Row Over Fence is Aired in Court

Injunction is Asked For to Prevent the Rebuilding of Auburn Hill Fence.

Trouble clouds are floating about the crest of Auburn hill.

Mrs. Nellie Reynolds and Peter Melchior cannot agree about the division fence that lines their property. The disagreement has been stewing and sputtering for several seasons and has now broken out in district court.

Mrs. Reynolds has filed a petition praying an injunction against Mr. Melchior to restrain him from replacing this objectionable fence, which she has had torn down. She remarks in her petition that it obstructs ingress and egress from her property and that it really is built across a public highway, same and said, being much to her inconvenience and discontentment.

A temporary restraining order has been granted by Judge Sutton and the case will be argued May 7.

JEOPATISPO GOTTA DA MAN

Banana Agent Goes on Trial for Too Promiscuous Use of da Stilllett.

Gotta Jeopatipo will be the first defendant in the criminal branch of district court when the May term opens.

Jeopatipo had an argument with a fellow Italian in a boarding house, and moral suasion failing, used a knife, it is alleged, on the other disputant.

Who Gotta cut does not appear.

A Life Problem Solved by that great health tonic, Electric Bitters, is the enrichment of poor, thin blood and strengthening the weak. 60c. For sale by Boston Drug Co.

SOROSIS

The numerous up-to-date patterns in the spring and summer styles of Sorosis often causes the question to arise—

WHICH ONE?

The new vamps are short and the arches high, giving a decidedly different appearance to the foot than from last year's fitting.

Black Suede, Bull Kid and Patent Kid, are the three most popular leathers. Monograms are $3.00 Sorosis, $3.50 and $4.00
