give the truth as to these reports concerning Judge Smith. Mr. Keating believes that in justice to Congressman Smith the correspondence between himself and Secretary Wilson should be made public. The letter from Mr. Keating to Secretary Wilson and the latter's reply follow:

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Feb. 10.—Hon. James Wilson, Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.: Dear Sir—Hon. Walter I. Smith is a candidate for nomination to congress from this district, and some questions have been raised in the district as to Mr. Smith's relations to the republican administration and its policies. It is being asserted in the district that he has been opposed to them, while his friends claim that, aside from a disagreement as to an appropriation for the secret service, there never was any difference between them and that Walter I. Smith always supported the administration of Mr. Roosevelt.

City Fathers Discover That Funds Run Low Councilmen Find Estimate for City Expense Was Below Last Year's Needs.

In fixing the appropriations for the maintenance of the several municipal departments for the fiscal year now drawing to close, the city council figured that it would take at least $7,000 a month to run the city government. Taking this as a basis, the council estimated the revenues of the city for the fiscal year at $75,000, and made the appropriations accordingly. It now develops that the councilmen did not make a correct guess as to the expenses of the city government and that they will be not less than $82,000. The deficit, city officials say, is attributable to various causes.

Yesterday was the first day of registration for the city election and reports last night showed that it had been light in every precinct in the city. This however, is not unusual, as voters generally wait until the last day to get their names on the books.

Police Are Looking for Lucy Butler and Leonard Marshall. An assault on Albert Scott, a horseman, at Sixth and Scott streets and Broadway yesterday afternoon disclosed the fact that a woman named Mrs. Comstock and several children, have been making their home for several months in a discarded lunch wagon. The lunch wagon, which in its halcyon days was a street car when horses were the motive power, stands on the public highway, just south of Broadway on Sixth and Scott streets. From what the police learned it is said Mrs. Comstock paid rent for the wagon to John Bridget, who resides at the corner of Broadway and Sixth street. Mrs. Comstock is the mother of Lucy Butler, a young woman who, with Leonard Marshall, is charged with committing the assault on Scott. According to the story of Scott, who was badly battered and beaten when an officer broke the scene, Miss Butler wielded a brick while Marshall used a club. Scott's alleged assailants made their escape before the arrival of an officer, and up to a late hour last night the police had failed to locate them. Scott was taken to police headquarters, where his injuries were attended to by City Physician Tubbs. Scott is employed by a horse trader named Jenkins, with whom Marshall and the young woman are said to have had trouble. The attack on him, Scott declared, was wholly unprovoked.
