The officers at Fort Omaha will give a dance at the post Saturday evening. Several dinner parties will be given preceding this hop.

Mrs. Jack Dumont will give a card party Monday afternoon at her home in honor of her aunt, Miss Myra McIntyre of Hannibal, Mo.

Miss Fannie Howland will give a luncheon Saturday at her home.

MAKING FRAGRANT GARDEN

Lavender is one of the sweetest plants and how it is grown. A very little space will suffice to raise the sweetest of the perfume plants...

The resignation this week of Mrs. Emma F. Byers from the general secretaryship of the Young Women's Christian association has occasioned regret among hundreds of Omaha women with whom she has come into touch during her nine years of work in the local field.

By those unfamiliar with the organization, the national department secretary and the national field secretaries have been confused. The department secretaries have to do with specific departments of work and come upon call to any part of the country.

During her residence in Omaha Mrs. Byers has had several attractive offers from other cities and had the honor of being elected to the national board. The most attractive of these she declined only last year, the office of supervising field secretary, which is at the head of all the field work.

She has had a substantial part in building the association up from a membership of less than 1,000 to over 2,000 and in strengthening and broadening all of its departments in the same proportion.

So generously have the friends of the Visiting Nurse association responded to its call for aid in establishing its summer camp for sick babies that the close of the week promises to find the necessary $2,000 practically all subscribed.

INVITATIONS BY TELEPHONE

They May Be So Extended Even for the Most Formal Occasions.

Invitations which once upon a time would have been written formally may now be given over a telephone, so much a part of daily life has become that valuable first instrument become, and women who first objected to it as a method of social intercourse have now found they are spared the suspense of waiting for a reply, as they must when sending a note, and that in the time thus gained they may immediately supply the piece of a person who is unable to accept.

But formality is not entirely thrown away even when a telephone is used, for a woman receiving such an invitation, and accepting, is supposed to follow her verbal acceptance with a note of assurance. This must read as formally as though she were replying to a formal note, and in it is she must repeat the day of the week, the month and the hour for which she is invited. Under no consideration are such details as time omitted when replying to a telephone invitation, for they are the point of the note and their repetition is to prevent any misunderstanding in time as may occur by word of mouth. So the woman who writes says:

My Dear Mrs. Emma: It was delightful to be included for your luncheon, and I shall be happy to be present on Tuesday, March 22, at half-past 1 o'clock, to play bridge afterwards. MARY ANNE HOWARD, March 20th.

In this way the hostess is assured that each of her guests has understood and that none will come a day early or one too late.

Keeping Children Busy. When the children want something to do set them to threading a paper of needles all on the end of a white spool of thread, tying a knot in the end to keep them on. Then when some one sits down to sew both time and eyesight will be saved. Measure the thread and draw out the desired length, the other needles pushed back and secured with a knot.

Nonsticking Starch. Dissolve starch in lukewarm water and add enough boiling water to make it clear, stirring briskly while you pour in the boiling water. Add one teaspoonful of borax and shake in about one teaspoonful of paraffin. Then bring to a boil for five or ten minutes.

Bedspreads. Never iron a bedspread while still damp, fold in the same manner when bought, press smooth with the hands, wrap up in newspaper, and put it up on the radiator to dry.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

City Council in Called Session Tries to Clean Slate of Business.

ONE MORE SESSION MONDAY

Council Decides to Do Nothing on Question of New Fire House Sites and Refer It Back to Commissioners.

The South Omaha city council, after adjourning without transacting any business Tuesday afternoon, will meet Monday morning in called session and finished up most of the pending business which is to be considered by the present body before it dissolves to give place to the coming democratic regime.

WOMEN AS POLITICIANS

Many Have Developed at the National Capital During Last Few Years. The political woman has been much in evidence since congress became so unruly. Those who lectured on current topics are overwhelmed with demands about the inner politics of the Cannon upheaval.

HOW TO CLEAN THE CORSET

Wash it at Home with Soap Jelly, but Don't Try to Dry Clean. Tie over the top of a tumbler, or other glass dish, a piece of coarse, stiff net, fill the tumbler with water and cover the net with peas, the common kind. Stand the tumbler or dish in a dark but not cold place, three days, then set it in the window. In a few days you can see the roots shooting down into the water and will soon be able to train the vines. One pretty idea is to set the dish of vines in a wire basket. Another is to fasten a fine wire, suspended in front of the window, around the top part of the dish and weave many strands of the wire to a point high above the dish. Train the vines to grow over this and you will have a pretty ornament for the table.

SECRETARY OF MABRAY CLUB WANTED IN SOUTH

Monty McCall, Also J. S. Johnson, Hunted Up to Answer Charge at Hot Springs.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., April 8.—J. S. Johnson and Monty McCall, alias George Clark, the latter mentioned as secretary of the Mabray "Millionaire club," are wanted here today to answer for indictments for swindling returned by the grand jury now in session here.

Indadors Warner and George Campbell, who were accused in the same information, were given their liberty following the failure of the grand jury to find a true bill.

George W. Chambers swore to the information charging that on January 2, in this city, he was swindled out of $2,500 in a fake prize fight in which he wagered on "the big man who was winning" until something happened "right quick," when the little fellow put him down for the count. Johnson and McCall are under indictment at Council Bluffs.

Persistent advertising is the road to Big Returns.

to allow the city officials their pay until the close of their terms of office and to pass the pending ordinances and pay off the bills. As to any other project nothing was said, and according to those who were present, no radical or hasty action was intended on any subject. There are bills to be opened on paving and for an automobile for use in the city engineer's department.

The absent members feared some attack which would compromise them. Whether it was the automobile or the proposition to pay for 2,000 feet of fire hose is not known.

Prospective Appointees. The city treasurer-elect, J. J. Gillin, announced his deputies and assistants yesterday. They are: E. P. Roggen, deputy; John Fennel, assistant; and James Krejcek, collector. He said he thought immediate announcement a good thing in his case. F. H. Good, the city clerk, would make no announcement as to the assistants in his office. It was rumored from an outside source that William T. Martin, ex-councilman and at present a foreman for the Omaha Packing company, would be one of the assistants and that J. Marcey would be the other. P. J. Trainor said he had not considered the appointments of any officers.

Banquet for Choir. The parishioners of St. Clement's mission gave a supper and entertainment in honor of the vested choir of St. Clement's church Wednesday evening. It was intended to repay in slight token the good service of the choir at Easter. Thirty-five guests were honored. The color scheme was purple and white. Rev. A. G. White of St. Martin's church presided, and W. L. Cullen acted as toastmaster after the supper. Toasts were offered by Rev. A. G. White, Mrs. Polcar, Miss Emma Kauffman and Mrs. Marley McKinley. The choir also rendered several numbers, and Misses Blivenrind, Scott, Whittier and Mrs. Fogar rendered piano numbers.

Independent Telephone. The president and vice president of the Independent Telephone company, Messrs. E. A. and F. A. Ebersole, were in South Omaha yesterday afternoon and consulted with David Anderson concerning the building of a telephone exchange which had been promised to South Omaha at Twenty-fifth and M streets. The officers of the company said that the Independent company were reorganizing under a new management and expected to do business without a receiver in a short time. The South Omaha exchange building is promised within the next few months. The work, it was declared, will begin within ten days. The exchange building planned will be a two-story brick structure and will cost in the neighborhood of $20,000.
