BETTER ETHICS FOR DOCTORS
 President of State Medical Society Says Experts Are Useless.
DISCREDIT THE PROFESSION
 Spirit of Commercialism Which Extracts Unnecessary Fees for Treating Mild Cases Roundly Condemned.

LINCOLN, Neb., May 10.—(Special.)—Taking the stand that the medical expert should be eliminated from the witness stand in criminal and civil suits, Dr. L. H. Salter of Norfolk, Neb., president of the Nebraska State Medical Association, tonight recommended legislation in this state, such as has been enacted in one or two other states provided for the appointment of a commission of competent medical men by the county to assemble the medical data in a given case and then to report their findings to the jury. He declared that the wide difference of opinion given to juries by so-called medical experts, based on the same data, holds up the medical profession to public criticism and works for a miscarriage of justice.

"How can we expect a jury to twelve men who know nothing of medicine to form an idea as to the truth of the case at hand when one doctor will solemnly testify on his oath that the victim could have died only from strychnine poisoning and when another, called by the opposing side in the case and of corresponding high repute will testify that the victim positively did not die from strychnine poisoning?" asks the doctor in his address.

"The jury is left to guess at the facts," he continued, "and the situation justifies my guess that they may hazard because the scientists, who are supposed to be authorities in these questions that the laymen has not studied, have given the jury the widest possible range for a verdict and has become responsible for any finding that may be made varying all the way from guilty of murder in the first degree to the extreme of not guilty at all."

"I contend that a commission of scientists trained along medical lines would be able to form a very much more intelligent conclusion as to the merits of a given medical problem than a jury of twelve men who know nothing of the technical points involved save what they are told by the contradictory experts."

Department of Health.
 The president appealed for united support of the pending federal legislation creating a department of health. He emphasizes the need of vigorous action by the medical fraternity as well as the public for a still greater crusade against tuberculosis which he declared is the cause of one-third the deaths in this country and half of those who die between the ages of 15 and 35 years.

Dr. Salter took occasion to deplore the spirit of commercialism which is creeping into the practice of medicine. He declared there is frequently a tendency to exploit patients solely for the extraction of a

RAIL COMMISSION SAT UPON
 Maine Man Writes Stinging Letters to Nebraska Board.

SHELDON MAY ENTER RACE
 Former Governor Considering Candidacy for Chief State Executive Job, but Also Hanks for Senatorship.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
 LINCOLN, May 10.—(Special.)—The state railway commission has received another letter from the chairman of the Maine state railway commission, but it will not for issue press at this time. In fact, the commission has issued orders to the office help that certain death and destruction awaits anyone who even mentions that letter, let alone dare to furnish it to the press.

The first letter received from the Maine chairman was in answer to the letter from the Nebraska commission asking what the chairman of the board had to say about a job, which should be appointed to the United States Supreme court. The Maine letter writer said the suggestion was silly, an insult to the president and several other things which he said he hoped the commission could understand. The Nebraska commission wrote back and asked "why?" to all these statements and what the chairman of the board had used the word "silly" throughout the letter when it had been meant for the entire commission.

Well, this second letter, which has been under discussion by the "advisers" of the commission for several days not only reiterates what the Maine commission thinks of the suggestion of the "silly" was used, but the letter was addressed to the chairman of the Maine commission.

The other letters which have been received from commissions over the country are also suppressed for the present, as C. W. Bryan and Will Owen Jones have not got together on whether it would be "etiquette" to publish them.

Sheldon May Run.
 It is not among the impossibilities that George L. Sheldon will be a candidate for the republican nomination for governor. When he was here some time ago, Governor Sheldon said if he were a candidate he had his preference in regard to the office, which was taken to mean he would prefer the senate. But E. G. Maggi, who held the position of chief clerk in the executive office, when Sheldon was governor, is authority for the statement that the Nebraska man is going to be a candidate.

