MOVEMENT HALTS UPWARD

Rapidity of Rise of Market Causes Some Doubt as to Wisdom of Aftempting to Push Advance Further.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.-Operations in the NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Operations in the stock market today were conducted with an eye to technical conditions of the speculation, rather than with a view to more substantial considerations bearing on intrinsic values or earning power. The extent to which the recovery has run and the rapidity with which it has been accomplished plainly had an influence in inducing some doubts and hesitation in the pursuit of the unward movement.

Additional information corroborated the Brk Tr. cv. to Additional information corroborated the opinion that improvement was taking place over the conditions dreaded in the recent stock market depression. The cheerful tone of the mercantile reviews voiced a conviction that fears of a severe trade recession were groundless. The hopeful expressions by Charles M. Schwab over steel trade prospects seemed to have a reassuring effect on that subject.

The sharp drop in the cotton market to.

pects seemed to have a reassuring effect on that subject.

The sharp drop in the cotton market to-day has a bearing on the International exchange position, owing to the large sales to Liverpool which are reported. The non-appearance of the expected cash gain in the hank statement and the expansion of the loan account in the actual showing combined to cause a sharp inroad on the surplus reserve of the banks. The weak closing of the stock market may have been due to a premonition of this showing.

inst week, the more finished classes commanding the greater advance.

Lambs were in fairly active request on most days this week, but the call for young stock is not showing very much urgency with prices at present lofty levels. Still, the tone to the trade is anything but bearish and most of the talent predict record-breaking prices before the end of the fed season. The best lambs here lately sold at 83.00, and something strictly prime in this line is quotable up to $2.10. The net advance in lamb prices for the week is just about 10g/16c.

The volume of the feeder business this week has been very limited owing to the light supply of offerings suitable for shearing and finishing. There is a generous demand for good ahearing stock, lambs especially, a fleshy kind going back into the country this week at $2.5. This is the highest price paid for shearing lambs at this point in the memory of the local talent.
