KLING STILL OUT OF THE GAME

Catcher Says He Does Not Know When He Will Join Cubs.

KANSAS CITY, April 19.—"It is impossible for me to state just when I shall join the Chicago Nationals," said John G. Kling today. "In fact I am unable to make a positive statement whether I shall be able to join the team at all or not. It will be several days before I can arrive at a decision in the matter.

"My 4-year-old daughter is in a hospital where she has undergone two operations for a serious affection of the throat. I certainly cannot leave her until she is well enough to leave the hospital.

"The report that I am interested with Harry C. Osterman of Boston in the proposed organization of an outlaw league is false. I am not interested in new leagues and have heard nothing of the plan to organize one.

"If Manager Chance of the Cubs wishes I consider myself essential to the success of his team he is very much mistaken. I think the Cubs will win the pennant whether I join them or not."

Gophers Willing to Play Nebraska

Athletic Board of University of Minnesota Will Play Two Games.

LINCOLN, April 19.—(Special.)—The athletic board at the University of Minnesota has signified its willingness to permit the Gopher base ball team to play the Nebraska club the two games that are scheduled for Northrup field in May. The Gophers will do this without requiring the Cornhusker board to certify to the amateur standing of its team under the Missouri valley conference rules. The Minnesota board likes the frankness with which the Nebraska board has spoken out about the summer base ball question, and it declares it will play the Cornhusker team unless the other members of the Chicago conference object. The Gophers say they can play Nebraska under the same terms that they would play a league team, not requiring any statement as to eligibility and not receiving any in return. This is the very attitude Nebraska wanted Kansas to take on the proposition until the Missouri valley conference had a chance to act.

Iowa university has written Dr. Clapp that the Cornhuskers cannot play the Hawkeye club unless it signs a statement regarding all its players. By this declaration Iowa has taken the same position that Kansas did on the questions and has forced the Cornhuskers to give up hope of making a trip into Iowa to play the State university, Ames and Grinnell.

The Cornhusker board will not vote to disband the local team until the delegates to the meeting in Kansas City today report the action taken at that gathering. The representative of the Nebraska athletic board had instructions to try to get the other members of the conference to rescind the anti-summer ball rule, now in force. In case such action was taken today the Nebraska team will not disband, but if the status in local base ball remains as it is now the Cornhuskers will abandon their schedule. A meeting of the athletic board will be called tomorrow to consider the matter.

Over fifty men drew suits from Manager Enge for spring foot ball practice today. This is the largest squad that ever reported for the ante-season work.

At a meeting and dinner for all the football candidates last evening in the Temple fully seventy-five men were present to discuss the prospects for next fall. Short speeches were made by Chancellor Avery, Professor Richards, Ex-Captain Harvey and Professor Caldwell. The three faculty men said they did not want Rugby football and would be satisfied only with the American game as reformed by the rules committee.

BEN LOMOND, Cal., April 19.—When James J. Jeffries was informed today that Jack Johnson had declared in favor of Jack Welch for referee of the coming fight, he said:

"I don't believe I have given the referee question a moment's thought so far. Anything suggested will be agreeable to me. The selection of the referee will be in Bergers hands."

Berger said that he felt very much as Jeffries did and had no particular choice in mind.

Driscoll Whips Robson.

LONDON, April 19.—A big crowd today saw Jack Driscoll the featherweight champion of England knock out Spike Robson, also of England, in the fifteenth round, for the feather-weight championship and a purse of £600. New Ball League Rumor in Chicago

Organization Would Include Kansas City and St. Louis—John Kling is Mentioned.

CHICAGO, April 19.—The organization of a new base ball league, composed of Chicago, Kansas City, Philadelphia, New York, Cleveland, Cincinnati, St. Louis and possibly Boston is being seriously considered, according to Henry C. Goterman, a local "semi-pro" magnate.

Osterman said today money had been obtained and quotes had been sent to the various cities to determine what steps might be taken to bring about the immediate formation of the league. James J. Callahan, Andy Coakley, "Jiggs" Donahue and John Kling are mentioned as possible backers of this circuit.

Traction Water Found by Experts Who Made Report

Lincoln Company's Value Found to Have Increased Over Million in One Night.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, April 18.—(Special.)—The Lincoln Traction company has "watered" its value to the amount of $1,876,772.76, according to a report completed today by U. G. Powell and L. E. Wettling, rate clerks in the employ of the State Railway commission, in connection with an investigation held in relation to a petition from the citizens of Havelock, a suburb to the capital, for the reduction of fares. The value of the company's property, says the report, filed today, is $2,381,616.07.

