SUNDAY DINNER MARKET BASKET

What the Market Affords for the Sunday Dinner

Sunday Dinner Menu.
Baked Fillet of Veal, New Peas, Dry New Potatoes with Cream Dressing, Radishes, Cream Salad Dressing, Strawberry Ice Cream, Coffee.

If the fillet of veal is carefully tied after stuffing, it may be sliced down when cold, making a tasty dish for luncheon. The dressing may be seasoned to taste with sage or with cooked peas and these highly seasoned. Where peas are used they should be cooked until almost done, but not so they will mash. Drain them and then scatter through the bread dressing. A dash of onion gives tone to this dressing.

Green garden stuff still shows some effect of the frost, but in the main it is nice, though a trifle more expensive than it was. The home grown garden truck promised so recently is, of course, delayed, but the variety is as extensive as it has been. Asparagus is selling today for 10 cents a bunch, although it looks wilted and white. New potatoes are 10 cents a pound or three pounds for 25 cents. Tomatoes are among the satisfactory things, being firm and ripe, and they sell for 10 and 15 cents a pound. Lettuce, cabbage, celery and all the bunch has little change in price.

Strawberries are a real temptation, though selling at 10 cents a pint. They are large and red and sweet and the commission men say will continue fine now until the home grown crop—or what is left of it—comes in. Prospects are not bright for this source of supply and the housewife who would be sure of her supply of strawberry preserves will do well to watch the market carefully.

Big, heavy, thin-skinned grapefruit is selling for 12 1/2 and 15 cents each and good eating apples sell for 35 and 40 cents a peck. Cherries sell at 40 cents a pound, but they are pale and green looking and small. A few pineapples are to be had at 25 and 30 cents each and bananas continue high and scarce.

Butter has dropped a few cents, the best package creamery selling for 30 and 35 cents a pound. Eggs range from 33 to 26 and 20 cents a dozen, according to their freshness, which in the higher priced variety is reckoned by the hour.

It is well worth the while of the woman who cares about the unusual thing to make a visit to some of the large grocery departments. The most delightful surprises come already prepared in bottles and cans and jars, while substitutes for the staples that have soared out of reach are available at prices that encourage the woman of limited means to continue keeping house.

Peanut butter is to be had by the pound for 15 and 20 cents and peanut oil, an admirable substitute for olive oil and for frying fats, sells for $2 a gallon or $1.25 a half gallon. It also comes in bottles, selling at from 25 to 40 and 75 cents according to their size.

Prize poultry was quoted wholesale this morning as follows: Hens, 15 cents a pound, roosters 12 1/2 cents, ducks 20 cents, geese 15 cents, turkeys 25 cents, spring chickens 20 cents, fresh broilers 40 cents and frozen broilers $6 a dozen.

Attorney Finds Himself Divided

Judge Slabaugh Must Argue Both Ways in Two Suits to Win for His Clients.

Former Judge W. W. Slabaugh is in a difficult position. In the suit of Mrs. Cora Cronk against George Cronk he must argue that the motion for alimony grant to pay for a hospital operation is just and righteous; in a similar plea by Mrs. Grace Hutton Judge Slabaugh must enforce that negative.

The Cronk motion comes up before Judge Troup Saturday; the Hutton motion was before Judge Sutton Friday, but went over a week.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its cures of coughs, colds and croup.

Cutting Coffee

Ever hear of it? That is the up-to-date method, instead of crushing it we cut it. In this way the oil, the real virtue in coffee, is retained. The old way allows the oil to evaporate. All dust and chaff removed by our new machine—the only one in Omaha. The coffee is more wholesome, better flavored and easier to make than anything on the Omaha market. We know what the people want, and we are supplying it. Alocha Mixture, 25c. 3 lbs. for $1.00. Excelsior Blend 25c.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Little Likelihood of Strike Among the Carmen.

AGREEMENT FINALLY REACHED

No Such Thing as Ultimatum Suggested, It is Claimed—No Protests of Saloon Licenses.

The management of the Joint Car Inspectors' association gave a fairer outline last night of the situation in South Omaha regarding the scale of wages offered to the men engaged in the business in the city. It was said the association had no idea of the possibility of a strike. The men in the employ had asked an advance over a year ago and there had been some discussion of the question ever since. It was the intention of the association to adjust this request when a meeting was called over two weeks ago. The matter was not concluded at that time, so adjournment was taken and the session was resumed yesterday.

