It's a wise head that is not carried away by the seductive definition of "BEST"—best clothing, for instance. The wise head investigates and finds out what is best for himself, for he realizes that big talk is mere sound, and it takes money to buy the BEST CLOTHING.

are the prices that every clothing store names for spring suits, and the wise head says "show me."

HOW TO WIPE OUT THE PESTS

Health Commissioner Connell Urges New City Ordinance.

TELLS METHODS OF SLAYING

Solution of Formalin Exposed in Room Will Kill Pests Quicker Than Anything Else Yet Discovered.

Speaking further of his caution to the people against flies, Health Commissioner Connell says altogether too little attention is given to keeping down or destroying this household pest.

"I am in favor of passing an ordinance in this city that will compel the placing of manure either in flyproof containers below ground or in boxes above ground that shall be covered with screens that flies cannot get through."

"Manure piles are the great breeding places of flies. Millions of them are frozen and die in the fall and winter, but their eggs have been deposited in a safe place for incubation. On a day like this we see one or two flies about and in a few days the first fly has a family of 3,000,000, more or less—generally more."

"Now, then, there is a way to get rid of them. Pick up all sorts of infection, especially where there are still outdoor closets and decaying matter of various kinds accessible to them. It can readily be seen that the flies are dangerous and should be destroyed."

Methods of Killing Pests.

Dr. Connell says the government investigators and the fly fighting committee of the American Civic association have recommended certain methods of killing flies. Carbolic acid can be used on a heated shovel. The vapor from twenty drops of the acid will kill the flies in a room. Bichloride of potash in solution will also do the work. One dram should be placed in two ounces of water with a little sugar added and the mixture placed in shallow dishes. This is not dangerous to human life. A solution of formalin or formaldehyde, a spoonful of the liquid to a pint of water, and exposed in a room, will kill flies with more surety than anything yet discovered. Or pyrethrum powder may be burned in a room if quick destruction is necessary.

Dr. Connell says absolute cleanliness is necessary to discourage flies and that all food should be screened, in stores and homes, where flies have gained a foothold. The sick should be especially protected from them by traps, flypaper, poisons or any other method that may seem best.

"Death and disease follow the fly," says the health commissioner. "Treat him and all his tribe as a deadly enemy."

The exorbitant rates from corn or butions may be avoided by applying Chamberlain's Liniment.

Bread Like Census Tonight.

NEW YORK, April 27.—What is known as the "bread line" census, the count of the city's pauper population, is scheduled for tonight. The peddlers of the homeless men and women in the parks and out-of-the-way corners of the city will be taken for the census tonight.

Mrs. Housewife:—There's a Happy Medium in Everything

This is especially true of baking—and it is just as true of baking powder. A solution of formalin or formaldehyde, a spoonful of the liquid to a pint of water, and exposed in a room, will kill flies with more surety than anything yet discovered. Or pyrethrum powder may be burned in a room if quick destruction is necessary.

Here's the "Full Value" in BAKING POWDER

Calumet, in the Standard 1 lb. can, sells at a moderate cost—but is great in all-round satisfaction. You use less of it—it makes the baking lighter, purer—more delicious. One baking will prove its superiority—try it. Ask your grocer and insist on Calumet. Free—large handsome tin—send for it and slip down 10¢ to your grocer.

The Cheap and Big Can Kind

In this can you get more substance but not more baking powder. It is great in quantity only—not in economy—not in satisfaction.

The Trust Kind

Good in price, little in quantity, it is the quality in a tin—ask for it.

SERUM FOR HOG CHOLERA

Department of Agriculture to Experiment in the West.

CONFIDENT PREVENTIVE FOUND

House Committee Favors Congressman Burke's Indian Bill—Dr. Robert Detailed to Cedar Rapids Station.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, April 27.—Special Telegram.—Senator Burke has been advised by Secretary Wilson that the Department of Agriculture is to detail an expert to conduct demonstrations in Nebraska showing the efficiency of a preventive and cure for hog cholera discovered by the bureau of animal industry.

At some point to be chosen later perfectly healthy swine will be secured, part of them inoculated with hog cholera serum, and then exposed to hog cholera.

