

OMAHA GETS RANGE CATTLE

Trade Trip of Live Stock Exchange Finds Market Fatuous.

CHICAGO IS LOSING ITS GRIP

Boosters Find Northwest Ranchers Favoring Buyers Here—Jolly Entertainments Found on Long Journey.

That Omaha is growing in popularity as a market town in the great northwest and that South Omaha will get more and more cattle is the opinion of the members of the South Omaha Live Stock exchange who returned Saturday morning from their extensive trip.

They found the cattle men of Rapid City, Belle Fourche, Sheridan, Clearmont, Billings and Miles City warm toward the South Omaha market. It is declared that the time is at hand when Chicago will lose its grip on the range cattle business.

The party enjoyed the best of entertainments at all points and was especially pleased with the roundup celebration at Clearmont, when they were the guests of Willis Spear of Spear Brothers' great ranch.

The thing which caused the greatest interest was the tremendous activity in Montana and Dakota, apparent in developing the new lands into a purely agricultural region.

W. B. Cheek of the Burlington system, who was one of the party, said: "At Glendive, Mont., I was taken off my feet by the proportions of the agricultural development, as shown by the implement dealers and the merchants in general supplies. The depot at Glendive was buried under heaps of farm machinery. The agent took me up to the west end of the town and showed me a field of sixty acres extent covered completely with farm machinery of all descriptions. The railroad companies have built sheds for the incoming emigrants to store goods and there is a row of these about a mile long. I saw boxes of provisions piled in the streets, making a heap a quarter of a mile in length. There is certainly something doing in that section. In the Dakota towns it was practically a repetition of the same thing. At Sheridan the city is leaping ahead as never before. The streets are being paved and a street car service installed. Electric lights illuminate all the cities we visited."

Bright Outlook for Future. Secretary A. F. Striker told of the details of the trip, dwelling more particularly on the results and the outlook for the immediate future.

"We are delighted with the trip, which we think by far the most successful ever made. We found stock in the range country coming through the winter in fairly good condition. Bearing a few isolated districts where loss was reported heavy, the loss in cattle was comparatively light. Cattlemen and sheepmen of the northwest have no complaints to make.

"The South Omaha delegation was everywhere enthusiastically received and entertained. The business men's association at Rapid City, the Chamber of Commerce at the Knights of Pythias received us at Belle Fourche, the Elks were our hosts at Sheridan. The Billings club and the Miles City club took us in at those cities and treated us royally. The Miles City club is famous as the frequent entertainer of Theodore Roosevelt, and the club has an autograph portrait of the great hunter upon the walls. The whole company was initiated into the mysteries of a 'son-of-a-gun in a sack' and other accomplishments of the roundup cook at Spear's ranch. We saw lots of good riding and sports typical of the ranges. The women were present to meet us, having ridden in from the surrounding ranches in numberless carriages. We went back to town in our big hackney party at 11 p. m. that night and fairly outdid the men in generous welcome and good wishes. Chicago sees the handwriting.

"One striking circumstance was everywhere met, and that was the howl which the Chicago representatives made for the dwindling patronage of the west. It was plain to us that they could see the handwriting on the wall and the rapid approach of the day when Chicago will cease to be a primary market for the western trade. Year by year the decrease from the ranges will be more pronounced. Already the Chicago wall is pitiful.

"On every hand the South Omaha representatives were met with the assurance, 'We have become convinced that Omaha is our market.'"

"The threatened depletion of the grades and of range cattle does not cause the worry which was professed a few years ago, for the small rancher and the dry farmer so far outnumber the ranchers that their limited production will far outstrip the greatest output of the big ranges in the near future. The party spent the entire day Thursday at St. Paul on the exchange of the Live Stock exchange of South St. Paul. We are home again delighted, dirty and devilishly well satisfied."

Meat Loaders Take Walkout

Partial Strike of Dock Gangs at South Omaha Packing Plants—Few Men Go Out.

A partial walkout occurred Friday in the loading gangs at Armour and Cudahy's packing plants. The men made no particular demand, but it was understood that they wanted a raise in wages. Armour & Co. reported about half the men, not more than thirty, in all had quit. The Cudahy Packing company announced the same condition.

"It is the usual spring flurry," said General Manager Michael Murphy of the Cudahy plant. "Most of the gang which left the plant will not return, as they intended to leave the employ anyway. I think the matter will soon be settled, but as they have made no demand we can't tell what is desired or whether we can meet the demand."

R. C. Howe said: "We have this same difficulty every spring and it should not be called a strike, for it has very little significance."

General Manager Edwards of Swift & Co. said: "Our men are all with us yet."

New Postoffice in Railway Depot

May Be Installed in Connection with the New Street Car Mail Service.

Postmaster Thomas was in conference with a representative of the Postoffice department Saturday morning relative to the location of a postoffice substation at one of the passenger stations of Omaha in connection with the new street railway postal car service to be installed July 1.