 L. J. Quinby of Omaha today filed his name with the secretary of state as a candidate for the democratic nomination for congress in the Second district.

HITCHCOCK READY TO FILE FOR RACE
 W. B. Price Comes to Omaha to Tell Congressman Price Alone Has a Show.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
 LINCOLN, May 10.—(Special.)—It is evident Mr. Hitchcock is willing to risk $50 on the chance of winning the republican nomination for the World-Herald, Mr. Hitchcock's paper, has telephoned to Secretary of State Junkin for filing blanks, indicating that while in Nebraska Mr. Hitchcock will file his name for the senate.

W. B. Price has not yet let loose of his $50, but he went to Omaha to confer with the avowed purpose of asking Mr. Hitchcock to get out of the race and permit him to go it alone as the democratic candidate, and thus save the Omaha candidate the humiliation of getting defeated.

"I am satisfied I will win the nomination," Mr. Price said to Omaha friends, "and the use of Mr. Hitchcock getting into the race and getting his feelings harrowed up for nothing." Upon his return Mr. Price may have something to say.

In the meantime a might close friend of Mr. Bryan asked the peerless leader to get behind Richard L. Metcalfe and have the thing over with. It was urged on Mr. Bryan that if he said the word Metcalfe would be nominated hands down, but the peerless leader was not at that time making any nominations. He answered, so it was reported, in the same old way: "They are all friends of mine and, of course, I can take no hand."

Which is taken to mean that rather than choose between god friends Mr. Bryan may have to get into the running yet, and have them all support him.

GOOD GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION FORMED
 Both Farmers and Business Men of Superior Organize to Suppress Thieving.

SUPERIOR, Neb., May 10.—(Special.)—The call issued for a meeting Saturday for the purpose of organizing an anti-horse thief association was responded to by hundreds of men, and a meeting was held at a rooming house in the city. A discussion was held and it was discovered that the thieving going on over the country was not confined alone to the taking of horses, but that it covered almost every possible thing of value, including cattle, chickens, harness, bicycles, corn, hay, etc. Taking into consideration these conditions, it was thought best to perfect an organization which would be a sort of vigilance committee or good government committee.

W. A. Huff was chosen chairman of the temporary organization and Mayor E. Bonemann, Jr., secretary. Committees were appointed and work of securing new members began with the result that nearly 100 names have been enrolled as charter members. It is the intention of those interested to make it a county and an interstate association, as Jewell county is adjoining on the south and the farmers all work together.

E. D. Donahoe was elected chairman of the association; Hugh Allison, secretary, and W. R. Kirkpatrick, treasurer. The meeting adjourned to May 21.

Dependent, Hangs Himself.
 YORK, Neb., May 10.—(Special.)—F. B. Dagg, one of the oldest residents and business men of York, has committed suicide. Not returning home last evening, a search was made and at about 129 this morning his son, Roland, found him in his office dead from strangulation, caused by hanging. The deceased was one of the pioneer business men of York and for years was engaged in various kinds of business. In the panic of 1893 is supposed to have lost nearly all his property and since that time he had been engaged in writing insurance. In a letter found on him he stated that he had no money to pay rent nor enough to live and that he thought it best to die.

York Business Man Dies.
 YORK, Neb., May 10.—(Special.)—Telegrams received announced the death of Joseph Boyer at Los Angeles, Cal. He was engaged in business in York for twenty-five years and only recently moved to California, and each year spent from two to four months living in York. Mr. Boyer was a large property owner here, owning several business blocks. Coming here in the early '70s, he homesteaded northwest of York and after living on the farm a few years moved to York and engaged in business. He was known by all and highly respected.