The officers in the bureau of animal industry have such confidence in the efficiency of their preventive and cure that they feel sure this experiment will demonstrate to the swine breeders the value of their discovery and that the profit of swine breeding will be doubly increased by its use.

According to the state bureau of statistics of Nebraska, Nebraska lost 300,000 hogs from disease in 1909, most of these losses being caused by cholera. The value of these hogs has been placed at $4,500,000. The value therefore of any anti-toxin that would cure or prevent hog cholera at once becomes apparent. The secretary has not yet determined where demonstration will take place, but has promised that Dr. Robert will be there to provide for it within a short time.

For Burke's Indian Bill.

The house committee on Indian affairs today ordered a favorable report on Representative Burke's bill dealing generally with Indian allotments, estates and Indian reservations, which is intended to clear up many points now in dispute in administering the present laws. The bill provides for the determination of what are heirs of the deceased Indians, for the disposition of allotments of deceased Indians under the direction of the secretary of the interior. It also permits leasing of allotments and permits the holder of an allotment to make a will, a privilege never before enjoyed. It also permits an Indian to surrender his allotment to his children who may have no allotment of their own.

One provision of the bill carries punishment for anyone who makes a contract or executes a deed purporting to transfer any land held by the government in trust for Indians, also prohibiting such transfers of personal property of any Indian.

Cutting timber on any reservation or allotment without consent of the government is prohibited. The sale of timber on an allotment is permitted with the consent of the secretary of the interior.

The bill authorizes the secretary of the interior to reserve lands in Indian reservations for power purposes, for reservoirs, for irrigation, and also authorizes the secretary to cancel Indian patents for land included in any tract reserved for these purposes.

The bill repeals the present law permitting allotments to Indians who may come from Canada or Mexico and claim relation with the tribes in the United States, and also a provision authorizing allotments to Indian children indefinitely.

Tangled Web of Copper Deal Snared Broker

Criminal Proceedings in New York Involve Leonard J. Field on Serious Charges.

NEW YORK, April 27.—Another complication in the tangled criminal proceeding in connection with the Windsor Trust loan transaction developed today with the indictment on charges of perjury and grand larceny of Leonard J. Field of the brokerage firm of L. J. Field & Co. Field surrendered and gave bail in $15,000 on each charge.

In the trial of Donald L. Persch, on charges growing out of the transaction, which resulted in a disagreement, John D. Sherwood, another defendant, who was formerly cashier for Field, testified that Field furnished the $10,000 used in the alleged conspiracy to take up $10,000 of bonds copper sold and had been pledged with the trust company. This stock, it was testified, was sold for $20,000, and, according to Sherwood's story, Field received $10,000 of the proceeds.

Field was a witness before the grand jury that originally indicted Persch, Sherwood, Charles Katz and Walter L. Clark.

New Lumber Plant.

Geo. W. Platter, who for twenty-two years has been associated with the company now known as The H. P. Cady Lumber company, and sold his interests there on April 1, has a complete working organization for a new company, which will be known as The Platter Lumber company. On the very day that this transaction occurred, new trunks were purchased comprising ten lots on R. & M. trackage at Twenty-fifth and Oak, adjoining C. W. Hall's new yard on the north, which is considered the best available, being between the two cities and on the corner of things. His brothers, Louis N. and Justin C., will be associated with him. G. W. Platter has been for the west, visiting all prominent points of interest and to buy western stock. He will conduct a wholesale and retail business on just as large a scale as any of his competitors. The construction of the new plant, which is to be a substantial nature, being all of cement foundation and heavy galvanized iron roofs.

Commercial Club Keeping an Eye on Water Works

May Move as a Body, Says President Allen, When Supreme Court Decision is In.

The Omaha Commercial club is watching the waterworks situation and may move in the matter when the decision of the supreme court is announced. President Edgar Allen of the club, discussing the situation and the Bee's editorial comment thereon, said:

"The Commercial club has not so far as I know, ever given the matter any consideration, as an organization. That may appear a little strange at first blush, but the whole question has come up in such form that there seemed nothing for a commercial organization to do. Possibly we will give the matter some consideration when a decision is announced by the supreme court."

