Tale of Tarlington. An Indianapolis toy dealer tells this story about Booth Tarlington: "Mr. Tarlington," he begins, "came into my shop one day at Christmas time and said: "I want a Noah's ark, please. Not one of your modern Noah's arks, but a good old-fashioned one—one wherein Noah is the same size as the elephant."

"I think I've got what you want, sir," I answered, "up in the attic." "And I soon brought down to him a dusty old Noah's ark of the kind that I had sold when he was a little boy in a bib. "Mr. Tarlington opened the lid, peeped in and said: "Aha, this is the ticket. There they all are. There is Noah, the same size as the dove, and the dove is the same size as the elephant. But to make sure that this is a genuine old-fashioned Noah's ark I will apply one last test. I will, sir, with your permission, taste Noah's head."

"And Mr. Tarlington laughed, pretended to taste the bright point on the head of the patriarch, and, paying his bill, walked out with the old-fashioned Noah's ark under his arm."

SHAKESPEARE AT BELLEVUE Plays Are Read or Rendered by Students in the Dramatic Department.

The dramatic department of Bellevue college, under the direction of Mrs. Currens, gave a Shakespearean recital in the Bellevue Presbyterian church Friday evening. The program included some of the most interesting parts of the "Merchant of Venice," "Romeo and Juliet" and "Julius Caesar."

H. J. Brandt gave a reading of Antony's famous speech. Miss Curry read some quotations and Miss Stepp sang the "Fairy Lullaby," by Beach, the words of the song being taken from "Midsummer Night's Dream." Miss Clark was to have given the sleep-walking scene from Macbeth, but owing to illness could not be present. Miss Knapp as Juliet and Miss Kilpatrick as Nurse gave the nurse scene from "Romeo and Juliet." "To a Baby" was sung in a pleasing manner by Miss Mitchell. Miss Atwater and Miss Bradley enacted the dialogue between Portia and Nerissa and Mr. F. E. Webb as Bassanio, and Miss Edith Atwater as Portia, put on the caplet scene.

The last number on the program was the well known court scene. Well staged and richly costumed, this part of the program gave great applause. J. H. Brandt took the part of Shylock, putting upon that character the Irving interpretation, which makes the Jew a man to be pitied rather than hated and despised. Miss Atwater also took the part of Portia in this scene. Miss Bradley and Messrs. F. E. Webb, W. S. Frimrose, Ray Kearns and Don Kniffeld took the other minor parts. The college orchestra furnished music throughout the evening.

MOVE TO SAVE THE BUFFETS

Eagles' Aerie Goes Into Court to Resist Closing Order.

DAHLMAN CLUB IN THE SAME FIX

Other Clubs Have Taken Out Retail Licenses or Members Provide Their Own Drinks—Situation in Lincoln.

Acting for Aerie No. 25, Fraternal Order of Eagles, Attorney C. W. Britt has filed in district court a suit to make the mayor, chief of police and the fire and police commissioners of Omaha show cause why they should not be enjoined from interfering with the buffet kept by the aerie for its members.

Recently the police department, acting under orders of the fire and police board, has ordered the Eagles and the Dahlman Democracy to close up their buffets at once. The suit in court, filed today, is to prevent the closing of the buffets by the police.

At the present time the two buffets mentioned are the only ones running open in Omaha for the accommodation of the members of the organizations. The Eagles have gotten rid of their buffet as a part of the interior equipment of their rooms, and the Omaha club and the Field club have taken out regular retail licenses. The Country club members provide their own liquid refreshments, keeping the bottle or case goods in their own lockers.

Recently the Douglas county courts have been chary of issuing injunctions, and the best that has been granted is an order to show cause, which is expected to be the procedure in the present case.

SMITH BACK AT GALLAGHER

District Court Clerk Retaliates for Effort to Stop Paying Fees Daily.

Robert Smith, clerk of district court, has come back at Andrew Gallagher, who is trying to stop daily payment by the clerk of jury and witness fees. Gallagher sometime ago filed a protest to the Board of County Commissioners and then took an appeal to county court. For the October term, Mr. Smith paid out $1,100 in fees of the sort and because of Gallagher's action is temporarily out of the money. Hence Mr. Smith suits the county for the sum named; which the Board of County Commissioners will vote to Smith.

Smith's suit is heard first the matter will be disposed of in district court. The important fact in the matter is that Mr. Smith asks that Gallagher be made to pay the costs.

Hoppy Samuel

Goes on Rampage with His Gun

Soaked with Opium, He Tries to Shoot Up the Lower End of Town.

"Hoppy Sam," originally known as Samuel Majors, one of the ribald ramblers of the lower end of town, who has starred in many such a play, held the center of the stage at Twelfth street and Capitol avenue early Saturday.

Evidently he had spent the night saturating himself with the fumes of his "pipe," for when he blew into the Midway saloon at that famous corner, he whipped out a gun without any provocation and began shooting right and left and yelling as wildly. He was fortunately ejected from the place without killing anybody. On the street he encountered a big, brawny citizen who used to dwell in Sweden.

