in securing proper and necessary changes in tariff schedules."

"Information secured by the tariff commission should be expressed in tariff legislation until we secure, as nearly as can be secured, only such protection as may be necessary for the maintenance of American industries and the present standard of living of the American laborer."

Six hundred republicans of Missouri attended the Lincoln day banquet. Charles Nagel, secretary of commerce and labor, who was to speak on "National Affairs," was not able to attend because of departmental affairs at Washington.

John McNeely of St. Joseph was elected president of the Association of Young Republicans at a business meeting today.

"Two occasions which seem to my mind most momentous and memorable in the history of our nation, as these meetings marked the beginning of the end of the great struggle for the existence of our nation."

Vice President James S. Sherman delivered an eloquent eulogy on Lincoln.

OHIO REPUBLICANS LINE UP

State League of Republican Clubs and Taft Clubs Are Merged.

ELLIS IS ELECTED CHAIRMAN

New Organization Known as Republican Legislative Club—Hammond Speaks at Banquet.

DAYTON, O., Feb. 13.—Eleven hundred republicans of Ohio gathered here last night in a banquet to celebrate the anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birth, the election of Wade Ellis as chairman of the republican state executive committee and the unification of the Taft and Old League Republican clubs, which was accomplished this afternoon.

The list of speakers include Wade Ellis, John Hayes Hammond, Carnell Thompson, secretary of state, General Charles Grosvenor, Charles Dick, Nicholas Longworth and former Governor Myron T. Herrick. The speeches were devoted to the achievements and prospects of the republican party in Ohio and the nation.

Address of Mr. Hammond.

John Hayes Hammond, president of the National League of Republican Clubs, declared that he had found from investigation that grievances existing in the ranks of the republican party are petty and not fundamental and more imaginary than real and that it is in times of political inactivity that factional differences and bickerings arise. "In political crises of this kind Ohio has always been conspicuous for its loyalty to country and party."

"There is a rapidly growing demand on the part of the electorate of the country that the national platforms of the great political parties shall represent the respective issues for which these parties contend; that these platforms shall say what they mean and mean what they say and that no ambiguous or disingenuous planks shall be so long tolerated as devices to obtain votes; and, further, that the president elected by either party, having subscribed to the principles announced in the platform of that party is pledged to the people of the country to exercise his utmost endeavors to secure the enactment of promised legislation and he becomes therefore not only the titular, but the responsible head of the party by which he is elected."

"In view of the fact that the National League of Republican Clubs recognized President Taft as the responsible head of the republican party."

"The name of William Howard Taft of Ohio supplied the enthusiasm for the campaign work of our clubs in the recent national election. The name of President Taft and the policies for which he stands will supply the National League of Republican clubs the requisite enthusiasm for effective service whenever republican party supremacy is organized."

Organization Perfected.

Wade H. Ellis was elected this afternoon as chairman of the Republican Legislative club. The Taft clubs were amalgamated with these, forming the Old Ohio League of Republican clubs.

Neither project was opposed. With this accomplishment of the two principal purposes which called republicans together here today, the leaders declared that the party has perfected the desired consolidation in preparation for the campaign in Ohio next fall, which was described by Senator Dick as being the "skirmish of the presidential battle of 1912."

In a speech of acceptance, Mr. Ellis said: "I do not intend to use the influence which will come to me in this office for nor against any candidate for any office within the gift of the people of this state. I do not desire nor do I intend to be a candidate for any office myself. I will call upon you to help in that unification of party which means success at the polls."

NO REPRIEVE FOR CLARK FROM BOARD OF PARDONS

East St. Louis Negro Who Murdered Motorman Will Be Hanged Friday.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 13.—The State Board of Pardons today refused to grant a reprieve or a commutation of sentence to Willis Clark, the negro sentenced to be hanged next Friday at East St. Louis for the murder of Eugene Goudey, a motorman. Goudey was killed while endeavoring to protect the conductor on his car in East St. Louis while the latter was being held up at the point of a gun in the hands of Clark. After the killing Clark was taken to Belleville, Ill., for safekeeping, feeling having reached a high point when the news of the murder became known. A mob started at Belleville aboard a trolley car, but was frustrated when the power was shut off, leaving the mob stranded several miles from its objective point.

Governor Deneen commended the sheriff for his successful protection of the prisoner. A petition signed by 2,000 persons of St. Clair county asked that the State Board of Pardons refuse to intercede.