The contention of the traction company in resisting the efforts for a reduction of fares has been that it would cut the earnings on capital to an unreasonable and unprofitable figure.

Following is an extract from the report to the commission, showing how values changed in one night:

Our investigation has covered only the period from the consolidation of the Lincoln Traction company and the Citizens' Railway company, January 31, 1909.

On the date last named, the combined assets of the two companies, as shown by the books of the Lincoln Traction company and the reports submitted to your honorable body as of Jnauary 31, 1909, would indicate a value of $2,500,863.30, which, by the journal entries made for opening the new books of the consolidated company immediately on the next morning, i. e. February 1, 1909, became $3,877,636.08.

The general railway plant, in the consolidated books opened on February 1, 1909, is shown at a valuation of $24,000 per mile for track and overhead equipment in paved streets, and at $18,000 per mile for track and equipment in streets not paved, covering all of the track and overhead equipment of the combined companies, and including the "Lincoln Traction company extension," so called on the books, and being the extension to Havelock, and also the College View part of the Citizens' interurban, which had been carried on the Citizens' books as a separate corporation. There was arbitrarily added to the value of the lighting plant, as shown on the books, some $2,000, equal to the power plant about $34,000 above the value shown on the books on the preceding evening. There was also added to the book value of the heating plant $2,000 in like manner. Between the night of January 31, 1909, and the morning of February 1, 1909, in like manner the value of the office building increased from $8,100 to $15,000. Outside investement of realestate, which on January 31 were shown on the books as of a value of $8,900, became worth $20,150 on February 1, 1909. Tools, which had a value of $2,784 on January 31, appear to be worth $14,000 on the morning of February 1, 1909. The stock held in the Citizens Railway company, valued on the books at $1,016 January 31, was entered as of a value of $2,250 on the morning of February 1, 1909.

At the same time the capitalization of the two companies consolidated was materially changed. The first mortgage bonds of the original Lincoln Traction company, which, on January 31, 1909, showed as $300,000 outstanding, were on February 1, 1909, shown to be $250,000. This increase of $50,000 was added to the assets, and as a counter-balancing entry The Lincoln Traction company was charged with the amount and credited, as a partial offset, with a special dividend of $150,626.93, and most of the balance of the debit to the Traction company by reason of this entry, when the moneys were finally taken in for the sale of bonds, was used to reduce bills payable.

We made inquiry of the accounting department, the former president, Mr. McDonald, and counsel of the Traction company, asking for an explanation of the special dividend, and each of the explanations differed. The explanations were generally to the effect that the reason for the dividend was because of the great variation between the representations and the actual findings of the accounts payable, and the dividend was declared to the stockholders of the old Traction company for the purpose of adjusting such difference. The books, however, do not bear out this explanation, as it would appear from the books themselves that the accounts payable of the Lincoln Traction company were very much in excess of the amount said to have been estimated, whereas the Citizens accounts payable appeared to have been only $347. Without definitely stating it to be a fact, the impression that is given by the books would lead to the conclusion that the real reason for this dividend was to adjust the difference in the profit and loss account as of January 31, 1909, in order that the old stockholders of the Traction company might absorb all the profits for the month of January, which were shown on the books to be $149,653, as against a deficit shown by the Citizens company in the surplus account of $2,504.82.

ERICSON WANTS MORE TRAINS

Judge Macomber Will Present Matter to State Railway Commission Today.

Judge Macomber left yesterday for Ericson, Neb., where he will be present at an important hearing before the State Railway Commission today. He represents citizens of Wheeler county, who are trying to have a better train service established over the Greeley-Ericson branch line. The people of Ericson want more trains. The railroad company argues that the business is not sufficient to warrant an extension of service. Judge Macomber sets up that the question is not whether the branch line pays, but whether the entire system pays, and the matter of service to the public is the important question.

ZBYSZKO THROWS THE DANE

Polish Wrestler Takes Hard Match from Westergaard.

FIRST FALL TAKES OVER HOUR

Eighteen Minutes for Second Encounter—Panelka Throws Bill Hokuff Easily by His Good Work.

Zbyszko won the wrestling match from Westergaard Monday night at the Auditorium.

The first fall was accomplished by the Polander after one hour eight minuts and twenty seconds of fierce battling with the Dane.

