the parole law, which I am glad to say has been knocked out by the supreme court. The situation is quiet here today. A heavy guard of soldiers has been placed around the jail and no one is allowed to enter the jail yard. The mob spirit has never died here since the murder of Miss Annie Pelley, a school girl, last November, by a negro, which was followed by the lynching of a negro and a white man. Outcome of Former Lynching. The double lynching, which aroused the anti-negro sentiment in Cairo culminating in the mob outbreak of last night, took place on the night of November 11 last. The body of Miss Anna Pelley had been found in an alley. She had been attacked and murdered. William ("Froggie") James, a negro, was arrested on suspicion after a hunt for the murderer, in which bloodhounds were used. At eight a mob formed and took James from the jail. He was hanged in the public square and his body riddled with bullets. The mob, which numbered thousands, also took from the jail and lynched Henry Salinger, a white man who was held on a charge of wife murder. Governor Densen rushed state troops to the scene. These rushed quiet and prevented the lynching of Arthur Alexander, another negro suspected of complicity in the Pelley murder. The man was spirited away to Champaign for safe keeping and afterward released on proving his innocence. John Pratt, one of the negroes in jail, was arrested yesterday and it is said confessed that he had snatched the purse of Mrs. Maloney. He was indicted by the grand jury after he had been identified by Mrs. Maloney. Will Investigate Death. Coroner James McManus began an investigation today of the shooting of Alex Halliday. Arrests are threatened if he finds, as physicians have stated, Halliday died from loss of blood and exposure. The people here are loudly condemning the action of Sheriff Nellis in not allowing the body of Halliday to be removed from the court house step where it lay in the snow for several hours before Captain W. P. Greaney of Company K finally forced the sheriff to allow him to remove the body.

NO WISH TO GOBBLE ALASKA Representatives of Morgan-Guggenheim Syndicate Deny Charge. SINGLE ROAD AND COPPER MINE General Counsel Steele and Managing Director Birch Testify Before Senate Committee—Main-tained No Lobby.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The interesting spectacle of the Morgan-Guggenheim syndicate, through legal representatives appearing before a congressional committee to justify its operations in the development of industries in Alaska, today packed the room of the senate committee on territories. It was denied that the syndicate had a monopoly of any industrial interest. Senator Beveridge recently received a letter from J. P. Morgan & Co., asking permission to send representatives to answer "exaggerated reports printed in the magazines and newspapers of the work of the syndicate formed by that company and the Messrs. Guggenheim." The permission was given and today John N. Steele, general counsel for the syndicate, and Stephen Birch, the managing director, appeared. Mr. Birch was put on the stand and his story drawn out by Mr. Steele. It resulted in testimony to the effect that all of the money spent in the enormous development of Alaskan resources had been furnished by the syndicate itself; that the Morgan-Guggenheim syndicate had not issued a single bond or a share of stock; that the syndicate had never received anything from the government in the way of money, grants of land or special rights. Owns Single Railroad. It was testified further that the syndicate owned one railroad and had no interest in any other in Alaska; that it owned one copper mine and had no interest in any other and owned no coal lands at all. Testimony was given about the negotiations for the Cunningham claims, but it was said these hinged upon patents being issued for the claims and that these negotiations had come to nothing. The railroad owned by the syndicate is now 125 miles long and is to be extended to 120 miles. Both Messrs. Steele and Birch insisted that there was no truth in reports that the syndicate had or was seeking a monopoly of railroads, steamship lines, fisheries, copper mines and coal lands in Alaska. They denied with great emphasis that they were trying to "gobble up Alaska" or that Delegate Wickersham had ever been authorized to act as a lobbyist for the syndicate. Mr. Birch said that Messrs. Guggenheim had agreed to form a $5,000,000 corporation to develop the lands; one-half interest to be held by the Guggenheims and the other half by Cunningham and his associates. The Guggenheims were to pay $200,000 for their half, he said, and in addition were to loan $100,000 if it was needed. Messrs. Birch and Steele will be cross-examined by the members of the committee at another hearing.