Claims Damages for Grading—Five suits have been filed in district court against the city of Omaha for damages alleged to be property owners abutting on the alley between Cass and Chicago streets and from Thirty-ninth to Fortieth. The damage asserted is due to grading. The petitioners, who, with one exception, ask $1,000 each, are: Mrs. M. P. Becker, Ray Becker, Kitty Crandall, Mrs. A. B. Bunker and Carrie L. Ady. The last named asks $2,000.

Damages Suit Against the Burlington—Joseph Janovsky, an infant, by his next friend and father, Jacob J. Janovsky, has brought suit in the United States circuit court against the Burlington for $25,000 damages for personal injuries received through the negligent carelessness of the defendant railroad company, April 24, 1907, at the William street crossing of that road in Omaha. The child was run over by a switch engine and suffered injuries that later necessitated the amputation of his leg. The case is transferred from the district court of Douglas county.

Railroads Must Repair Viaducts—Councilman Kugel and the city engineer's office is going after the railroads to have the Sixteenth street viaduct put in better condition for pedestrians. The custom has been for the railroads to put down new planks as fast as old ones wore out. These new planks, being inserted without regularity, here and there, with old ones in between, have caused continual kicks from the people compelled to walk across the viaduct. Nails also stick in the old pieces of walk to trip the unwary. Mr. Kugel insists the railroad companies shall build new sidewalks on both sides, probably of other material than wood.

COUNTY BOARD IN HOT DEBATE

Request of Organized Labor for Another Inspector Turned Down.

GRANT CASTS DECIDING VOTE

Representatives of Labor Express Their Views and Commissioners Do the Same in Warm Confab.

Request of organized labor that an additional inspector be placed upon the new Douglas county court house was denied Saturday by the Board of County Commissioners by a vote of three to two following two hours of hot debate between members of the board and representatives of the Central Labor union and the Building Trades council.

The vote came at noon immediately following a telephone message summoning Commissioner John Grant to his home, where it was said his father-in-law was dying. Mr. Grant was about to leave, but at the request of the other commissioners stayed half a minute to vote. Had he not done so there would have been no decision, for his was one of the votes cast against the special inspectorship. The other two men voting similarly were Commissioners Bedford and Pickard. Fred Bruning cast his vote the other way, explaining that he thought the request should be referred to the architect John C. Troutan, who kept silent through the debate and did not explain his vote as did all the others, cast the second ballot for the inspectorship.

The question of inspectorship has been before the board several times before any action taken. Saturday the delegation of labor men came, asking a definite answer and all members of the board except Bruning declared that the matter ought to be settled one way or the other at this time.

Labor Representatives Speak. A. J. Donohoe, president of the Central Labor union, Frank Painter, business agent for the Structural Iron Workers' union, and Dan Sullivan, president of the Building Trades council, took a prominent part in the debate on behalf of the union men. Early in the argument Commissioner John Grant electrified the meeting by saying bluntly: "You gentlemen come here professing to be interested as taxpayers in the good construction of the court house. You know well that your object is to get a union man on as inspector and make trouble for the contractors."

"I want to see the work done right," returned Mr. Donohoe. Views similar to Grant's were soon expressed by Commissioners Bedford and Pickard and then came attacks on the record of Caldwell & Drake by Frank Painter and Dan Sullivan.

The question of the construction of the Little Rock capitol building by this firm was threshed over and Jeff W. Bedford of the board explained that he and the other commissioners who had gone to Little Rock had investigated the matter thoroughly and found that Caldwell & Drake had been victims of a political attack.

The meeting adjourned with divergent statements by Messrs. Painter and Sullivan.

"There's an election time coming," said Sullivan, while Painter, who was in a less angry frame of mind, asked the commissioners to "remember the iron workers on the new bridge over the Platte."

"We can't specify in a contract that union labor shall do the work," declared Commissioner Pickard.

Poor Old Comet is Blamed Again

Even Police Are Picking on the Sky Rambler as Cause of Freak Complaints.

Halley's comet is declared by the police to have been responsible for the successive appearance of queer accidents at the police station Friday evening. Three men suffering various degrees and phases of mental oddity sought the police Friday for relief, in turn.

W. H. Jones, who told Captain Moynihan he feared he would commit suicide if left alone, was discharged after a hearing by Judge Crawford Saturday. Brewster Landstrum, the crippled Swedish pencil vender, who told the police he was tormented by frightful imaginings, received an examination and possible arraignment under an insanity charge. A third queer character, who enunciated his words of the Missouri of heavy whalers and whose name could not be learned, called at the station once Friday and a second time Saturday, when he was placed in jail. The man found his way into the court room before the session had opened and delivered a lengthy monologue which, while no one could understand, He will be tried Monday.

Omaha Shows Big Bank Gain

Gate City Banks Show Better Gain Than Those of Other Cities.