The second fall was in favor of the Pole after a struggle of 18 minutes and 40 seconds.

It was a battle between science and strength, in which strength won. Westergaard showed that he was the more scientific of the two principals, but the Polander was there with the strength. Time and time again would the Dane have an opportunity to thrown the Polish wrestler, but he was not strong enough to beat him to the position. In pinches he lacked the strength to go through.

The big house, which numbered over 3,000 people, applauded every move, and there was hardly a minute but their work brought applause.

At the beginning of the match between the big ones, Westergaard went after his man tooth and nail and for a time it looked as if he might win. Westergaard was ever on the aggressive, and caught the Polish gentleman in several predicaments, but Zbyszko always found a way out of them, and at no time was in any particular danger. During the first fall Jess was decidedly on the offensive, and tried his best to place the Pole on his back, but when he got in a tight place Zybszko exerted herculean strength and got away. The Dane had all kinds of speed, but it availed him nothing compared with the prowess of the Pole.

Valiant Fight.

The first fall occurred after a valiant fight by Westergaard.

For more than an hour in the first fall the two big men attempted to gain advantage and it was only after Westergaard was more or less exhausted by his endeavor to land the Pole on his back that his opponent was able to put him to the mat with an English cross bar.

The second fall was accomplished after the Pole had roughed the game from the start. When the word was given in the second period, Zbyszko started right in to get the lead and for a period made his man go to keep up with his speed but after a short spurt he let the Dane take the initiative and did nothing but hold his own. The great strength of the Pole asserted itself and after a fierce battle Westergaard was pinned with a half Nelson.

Dane Does Well.

From a spectacular point of view, Westergaard was the favorite. Time and time again he got out of holds that looked like sure defeat for him and time and time again when he was working on the defensive he took the big Pole and threw him bodily to the mat.

The bout between Bill Hokuff, champion of Omaha and Pavelka, an unknown from out in the state was a good one. At the start many thought there was nothing to it but Hokuff, but Pavelka won the tryout in one hour, four minutes and thirty-five seconds. When he stepped on the mat after the finale of the big match, he was greeted with much applause, and when he threw the Omaha champ in thirteen minutes and thirteen seconds it dawned on the crowd that a new wrestler had appeared.

After the bout, Jess Westergaard challenged Dr. Roller for a match.

Col. Bannister Tells the Story of Yellow Jack

Conquering Fever, Made Possible Construction of Panama Canal and Saved Thousands.

The work of the army medical board in grappling with and stamping out yellow fever in Cuba and the isthmus of Panama, the bubonic plague, beri beri and cholera in the Philippine Islands was the subject of a lecture by Colonel J. M. Bannister, chief surgeon of the Department of the Missouri, to the Men's club of the First Presbyterian church Monday night. No one is more fitted than Colonel Bannister to speak of army sanitary administration in the tropics and what it has accomplished in the cause of humanity, as he has played an important part himself in the field of medical discovery during the period he was stationed in Cuba and in the far east.

The portion of the lecture of particular interest to people in this country was his relation of the triumphs of the medical board in exterminating yellow fever in Cuba and the isthmus, as in years past, as he pointed out, "yellow jack" has carried off thousands annually in the southern states and cost the federal government, the governments of states and railroad companies millions of dollars. The discovery, he said, that yellow fever was transmitted by a species of mosquito was the turning point in the battle with this disease which had baffled the scientists of other countries for centuries.

"In the City of Havana," he stated, "we in ninety days absolutely destroyed all yellow fever infection. That was the first time in 140 years that this city enjoyed freedom from the disease." He pointed out that it was this discovery in Cuba that had made the construction of the Panama canal possible. The ravages of the disease had compelled the French to abandon the work. As against the 8,000 who had died during the period the French contractors were at work there had been only nineteen deaths from this cause under the United States administration the first year and a half.

Regarding the bubonic plague in the Philippines, he said that medical science was now able to combat the disease through the discovery of the army medical board that it was spread by rats and the fleas that lived upon the vermin. For two years the government in the Philippines had paid so much a head for every rat killed.

Colonel Bannister paid a high tribute to tht members of the medical board and the enlisted soldiers in giving their services and lives in the cause of the progress of medical science. He mentioned that only one of the four members of the medical board who carried out the experiments in Cuba was now alive and stated that two of the doctors had succumbed directly to the yellow fever infection to which they had voluntarily submitted themselves. H. A. Dowd presided during the lecture.