After being in session most of the forenoon and part of the afternoon it was given out last night an agreement was reached. It is said the agreement removes all points of difference between the association and its men. The talk of a strike emanated from some of the workmen who had discussed it as a possibility, but it is said that no such thing as an ultimatum had been suggested. The scale was changed in several ways and an advance in pay amounting to from 5 to 10 per cent was allowed to most classes of work. The strike talk has had a demoralizing effect on the South Omaha market during the week.

False Rumors of Protests.

It was officially announced by the secretary of the Anti-Saloon league of Douglas county last night that the league has no intention of protesting any of the South Omaha saloon licenses. These licenses are to be granted before May 1 and most of the saloon men have already paid in their license fee and furnished bond. Of late rumors have been given prominence that the league intended to interfere. On the other hand, the league has announced that it would compel observance of the law by the saloon men when the license was granted insofar as able.

Railroad Assessment Complete.

The city tax commissioner, J. M. Fitzgerald, completed the assessment of the South Omaha railroad property and sent the same to the state board yesterday afternoon. The railroads are assessed this year at about $1,971,000, which represents a raise of $26,750 over that of the previous year. The increase was based on some small increase in the trackage of the city and upon a number of items formerly not reckoned with. The rolling stock is added by the state board and it is likely the total will be fully $2,500,000. From now on the tax commissioner's office will be very busy making the annual assessment.

Y. M. C. A. Campaign.

The campaign for funds for the work of the South Omaha Young Men's Christian association is progressing nicely and is up to the expectations for the early part of the campaign. A large blackboard, bearing the record of the amounts subscribed by the various teams, stands in the window at the South Omaha Loan and Building association, just north of the postoffice.

The various teams are expected to report not less often than once every two days, so that all who are interested may see the progress of the fund.

At a mass meeting of boys at the high school Thursday afternoon, about fifty declared their intention of getting out for the parade, which will form at the Young Men's Christian association building Satur-

Women Best Census Takers

Feminine Tact Proves Efficient in Gathering of Statistical Information for Government.

Pandora opened the fatal box and bequeathed thereby all of human woe but peace to her memory, she proved herself a real woman at any rate. She found out what was inside. The desire of woman-kind to find out the inside, together with the fact that she has developed in succeeding generations since Pandora's experiment, is proving valuable to the census department. The women enumerators are bringing in the best and most satisfactory returns, according to the Omaha officials of the census bureau.

Magie City Gossip.

Mrs. E. H. Roberts is better during this week after a long illness.

Allege Phone Conspiracy

Independents of Kansas Call Attention to Methods of the Bell Interests.

TOPEKA, Kan., April 28.—At the convention of the independent telephone men of Kansas here today resolutions were adopted calling attention of federal and state authorities to the telephone war between the independent and the so-called "Bell" interests and characterized the methods of the latter as an "unlawful conspiracy."

Merz Loses Gold Auto Race Medal

Trophy is Taken from His Room by Some One with "Collection Mania."

A golden medal won by C. C. Merz, an automobile driver, in the races at Indianapolis last year, was stolen from his room, 307 South Seventeenth street, Thursday night.

Merz took the first medal in one of the most daring speed contests held on that track. The medal is valued at $50 for the metal it contains alone.

The theft of the Transmississippi medals from the public library, coupled with the theft of the medal Thursday night, and other peculiar robberies, lead the police to the belief that the operator has the "collection mania."

Ladies' Shoes Specialized-at Challenge Prices

A woman cannot stave off the necessity for "low cut" shoes a day longer—SOME shoe house is going to SELL her a pair.

But WHICH shoe house? Will she pay $1—$1.50—even $2 more than she NEED to—just to be possessed of some new wrinkle in style?

She DOESN'T have to pay any additional price for ANY new quip of style HERE. Every "shoe hit" for spring, 1910, is in our basement at prices that fairly BURN into the memory of economists.

Think of it! $1.95 and $2.45 per pair—with ALL the style you'll find at HIGHER prices.

"Low Cuts"—A Festival of Petite Styles

We've more than one style of Blucher Oxfords that YOU'LL vote extraordinary at $1.95 and $2.45—we've positive SURPRISES in the Ankle Strap Pumps shown at the same popular pricing.

Patent leathers, gun metals, tans, kid leathers—in fact, we've any style in any leather.

The best part of it all is that every shoe here is a "regular"—meaning that the sizes run complete—and the styles are not "outcasts" from previous seasons.