Omaha made a gain of 44 per cent in its bank clearings for the week ending April 21, while both New York and Boston show a decrease in the amount of business done. Chicago shows only 10 per cent increase. The total amount of clearings for the period mentioned reached $1,312,500.

OMAHA GETS COAL CONTRACTS

Dahlman Club is Riled Over Tax Valuation

President Flynn Says He Will Look Into Returns Made by Other Political Organizations.

Dahlman club members do not like the taste of criticism that has been made of their tax return on club furniture, and some of them have started an investigation to find out if the other political clubs of the city have made any returns.

"There is the Jacksonian club and the Central Republican club," said one officer of the Dahlman club. "I know that the Jacks have very much nicer furniture than we have. They have rugs and pictures, and an outfit of considerable value in their rooms in the Patterson block. We believe President Flynn made a very fair return of the value of the same amount of furniture in the Dahlman club rooms. That is a gathering place of the common people, with plain floors, folding chairs, a few small tables and half a dozen water glasses. Some of the members have loaned a few pictures, but the whole outfit would not sell for what it is valued at in the return."

"Now let the other clubs come across, especially the rich Jacksonian organization and the Central Republican club. Then if we are shown to be off in our return we will correct it. The Jacksonians maintain that their rooms are merely used for the storage of furniture that is used during active campaigns, and that the rooms are not used continually, as in the case of the Dahlman club. That is our dress parade outfit," said one Jacksonian, "kept as an evidence of good faith."

Secretary Scott of the Central Republican club asserts that the organization does not maintain regular club rooms. "We simply have a meeting place," said Mr. Scott, "where we gather twice a month to exchange views and receive dues. No second hand man would buy the furniture from the store since the latest intrusion. We have no key and no locking compartment. You can readily understand a desk of that kind is not worth anything. The influence of our club is what has value, and that is not subject to taxation."

Lincoln Club Plans Big Meet

Prominent Speakers from Oklahoma and Omaha to Talk Next Friday Night.

The Lincoln club of Omaha has arranged for a meeting to be held at Zion Baptist church, Twenty-third and Grant streets, Friday evening next, April 29. The meeting will be addressed by three attorneys representing the Constitutional League of Oklahoma, Judge E. T. Barbour of El Reno, William Harrison of Oklahoma City and E. O. Tyler of Kingfisher, Okla.

The Oklahoma attorneys will speak particularly in defense of the constitutional rights of the negro, for which purpose the Oklahoma league is specifically organized. Prominent negro citizens of Omaha are helping in the arrangements for the meeting which will also be addressed by Messrs. Dahlman, Victor Rosewater, editor of The Bee; Judge Estabrook, County Attorney English, City Comptroller Lobeck and Rev. W. F. Botts, pastor of Zion church.

Burglars Come Back for Hats

Thieves Who Entered George Fray's Store Return to Get Headgear to Match Suits.

The ease with which a theft of $500 was accomplished from the George Fray hat store at 610 South Sixteenth street a week ago may have figured in the motive for a second burglary at the establishment Friday night, according to the police.

Five panama hats are reported missing from the store since the latest intrusion. The hats, according to the proprietor, were of very noticeably fine make and may ultimately be identified on the heads of those who profited by the theft.

INCREASE ON TIME DEPOSITS

First National Pays Half Per Cent More on Certificates.

KOUNTZE SAYS NO AGREEMENT

Maintains that Individual Certificates Are Different Propositions from State and Open Deposits.

Something of a controversy has arisen among the banks of Omaha as to the per cent to be paid on time deposits. The debated rates are 3 per cent, which has been paid by the Omaha banks for deposits for a term of one year, and 3 1/2 per cent, the proposed increase. The First National bank has broken away and is now paying 3 1/2 per cent on time deposits.

"There is nothing in the nature of an agreement between the bankers in regard to the interest to be paid," said C. T. Kountze, president of the First National, when interrogated in regard to the situation. The rates paid by this bank since I have been here have been changed probably eight or nine times."

No Relation Between the Two. "The rate paid on state and city deposits has no relation to that paid to the private depositor. The private depositor gets no bond, while we must give bond to the state. Then, too, the interest of 3 1/2 per cent is paid only on deposits for at least one year. Such deposits cannot be withdrawn in less time, and, on the other hand, the state and city deposits are subject to withdrawal at any time."

Mr. Kountze declared that he did not believe that the increase of a half per cent in interest would have an appreciable effect on the amount of deposits.

Bold, Bad Man Hanging Around

Robbers Take Enough Firearms to Start a Small Wild West Show.

There is a bad man hanging round. A box car burglar stole enough light ordnance from a Burlington car near the Douglas street bridge Friday night to equip three cowpunchers or stage "Young Wild West" for the most exact audience.

The loot taken comprises four big caliber revolvers, a "Texas" holster and 20 rounds of ammunition. The robbery was discovered and reported to the police by C. E. Morse, special officer. The serial numbers of the revolvers is of record and will be of assistance in identifying the guns.
