TEXAS RECEIVES EXECUTIVE

Governor Shallenberger Returns from Jaunt to South.

LAYMEN WORK NOW IN CHURCHES

Result of Convention in Lincoln to be Felt in Increased Religious Fervor—Burlington Will Install New Train.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
LINCOLN, March 18.—(Special.)—Governor Shallenberger returned last night from Fort Worth, Tex., where he attended a meeting of the directors of the National Live Stock association, the Texas Cattleman's association and the Texas Press association meeting. At the last-named meeting an old-time barbecue was pulled off and the waiters were millionaires, donning their aprons and working like good fellows to show their respect for the press.

At each of the meetings the governor delivered an address and he was elected an honorary member of the Texas Cattleman's association, an honor enjoyed only by three men, one of them being ex-President Roosevelt. While the governor of Texas was not present at the meetings, said the governor, there were four candidates for governor on the platform at one time.

"One of the big issues in Texas during this campaign," said the governor, "is the selection of a warden of the state penitentiary and the disposition of the convicts. The prisoners are hired out to do various kinds of work, and just who desires the convict labor make the penitentiary quite an issue in the campaign. The prison now has 3,700 convicts."

By a citizen of Oklahoma who attended the meeting the governor was told there were 1,000 convicts in the penitentiary of that state.

"This large penitentiary population," said the governor, "should make a Nebraskan feel proud of his state, as we have not more than 400 convicts on an average."

The governor enjoyed the meetings, but said the stockmen of Texas had been up against it this year for feed. Corn sells for 11 a bushel.

No Permanent Organization.

The work in behalf of foreign missions which got such a boost by reason of the laymen's Missionary meeting here the first of the week, will be continued by the missionary committees of the various churches, though the organization which looked after the recent convention has disbanded. There were many who desired that the convention committee continue as a permanent organization, but President E. R. Sizer objected to this and argued that it was now up to the various church committees to look after the work in their own way.

This convention banquet was the greatest event of the kind ever held in the City Auditorium, in that there were more people seated at the tables than the capacity of the house. There were 300 more diners than ever before attended a banquet in the hall, the next largest being the banquet of the State Teachers' association, when there were 1,042 seated. Attending the missionary banquet were 1,386. This large crowd was seated in twenty-two minutes, and every address was pulled off in schedule time and the convention adjourned at the hour set, the first time, some of the speakers said, such a thing ever happened at this kind of a meeting.

As an evidence of the business way in which President Sizer and his aides did their work is shown in the fact that every church received its check for dinners served the morning following the banquet. Mr. Sizer has on hand a bunch of letters expressing grateful surprise at this promptness. The supper was served by the various church organizations and the Women's Relief Corps. There were 100 young men waiters, one for each ten guests. In addition to those served in the Auditorium there were over 100 served in the dining room of the First Presbyterian church.

Proposal from Burlington.

General Passenger Agent of the Burlington railroad called at a conference with the members of the railway commission today said he intended to put on a train April 3 to run from Oxford to Hastings. The train will leave Oxford at 5:50 a. m. and return in the afternoon. It will reach Hastings in time to catch the going east. The commission will consider the schedule after it is filed and if there is very much objection from the people of Red Cloud they will be given a hearing. There is on file now with the commission, petitions asking for better train service between Red Cloud and Hastings and vice versa. Red Cloud people ask that the train leave Hastings in the morning and thus give travelers several hours to spend in the Webster county town. Whether it will be satisfactory to those interested for the train to originate in Oxford, going through Red Cloud to Hastings, the commission does not know, but those who object will be given an opportunity to be heard before the commission endorses the schedule.

Relatives Leave Dead Man.

Joseph S. Storrs, who died in the penitentiary under the name of Joseph S. McCarthy, will be buried tomorrow afternoon in Calvary cemetery. The expenses of the burial will be paid by the officer and employees of the penitentiary. The relatives refused to have anything to do with the burial. McCarthy was sent up for five years for embezzlement of money belong to the estate of Mrs. Horn of Lincoln.

Price of Eggs Considered.

Because the association of butter and egg dealers agreed to pay 15 cents less a case for eggs in secondhand cases, it is possible the matter will be investigated by the attorney general.

The fact that such an agreement was made made public at the meeting of the association when the minutes of the last meeting were read. It was shown in those minutes that such an agreement existed and Morris Friend expressed regret that some of the dealers failed to abide by it. Without looking into the matter carefully, it was stated at the office of the attorney general that such an agreement might possibly come under the law prohibiting combinations in restraint of trade.

Qualifications of Lumbermen.

Though he wrote to the Treasury department at Washington, March 4, asking for an expert to go to Omaha and investigate the Missouri river water there, Governor Shallenberger received no answer until today. He was informed that Post Assistant Surgeon L. L. Lumsden had been selected to do the work in conjunction with the city officials of Omaha. The letter from the

One Ticket at Central City.

CENTRAL CITY, Neb., March 18.—(Special.)—Without any evidence of the old hostility which has made the battles between the contending political factions at the annual spring elections such spirited affairs, the voters of the square deal and anti-saloon parties met in joint caucus at the court house Wednesday evening and placed in nomination a full ticket for the various town and school district officers. In almost every case the present incumbents were renominated. The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the citizens of Central City, as represented in the caucus here assembled, do hereby declare that they are in favor of continuing the present policy of said city toward the traffic in intoxicating beverages, and of the strict enforcement of the ordinances in which said policy is expressed.

The following ticket was placed in the field, most of the nominations being but renominations of the present incumbents:

Mayor, G. E. Schiller; clerk, C. F. Newmyer; treasurer, C. E. McAndrew; police judge, J. G. Stadter; engineer, Will Benson. Councilmen: First ward, Charles E. Schaefer; Second ward, O. D. Burke; Third ward, George E. L. Robinson and William McCulloch.

A large and representative gathering of citizens attended the caucus and a general spirit of harmony seemed to prevail.

To Undersize Men and Oversize Men

Generally speaking you've been neglected. Most stores consider your peculiarities of build against you. You are taken as a matter of course but not catered to—some stores don't even attempt to fit you. It is much different here. We show more out of the ordinary sizes than all Omaha stores combined.

The "stubs" for undersized men—who never were properly fitted—"shorts" for men of normal chest measure but short stature—"short stouts" for such built men who've grown portly—"stouts" for fellows just naturally stout and "long stouts" for tall men grown stout—long for men whose height is out of proportion with their girth, and "extra sizes" for big men up to 54-inch chest measure.