President Barlow of the water-board was asked if the board has given any thought to what its action will be in the event of the city having to take over the plant, or otherwise.

"We have not," said Mr. Barlow. "I saw The Bee article, but of course the board does not take official note of those things. As to what we may do in any given event, that is something like buying a railroad ticket. Nobody buys a ticket until he knows where he is going. We will have to wait until the United States supreme court decides the case now under consideration before we can attempt to inform the public as to the course we will pursue."

President Burmaster and a good many of his colleagues have discussed among themselves the dilemma in which the city may find itself, whichever way the decision goes. They agree that the bond issue to take over the plant is but the beginning of the expense likely to be involved in putting the plant into proper condition to care for the needs of this growing city; but what they can or will do in the matter if anything, must await developments. The councilmen are not disposed to sit idly by much longer.

Governor Folk Sounding West

Prospective Democratic Candidate for Presidential Nomination "Feeling Out" Sentiment.

Friends of Governor Folk are canvassing the western states on his proposed candidacy for the democratic presidential nomination. Thomas C. Hennings, an attorney of St. Louis, is in Omaha today, calling on Mayor Dahlman and other influential democrats in behalf of the former governor of Missouri. He will go from Omaha to Lincoln, to sound sentiment in the home of the three-time standard bearer.

"While Governor Folk has not yet announced his candidacy for the presidency, he is giving the question very serious consideration," said Mr. Hennings. "We feel that, as the originator, to a large extent, of the reform wave that has swept the country, Folk is the most promising candidate the democracy could nominate. Just now Governor Harmon of Ohio is large in the public eye, and Governor Marshall of Indiana is a prospective candidate, with Mayor Gaynor of New York in the distance. Our prospectors have found a great deal of friendliness to Governor Folk, and we believe that as the days go by he will grow in strength. The west, we feel, is with him pretty solidly."

Harry A. Stone Sues for Wage

Field Worker of Anti-Saloon Organization Asks Judgment for $74 Against Employers.

Harry A. Stone, formerly a stellar luminary in the Anti-Saloon league, is now plaintiff in county court against the Anti-Saloon league, thus proving not only that the best of friends must part, but that sometimes they do not part amicably.

Mr. Stone asks the league to pay him $74 alleged due as salary. The petition avers that his contract lasted from October 15 to December 31, 1909, and that his compensation was to be $100 a month. Of this, $74, the plaintiff says, remains unpaid.

Marna S. Poulson is made a co-defendant with the Anti-Saloon league of Nebraska. Mr. Poulson is the state superintendent. Whether or not the filing of Stone's suit had anything to do with it, there was a conference of leading members of the league held a few minutes later in the office of Rev. J. M. Leidy, superintendent of the Omaha district of the league.

Missing Child Under the Bed

Police Find Baby Whom Parents Feared that Robbers Had Stolen.

The missing child was found under the bed.

When Morris Burnish and his wife awakened this morning they found that thieves had ransacked their rooms and taken clothes and edibles. Their year-old and a half-old baby was also missing. Among other things missing were three pairs of trousers, two shirts, three quarts of whiskey, a gallon of wine and ten pounds of Jewish crackers.

A call for police took Detective Devore to the house. After a search of the premises he found the baby quietly asleep under the bed. It appears that the baby had fallen out of bed and as it was too young to crawl back, it went to sleep.

FAMOUS NORSE POET DEAD

Bjornstjerne Bjornson Passes Away in Paris After Long Illness.

NOTABLE CAREER AS REFORMER

Writings Aimed at Government Reform of Extensive Circulation—Was Advocate of Universal Peace.

PARIS, April 27.—Bjornstjerne Bjornson, the Norwegian poet, novelist and dramatist, reformer and advocate of universal peace, died here last night, surrounded by his family. His end was peaceful.

The last serious illness of the novelist extended over nearly a year. He was brought to Paris for special treatment in the early part of last November, accompanied by his wife and daughter, a physician and nurse, and during part of the journey travelled with the king of Denmark in the king's private car.