lotting the court house and jail and remained until the saloons were closed, shortly after 3 a. m., on an order of Mayor Parsons, caused by a message from the governor at Springfield. When the men were turned out of the saloons, it was too cold to remain outside and another attack on the court house was not ventured. The militia company, ordered by the governor at midnight did not succeed in assembling until 4 a. m., and at that hour the militiamen relieved Nellis' deputies. Outcome of Petty Crimes. The mob attack on the jail was the outgrowth of public indignation over petty crimes by negroes, particularly purse snatchings and annoyances to women. Mrs. Rose Maloney's purse was snatched Wednesday evening. She drew a revolver and fired at the negro, but he ran away with her purse. In her purse was a silver dollar to which a postage stamp had become attached. Mrs. Maloney told the police of the fact, and when a negro offered such a coin in a drug store yesterday, he was at once arrested. The negro, John Pratt, confessed that he had taken Mrs. Maloney's purse and, several days ago, that of Mrs. "Accord." He said that Lincoln Wilson was his accomplice, and Wilson is also under arrest. Sheriff Nellis heard talk of lynching the men yesterday afternoon and this talk increased in the early evening so that at 10 p. m. the sheriff called up Governor Densen at Springfield. At about midnight an order was sent to Cairo for Captain Greaney of the local militia company to proceed to the sheriff's aid. There was delay in finding Greaney, and in arousing the militiamen. The sheriff called on Mayor George Parsons for aid from the police. The mayor said he would order some of the night force to assist Nellis, but none of the eight night policemen appeared at the court house. From 10 p. m. until midnight the crowd gathered in the saloons and talk of lynching grew into the determination to attack the jail and take out the two negro prisoners. Sheriff Threatens to Shoot. The building itself was dark and the mob could not see the sheriff and twelve deputies standing guard with shotguns at the windows of the two offices on either side of the main entrance. As the crowd rushed toward the steps Sheriff Nellis called loudly: "Stand back, or my men will fire on you." "The first four men in the crowd, Nellis declares, had handkerchiefs over their faces. Nellis drew a revolver and shouted a command to fire, but he fired a shot over the heads of the mob. The deputies, who had been ordered to fire their first volley in the air, did so. As the sound died away pistol shots began popping from the crowd and bullets fell around the sheriff. Then came the second volley. Halliday, who had started up the steps in advance of his fellows, was felled by charges from at least two shotguns. He fell over the railing of the court house steps, and lay silent in the snow. The others fell back hurriedly, none of the wounded men being in too serious condition to leave. At a saloon, Dr. Gordon dressed the wounds of the four men and a telephone message was sent to the sheriff's office. Nellis himself answered the telephone. "We want to send over and get that man who is lying there," said a voice from the saloon. "You can't come until I've talked to the governor," said Nellis, and he called up Springfield. He told Governor Densen that the man in the snow was dead, as he believed him to be, and asked whether he should permit the body to be removed. The governor advised him, Nellis says, to wait until the militia came and to take no chances on a ruse which might result in a renewal of the mob's attack. So when the next message came from the saloon Nellis told his questioner that everyone must keep away. No Order to Fire, Says Mayor. "The deputies fired without orders from Sheriff Nellis, so far as I have been able to determine," said Mayor George Parsons today. "I am assured the sheriff gave no order to shoot. "The sheriff is higher in authority than the mayor, and when I received word during the night that trouble was pending, I immediately notified Nellis that I was at his command. I ordered all saloons closed. "Later I was called on the telephone by Governor Densen, who gave me positive instructions to see that all dram shops were kept closed. "The fellow the mob was after was John Pratt. He was released last summer under

SECOND HUSBAND HELPS GET ALIMONY FROM FIRST Former Mrs. John Trydean, Divorced in Omaha, Attaches Land of No. 1.

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., Feb. 18.—(Special.)—Some time ago the wife of John Trydean secured a divorce from her husband in Douglas county and was awarded alimony. She brought an action for alimony and some of the land in this county, supposed to belong to her former husband, John Trydean, has been attached, and now his mother, Mrs. Margaret Trydean, goes into court and claims the land as her own and asks for a permanent injunction against Sheriff Fischer to prevent him advertising and selling the land. In the meantime the divorced wife has married John Kugo of this county and her husband is assisting in the matter of securing the alimony due from the former husband.

MANY WRANGLES WITH GLAVIS agreement among claimants, had not then been discussed. Motives of Mr. Glavis. The late afternoon was devoted to an inquiry into the motives of Mr. Glavis in seeking the assistance of Mr. Pinchot. Glavis said he went to him because he had faith in him and felt he was absolutely sincere. Mr. Vertrees explained several of his long questions today by the statement that he was searching out the motives of Mr. Glavis to ascertain whether they were innocent or malicious. Counsel for Secretary Ballinger drew from the witness the fact that up to the time Mr. Ballinger went out of office as land commissioner in March, 1908, there had been no evidence of fraud in the Alaska coal cases presented to the department. The Cunningham "journal," which contained evidence of an alleged agreement, Glavis, said, had not been found at that time. However, the witness declared that Mr. Ballinger, in his opinion, had not acted as a man would if the property had been his own instead of the government's. As to Mr. Ballinger's participation in the Wilson coal company, Glavis admitted that he had no first-hand knowledge and that he testified merely from hearsay. Strings to All Answers. Mr. Vertrees questioned the witness more closely than ever today. Mr. Vertrees protested to the committee that Glavis always "ties a string to his answers," and proceeded: "I am trying to get at the purpose, the motive, the object of the witness, whether it is innocent or malicious."

Wiltse Requests Light on New Law Cedar County Senator Thinks State Veterinarian Exceeds Authority in Enforcement.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Feb. 18.—(Special.)—George W. Wiltse of Cedar county has written to Attorney General Thompson for an opinion on the law regulating the inspection of stock and cattle before sale at public auction. Senator Wiltse wrote that at this time of the year there are many sales at farms and that recently inspectors appointed by the state veterinarian have been demanding that they be paid a certain amount for inspecting each animal offered for sale and expenses. The farmers, he said, looked upon this as simply a holdup and it is his opinion that the law did not contemplate this state of affairs. Stock sold at public auction by the farmers are bought by their neighbors and not taken out of the particular neighborhood where the sale occurs. The law, as he understands it, is for the purpose of having stock inspected when it is to be shipped out or has been shipped into the state and is sold at the public stock yards. Mr. Wiltse enclosed a letter from State Veterinarian Zucknick which criticized the
