amiable adjustment of the trouble. Chairman Knapp assured the representatives of the general managers that he and Dr. Neill would take up the matter immediately and if necessary would go to Chicago in an effort to adjust the controversy.

All Disputed Points Covered.
The application for mediation is comprehensive in scope. It included not merely the question of wages, which is the crux of the dispute, but also hours of labor and conditions of employment. In fact, it covered every phase of the difficulty.

Placed Between Two Fires.
"I would not, however, be inclined to attach much importance to the practice which now seems to be very general, that of placing a senator in the very nature of things, must be disastrous. Although a senator may be in full sympathy with the broad purposes which the legislative proposes to accomplish, the moment he assumes his independent view of the bill, he is in direct conflict with the president and he must choose between losing presidential favor and doing a thing his conscience tells him it ought to be done.

Declaring to be extraordinary.
The circumstances connected with the origin of the bill, the Iowa senator detailed the meeting last August of Attorney General Wickham in New York with others, who, he said, had undertaken to put in shape for enactment the various recommendations of the president hearing upon railroad legislation. The report, he made to the chief executive, was supposedly confidential, he said, but as a matter of fact long before it reached the president it had fallen into the hands of the railroad men.

The Midwest Life
If life insurance were a new thing and were not so familiar with it, there is nothing which would appeal any stronger to the average man. The fact that by the payment of a small sum each year he could create an estate sufficient to protect his family would seem almost like a fairy tale. In what other safe way can one be paid a few dollars annually make it possible for his family to receive a thousand, two thousand or five thousand dollars in case of death if it should occur within a year or ten years for that matter?

CANNON WRITES TO EDITORS

Speaker Defends Tariff Law in Letter to Convention.

TAFT ALSO ASKS FOR SUPPORT

Urges Illinois Newspaper Men to Lend Their Support to Administration Measures—Good Words for Congress.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 15.—Speaker Cannon, in a letter to a meeting of republican editors here today renewed his attack on the "insurgents" and declared that all the pledges of the platform would be kept by the republican party if it has the continued support of the people.

The letter is addressed to George C. Rankin, president of the Illinois Republican Editorial Association, Springfield, and in part is as follows:

"Dear Mr. Rankin: I have your favor of the 5th instant, informing me that there will be a meeting of the Illinois Republican Editorial Association at Springfield, March 15, and inviting me to give you a word of encouragement and suggestion.

"I thank you for the courtesy, but I feel there is no occasion for me either to advise or encourage the republican editors of Illinois who have been a potent factor in the politics of the state since before the republican party was formally organized.

"The republican party has not discarded any of its principles, nor has it sought to change them simply for the purpose of catching the crowd over ready for novelties. Where it has added a new plank to its platform, it has kept its pledges.

Defends Payne Law.
"Within six months after its enactment that law has demonstrated that it is the best revenue producer as well as the most scientific adjustment of protective duties we have ever had, fully justifying the president's declaration that it is the best tariff law ever enacted.

Lands Work of Congress.
"The republican party has carried out its tariff pledges in a way to justify the president's pride in its enactment and it will carry out its pledges as it has time for discussion and agreement on the form of the wise legislation to meet those pledges.

"The present congress in regular session has been more energetic and more successful in carrying forward the work before than has any other congress in recent years.

"The committees have been giving most careful study to the number of bills to amend the interstate commerce law and other legislation promised in the republican platform and I think I can safely predict that this legislation will be adopted by the party if it has the continued support of the people.

President Asks Support

WASHINGTON, March 15.—President Taft sent to the convention of the republican editors at Springfield, Ill., today a telegram in which he expressed the hope that the editorial association would stand by the republican congress and the administration in its attitude toward the tariff and other legislation. The telegram addressed to George Rankin, president of the Illinois Republican Editorial Association, was as follows:

"Sincerely hope that you will have a full meeting; that there will be harmony, and that the republican editors of Illinois will stand by the action of the republican congress and republican administration in reference to the tariff and other progressive legislation. The expression of a meeting like the one you have called, arising from a normal, sane and patriotic republican attitude, will have much influence for good in Illinois and the rest of the country.

Standard Oil and Trade.
"If your honor please," said Mr. Kellogg, "this is the second time I have listened to that passionate appeal to protect American foreign commerce. It has always been the slogan in this case. As a matter of fact the Standard Oil has not increased American percentages of exports of this product. The percentage exported previously to 1911 was greater than it has been since."

statement.
"For many years the Standard Oil did not create a market," continued Mr. Kellogg, "or increase it. Those markets were made by independents by struggling in competition for the commerce of the world."

Justice Lurton asked Mr. Kellogg if he would not reply to the claim that all the Standard Oil properties had always had common owners.

Increase in Stockholders.
"I think it has not," replied Mr. Kellogg. "The number of stockholders has increased from three to many thousands."

Justice Lurton said he wanted to ask Mr. Milburn just what his claim was.

"It was a body of common owners from the beginning. The individuals changed, a man might sell his interest to another man and the court so finds it," Mr. Milburn replied.

Mr. Kellogg told the court that to meet the purposes of the Standard Oil two balance sheets were kept in one pipe line company. On one of these an employe was credited with a receipt of $2,000,000. He said the employe never got it and that the Standard declined to tell who did.

we went down to the gymnasium and I bet some more on the spot."

Sample of Memorandum.
A sample memorandum in an envelope bearing the writing of Ed Ellis was produced in court. The memorandum tells the tale of the milking of John Steik, a Chicago attorney, under the assumed name of John Kosiek. The memorandum:

"November 8th. (No. 87 and Joe Waters, 157) arrived from Chicago, Ill., with John Kosiek, interviewed by John Knox (M. M.) for fight. Sent Mike home for representation. Joe Waters, assistant secretary to our secretary (M. M.) Nov. 12th. Kosiek returned with representation; got certificate of deposit on Commercial Nat. Bk. for $50.

"November 13th. Met in room 408, Grand hotel, made match between 37 and Johnny Murphy (HK), Jay Loveloy (JJ), J. C. Gordon (B), R. Crawford (C), Joe Waters (187) afternoon. Kosiek drew money to put in help Knox; tied match; had fight in barn. Gorse. Run off; 87 had second 'spasm' in hotel. Mike left at 4:55 N. W. for Chicago.

"Nov. 15 wire from Kansas City to John Kosiek, 187 W. 24th St., corner Levant, Chicago, Ill.; 'Goodyear' O. K. Forced to change route. He with you soon as possible. (Signed) John."

"Nov. 18. Wire from St. Louis: 'Caught John. Took everything from him. All is lost. (Signed) Joe.'"

Trying to Forget It.
"I don't know when it was I, just, and I'm trying to forget it ever since, but as completely as I can," declared Dr. J. R. Titterton of Dallas, Tex., the first of the mikes from the Lone Star state.

"About when was it?" urged Assistant District Attorney Stewart.

"I can't remember at all."

"Don't you remember with six or twelve months?" asked Judge McPherson.

"And you are a doctor?" commented the judge.

Dr. Titterton spent $5,000 backing Jack Gorman against the redoubtable Casey of Mabray fame at New Orleans in 1908. The physician testified that he was steered by "E. L. Goddard" of Dallas, the keeper of a "lag cure" establishment. Goddard is on trial now. The cross-examination of Fitcherling was unsparring.

"You knew this was a gambling proposition before you went into it, did you not?" inquired Tiney.

"Yes, sir."

Loss to Associates.
"And you put up your money against the Chicago case?" asked Dr. J. R. Titterton of Dallas, Tex., the first of the mikes from the Lone Star state.

"I loaned it to my associates."

"Now, did you not put this money up yourself?"
