AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Council Says Mrs. Garrat Must Establish Claim by Suit.

UNREST AMONG PACKERS' MEN

Labor Mass Meeting Held, at Which Effort is Made to Get Best Loggers to Aid the Trunkers.

The city council concerned itself with routine affairs last evening and little above the usual round occurred to add special interest.

The city attorney recommended that the application of Mrs. David C. Garrat for a pension under the Smith law be not allowed on the ground that the city had no fund from which to pay the pension. He said that he regretted to make this report because of the deserving features of the case. He declared in private that such a claim could be paid from the judgment fund, but that it would require a trial to establish such a claim.

The office of second assistant city attorney was created by the passage of the ordinance, which was introduced at the previous meeting. This assistant is required to take the place of the present claim agent and to attend to the police court details. After the passage of the ordinance, H. C. Murphy announced that he would appoint Robert E. McNally to this position. The regular assistant of the attorney has yet been announced. Miss Matilda Wagoner was appointed by McNally as his stenographer. The appointment is not subject to approval by the mayor or council.

The office of sidewalk inspector was created by a proposed ordinance and a salary of $75 was provided.

Bids were opened for the pavement of the alley between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth streets from D to E. Dan Hansen appeared to be the low bidder.

The council agreed to sit as a Board of Equalization on May 10 and 11. A contract for a sanitary sewer on Twenty-seventh street was awarded to G. E. Beck. The city clerk made a report of his appointments.

Labor Mass Meeting.
A labor meeting was held last night at the Labor Temple and an effort was made to get the best loggers of South Omaha to go out in sympathy with the truckers and loaders of the packing houses and to make a further demand for increased pay on their own part.

The representatives of the loggers met in a private committee room and voted 7 to 4 against going out at this time. The efforts of the labor agitators were then directed to calling a general strike. The first move was the appointment of a committee to call on the packers today and to place for the striking truckers and in the event of unsatisfactory results to call a general mass meeting this evening to consider the advisability of a general strike. The matter of asking for a representative from the business men to go with the strikers was rejected. Jake Davis presided over the meeting. Speeches were made by George Stewart, P. C. Caldwell and a number of others. Finally Jerry Howard was called and made one of his characteristic speeches. He denounced the committee of the Central Labor union which ejected him from the ranks of organized labor.

Thrifty Farmers Hold Hogs.
The temptation of fabulous prices does not induce the thrifty farmers of the state to depote their hog lots, but many are taking the view that now is the time to keep in the business and raise more hogs for the market of next year. Such is the belief of S. Street of Overton, Neb., who is down from the Elm creek country of Valley county with a good consignment. He said: "Many farmers in our section have let all their hogs go, even the brood sows upon which they depended for the next year's product. I can't understand why they should do that. I have seventy small pigs and will have some later in the season. The prices are high this year, more than we ever expected to get, but what does it matter if we sold all our hogs and went out of business? Then we could not enjoy the good prices any longer. I have advised my friends to keep back their breeding animals."

"There is another class of farmers who sell out as soon as prices get below 5 or 6 cents. That is wrong, too, for the price will be sure to advance again. It doesn't matter what we can get for our hogs if we haven't got them. The best way is to keep steadily in the business and feed carefully."

"We have little politics up in our end of the state. We haven't heard of 'county option' and I doubt if many know what it means. I think the farmers in our county would vote 'wet,' but couldn't say about the rest."

Parents Held Responsible.
The attention of the street commissioner has been directed to numerous cases of wanton destruction of property by gangs of boys in all parts of the city. This destruction is especially directed toward sidewalks. Not only the wooden walks are torn up, but they pry up bricks from all the walks where they can be moved. The street commissioner has taken steps to apprehend offenders of this kind and when any such boys are caught the parents will be held for the damage done by the boys. The boys seem to have no other than a destructive object, for most of the bricks are left scattered on the streets.

EASTERN BONIFACES WIN

Three Score Hotel Men and Families Entertained in Omaha.

SHOWN CITY IN AUTOMOBILES

Mayor Dahlin and Commercial Club Men Make Happy Addresses and New Englanders Say Nice Things of Omaha.

New England broke bread with Omaha Monday night. And it was a joyful occasion.

More than sixty hotel keepers and their families and friends visited Omaha Monday afternoon and saw all that there was to see of interest to anyone not acquainted with the city. The Omaha Commercial club provided automobiles to meet the party at the Union station at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, on its return from a convention at Los Angeles.

The whole party was shown over the city, and after seeing Omaha, they were taken to the Henahaw hotel and served a dinner, which more than satisfied the inner man. The dinner was given by the Omaha Hotel Men's association and nothing was lacking to give the New Englanders an opportunity to suggest that Omaha could not entertain as royally as any community.

Rome Miller was the presiding officer and he introduced the speakers of the evening with many compliments and won the assembly by his genial manner.

He first introduced Mayor Dahlin, who welcomed the visitors to Omaha. He said it was a pleasure to greet a body of citizens from the east who showed as much spirit as the party that was partaking of the entertainment provided by Omaha. He said it was a fine opportunity to show to those who had never taken in this part of the country that there was really something doing. He invited the visitors to look the town over and ascertain if we were not as much alive as any community on earth.

Omaha Warmed Their Soul.
Rev. W. A. Keefe of Norwich, Conn., replied to the welcoming speech of Omaha's mayor and said that the welcome received at the hands of the Omahans was warmer and more enthusiastic than any that had been extended to the party since they had left the New England shore. He said he was much impressed with Omaha and its progressive citizens and was glad of the opportunity to stop off and get acquainted.

F. J. Taggart, president of the Omaha Hotel Men's association also welcomed the eastern guests to the city and hoped that they would co-operate in bringing about an organization to better the conditions of the hotels of the country.

David Cole, chairman of the executive committee of the Commercial club, spoke a few words of good will to the visitors and offered the suggestion that Omaha was one of the principal cities of the western map. After an address by A. W. Jefferis, in which he asserted the east and the west should be combined in an effort to advance the welfare of the country in general, the easterners took their departure for home.

Not all the benefits of life insurance are confined to the beneficiary. The man who has successfully passed a medical examination has a right to hold his head up and feel his importance. His life insurance policy is a certificate that he is sound physically and that his habits are good. Insurance companies do not issue policies on lives impaired through dissipation or disease. As Uncle Sam declines applicants for service in the army or navy who fall below certain physical requirements and as railroad companies refuse to employ in their operating departments men with defective eyesight or hearing, so life insurance companies will not insure men and women whose medical examinations show them to be physically unsound or of intemperate habits. A life insurance policy is a privilege which everyone cannot enjoy.