Bjornstjerne Bjornson was born at Kvikne, Osterdalen, Norway, December 8, 1832. His father was a clergyman. He completed his education at the Universities of Christiania and Copenhagen, and first became known in consequence of some articles and stories which he contributed to newspapers.

In 1857 he returned from abroad and was first director of the theater in Bergen and afterwards for a short time editor of the Journal Aftenbladet, in Christiania.

As a journalist Bjornson expressed strong republican opinions, which aroused considerable public excitement. Finally he was condemned to a year's imprisonment for treason, but escaped to Germany and afterwards to America and did not return to Christiania until 1882. Once more he began the work of agitation against the government and the union of the two Scandinavian kingdoms. It was Ole Bull who appointed him to the directorship of the Bergen theater, and in 1887 he put on the stage "Hilja Hilda" and "Mellom Slagene."

Other notable plays written by him are "Kong Sverre," "Sigurd Stenbe" and "The Tragedy of Mary Stuart." His comedy, "Hanneke," was translated for the English stage in 1894.

Bjornson's first novel, "Sinnig Eke Solbakken," appeared in 1867 and on the celebration of its fiftieth anniversary at Christiania the novelist received an enormous number of greetings from all countries. It was followed by "Arne," a sketch of Norwegian country life; "A Happy Boy" and "The Fisher Maiden," both stories of the peasantry.

As a lyric poet, Bjornson took high rank. He even attempted the composition of epic verse. He was a voluminous writer and dramatist and in all his work strove to become a vehicle of national feeling, seeking to give expression to the Norwegian spirit. He was looked upon as one of the most stimulating influences for the revival of Scandinavian literature.

Odd Fellows Join On Anniversary Day

Ninety-First Recurrence of Day Observed by Omaha Members of the Order.

Omaha, State, Beacon and Wana lodges celebrated Tuesday night in Odd Fellows hall, corner Fourteenth and Dodge streets, the ninety-first anniversary of the founding of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows in the United States. Some 400 took part in the rejoicing, and following addresses by prominent members of the Odd Fellow and Rebekah lodges there was a dance and refreshments. S. R. Patton spoke on the home which the order is erecting at York, Neb., and Dr. Jacob told of what the Rebekahs are doing in the direction of furnishing the new institution. Judge William Eastman entertained the company with reminiscences of the work of the order in the state; Past Grand Master Clark O'Hanlon addressed the assembly on the subject of "Odd Fellowship and Good Citizenship," and Judge A. L. Sutton's topic appropriately was "Odd Fellowship in Relation to the Children."

Jonathan lodge of Florence celebrated the event with appropriate exercises at the Presbyterian church. The musical program consisted of violin solos, songs and music by the church choir. The speakers were Rev. George S. Sloan and William Larkin. A large crowd was in attendance and those present spent an enjoyable evening.

Former Lincoln Man Disappears, Friends Worry

Charles A. Smith of St. Louis Fails to Return to Work and Grain Firm Investigates.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 27.—(Special Telegram.)—The disappearance of Charles Smith, 403 Cleveland avenue, cashier of the Cochrane Grain company, has led Manning W. Cochrane of the company, formerly of Lincoln, Neb., who is president of the Merchants' exchange, to engage an expert accountant to go over the company's books. Cochrane today said a cursory examination showed everything in good order. Smith worked until noon Saturday, but did not return from lunch. He has a wife and 10-year-old daughter. Mrs. Smith called at the company's office today to enquire regarding her husband. When employees were unable to enlighten her she became hysterical. Smith has been with the Cochrane Grain company five years, coming from Lincoln, Neb. When he first entered the employ of the company he was under $5,000 bond, but the bond had expired and had not been renewed.

THAT IS WHAT most women say when the grocer asks them what kind of laundry soap they want.

IT ISN'T surprising.

LENOX IS NOT A NEW SOAP. It is not an experiment. There is no special method of using it. The cost is low—but not too low. The quality is high. The shape is convenient. Best of all, Lenox Soap does the work it is intended to do. THESE THINGS BEING TRUE, do you wonder why so many women say, "Why, Lenox—of course?"
