New York Hotel Man Says Victory in This Affair Has Become Ambition of Jeffrien'

NEW YORK, April 20.-(Special Telegram.)-As a betting proposition the forthcoming fight between "Jim" Jeffries and Jack" Johnson will probably be without equal in the history of the sporting world. Counting the wagers that are being made in this country, as well as the hundreds of thousands of dollars that will be staked on the outcome in other quarters of the globe, it is estimated that between $4,000,000 and

"Bob" Murphy, proprietor of the Hotel Albany, who was stakeholder of the forfeit money put up by the fighters before "Big Tim" Sullivan was agreed upon as the permanent custodian of funds, believes that some such enormous sum will be wagered. Murphy already has a big bundle of greenbacks that have been placed in his keeping by men with varying views as to the pugilistic skill of the retired champion and the negro holder of

Aside from the cash that he is person ally holding, until after the great issue is decided on July 4, Murphy has heard of a great many other bets being recorded. Some of them were made by well-known Wall street men, others by bookmakers, and even a few merchant princes and professional gentlemen have waded into the market with rolls to place either this way in or that way. Practically every one of these wagers has been at even money, own ability whether he wins or loses. "The nearest approach to the giving of odds is in some scattering bets that have been made on the number of rounds the fight will go. A few of the Jeffries admirers, who are confident that he will come back into better form than ever in his life, are out with small sums to bet at even money that the negro won't last ten rounds. Others are willing to back their judgment that 'Jack' will have enough of it in fifteen or twenty rounds, but they want some sort of an inducement in the way of odds. A lot of people want to bet that if the fight goes the limit the decision will be in favor of 'Jeff,'
