Weak and lower froeign caules were off-set by more damage reports, which traders are not incilined to ignore. Shorts covered their sales on the first advance, giving further strength after a weak and nervous opening. Sentimest is incomed to favor a raily after the recent of decline. The corn market sympathized with the wheat and a slight reaction resulted from the buying in by shorts who had profits. With present receipts and light demand. conditions favor the bear side. The cally in wheat was short and caused a temporary upture. This buy-ing was overcome later by new selling and market values dropped off again. Con eased back after the first raily, cleaing at yesterday's lavel. Cash stuff was unchanged and buyers held off and offerings were not readily absorbed. The demand is still slow and shows no improve-ment. Primary wheat receipts were 611.00 bush-es and a hipments were 229,000 bushels. NEW YORK, March 5.-The wavering price movement in today's stock market reflected the lack of conviction over the speculative outlook. The news from Phila-delphia was partly responsible for this. The extent of the response to the call for a general strike there, in itself, threat-ened an amount of disturbance of profit-able activities sufficient to command the attention of those interested in company shares. CHICAGO, March 5.—The wheat market broke violently here today, following an closed at almost the bottom, with pricos the previous day. Corn and oats followed the course of wheat and closed weak at declines of kc to %c and %c to %c. re-spectively. Provisions also closed heavy at net losses of 5c to 7%c. The slump in wheat occurred during the fittal hour of trading and was caused by weakhar conditions now prevailing in the new crop in the southwest. Several promi-nont interests were liboral sellers and this caused free sales by pit traders and small holders. In addition to being depressed by the bright outlook for the winter grop the market was also bearishly affected by weak cables and extremely slack demand for cash grain. Cash premiums here were reported the weakest in several months. CRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET

Since those memorable days when Eltchener marched from the Athara to Khartoum the development of the Egyptian Sudan has been steady. The number of settlements has been markedly increased, the great Sudanese tribes have taken to farming and quiet pursuits, the banks of the lower Nile are being utilized more and more for agriculture, the Abyssinians are gulet, thanks to numerous British posts and the lesson of Kerreri plains, and, civilization is slowly but surely -even surprisingly-bringing peace and industry to one of the last and bloodlest frontiers of the world. A dozen years ago such a journey as Colonel Roosevelt is just completing would have been entirely out of the question. From Suakim on the Red sea to Gallabat on the Abyssinian frontieer, far southwest to El Fasher, reigned unbeaten the hordes of the Mahdi, several hundred thousand, the zereba. strong. They had slain Gordon and his garrison and in a great series of battles through, infantry bullets beat against and beaten the Abysainians.

"Before," according to Mr. Bennett Burleigh, author of the "Enartoum Campaign," "there had been, an Mr. Gladstone after all appropriately termed them, 'military operations,' but not a state of war." In the spring of 1892 Gensual Kitchener became the sirdar or commander-in-chief of the khedival forces. Six years later he had sufficiently reorganized the Egyptian army to begin the long deinyed southern advance into the Sudan. The principal engagements which occarred in 1997 were those at Abu Hamed and Berber, the last campaign running the Khalifa himself managed to escape. Into the early part of 1898.