"Hey you, Ole, I kin whip you." "Ay don tank you can," was the phlegmatic fellow's reply as he stood gazing at the crazy negro without batting an eyelash.

With that Hoppy Sam proceeded to make good, or try it, on his challenge. He whipped out that gun again and began to bombard Ole. But never a shot took effect. Ole, in fact, didn't tarry to see where the bullets went. His stoicism quickly disappeared and so did he.

This cannonading attracted the police and directly Detectives Mitchell, Sullivan, Van Dusen and Maloney were in pursuit of the wild man. Up streets, down alleys, across lots they chased him. He took refuge in a basement of an old building at Ninth street and Capitol avenue and, huddled up in one corner, he was seized by the officers and taken to the jail.

"JES GOIN' TO MEET A FREN"

NEGRO TELLS POLICE JUDGE

He Was Going at a Mighty Clip, Too When the Officer Stopped Him.

J. J. Tebeau, a colored bell hop at the Millard hotel, was arrested Friday night for trying to pull off a marathon race with himself in an alley between Farman and Harney streets.

When he appeared before Police Judge Crawford he said: "I was jes' trying to meet a fren' and was in a hurry when someone yelled to me to hold up my hands and stop. I was so scared, judge, that I couldn't stop and the first thing I knew I was in the arms of a bull."

"Did you meet your friend," asked the judge. "No, but I met a big copper that sent me to the station."

Tebeau was acting suspicious and Officer Nickols gave chase when he saw a dark streak fleeing down the alley. He was not fast enough to catch the fleeing man, but he ran him into the arms of his brother officer, Patrolman Jackson, and Tebeau was sent to the station. Judge Crawford dismissed Tebeau after he warned him not to pull off any more foot races in the middle of the night in a dark alley.

Pleasant Reading for the Fat

What a simple and inexpensive solving of the fat woman's problem the Marmola Prescription Tablets provide. She takes one of these harmless, pleasant, little tablets after each meal and at bedtime and loses from 12 to 16 ounces of fat each day, and yet suffers no harm, creates no disturbances inwardly, and produces no wrinkles. This elegant preparation (made exactly in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription) has rendered sterling and dieting for the reduction of excess flesh as superfluous as a fifth wheel. A further recommendation is that it is the least expensive fat reducer on the market, a large case (containing only 75 cents) from any drug store or by mail from the Marmola Co., 522 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich., containing a quantity of tablets large enough to give very decided results in most every case—Adv.

Mrs. R. E. Frey Speaks to Philosophers—Mrs. R. E. Frey, president of the Omaha Philosophical society, will address the society Sunday at 3 o'clock p. m. in Barlight hall, Nineteenth and Farman streets, the theme being "An Appreciation of Zang-will's 'The Melting Pot.'"

To Import Hungarian Dancers—Hungarian musicians and dancers will be imported from New York City for a masquerade which the Hungarian society will give Easter Sunday evening at the Metropolitan club. Six Hungarian dancers will dance the Charda, the national dance, and afterwards will play some Hungarian music. Sam R. Drury Goes to Denver—Sam R. Drury has been appointed general agent of the Burlington and the Colorado & Southern. The roads established a joint office the first of the year. Mr. Drury, who is well known in Omaha, as he formerly traveled for the Burlington out of this city, was an Omaha visitor Saturday.

County Wins Suit from Brewster—The county of Douglas has won a suit brought against it by Joseph Brewster for $5,800. Mr. Brewster asked a refund in taxes and interest to this amount. He was the purchaser of the old Young Men's Christian Association building at a tax sale and subsequently the property was redeemed, leaving Mr. Brewster holding the sack. Judge Redick has ruled against a refund by the county.

New Burlington Train—To provide better and additional service to the South Platte country and in response to the demands of the citizens in southwestern Nebraska between Hastings, Red Cloud and along the Republican valley, the Burlington announced that April 3, it will put on additional local daily service, except Sunday. The train leaves Oxford at 5:50 p. m. and arrives at Hastings at 10:15 to connect with No. 2 for Omaha and also with the Aurora train for north central Nebraska. On the same date the Burlington will add a daily except Sunday train between Ashland and Sioux City.

Refund on Fare Still Popular—Merchants of the towns tributary to Omaha still continue to take advantage of the Merchants' association arrangement by which their railroad fare is refunded provided 2 per cent of their purchases from local jobbers and wholesalers equals the amount of their fare both ways. Saturday J. M. Guild, commissioner of the Commercial club, who acts as a clearing house for the association, signed refunds for one day amounting to $241. This indicates the minimum amount of goods purchased under this plan would show a total of $12,000 for the day. It may be the amount of purchases were twice that amount. These refunds went to forty persons, showing that the average railroad fare was $4 for the round trip.