ROAD MEETING AT SUPERIOR
 Commercial Club and Farmers Working for Good Highway

SUPERIOR, Neb., May 10.—(Special.)—The Superior Commercial club has raised $1,000 to be spent in road improvements leading into Superior. It recently held a big meeting and entertained its farmer friends at a banquet at which several speakers were present and everybody talked for good roads. The Commercial club has hung up several cash prizes to the farmers who will make the best miles of road in a given time. The county commissioners have agreed to provide waterways and bridges when necessary if the farmers will build the roads. With the help of the Commercial club and commissioners the farmers have pledged to make over twenty miles of good roads leading into Superior.

Funeral services will be held at Kearney, with interment in Prairie Home cemetery, near this city.

Water is on at Mindoka
 Government Gets Flood Into Laterals on New Project.

MORE IDAHO LAND RECLAIMED
 People Rejoice Over the Completion of the Great Irrigation Works and Business Shows Benefit Already.

Leonard Fowler, vice-president of the Mindoka Trust company, general sales manager of the Kenyon Townsite company and general "all around booster" for Idaho, arrived from Burley, Ida., last night and is quartered at the Henshaw.

"The United States Government Reclamation service, at last, has turned the water into our laterals at Burley," said Mr. Fowler, last night, "and the whole country is rejoicing. The people of the United States have spent more than a million dollars building a dam at Mindoka, across the Snake river, and we will have hundreds of thousands of acres feet of water for the land, which until now has proved entirely worthless. The state of Idaho will hold an auction of 1200 acres on May 27 and Burley will soon take on the metropolitanism of Twin Falls."

"Not many Omaha people know that Burley is named after D. E. Burley, who used to be here with the Union Pacific railway. There are hundreds of oldtimers, who know all about "Dan" Burley, as he is known throughout all of the western country.

"W. D. Kenyon, formerly the general cashier of the Pacific Express company, before he removed to St. Louis, and a resident of Omaha for more than eighteen years, is out there. Kenyon is the president of the Kenyon Townsite company, director in the Burley State bank, one of the David Eccles institutions, and president of the Glenn-Dale syndicate, which owns 3,000 acres of the finest land in the world along the banks of the Snake river, about four miles from the great Milner dam, built by Archie Milner, formerly of Atlantic City, Ia. That Milner dam cost Archie Milner and his associates more than $10,000,000, and has watered and brought into bearing 1,000 square miles of land, every foot of which is under cultivation today.

"The Idaho Southern railway, which the Kuhns of Pittsburgh built to get to their Okla. project, because the Union Pacific didn't move fast enough for them, was opened the day I left Oakley and I had ticket nine, on the first train out of Milner. They will extend the road, eventually to reach through to Spokane.

"The Union Pacific has just finished laying the ties between Burley and Oakley, and Van Cleave and a bunch of Chicago millionaires were there last week thinking of building a road from Burley to Albion and thence on over the Goose Creek Hills to the Raft river country.

"Sam Rich, one of the wealthiest men in the state of Idaho, and a farmer of national reputation, has just begun the development of one farm of 10,000 acres on the Mindoka project. His son, S. Grover Rich, the cashier of the Burley State bank, of which David Eccles is the president, is looking after the details of what will be one of the largest producing orchards in the world.

"Burley is growing, so is Pocatello, American Falls, Buhl, and Twin Falls. In fact, the entire state is seething and bursting with an industrial awakening and the Schwanens and Louans with a wanderlust in their hearts are doing the most to develop the country.

"There are so many of them out there that it is like another part of Nebraska."

West Pointers May Be Feature of Ak-Sar-Ben
 Board of Governors Hears Favorable Report of Effort to Bring Men West—June Initiations.

West Point cadets may be one of the leading features of the Ak-Sar-Ben parade this year. Strong efforts are being made to secure the visit of the corps and not only are the senators and congressmen of the state, according to the reports submitted to the governors at a meeting in the Loyal hotel last night, lending their aid, but the interest of Senator Warren and Congressman Hull, chairman of the senate and house committees on military affairs, has been aroused as well. The idea is that the cadets who will number about 500 will have a circuit arranged for them appearing first at Des Moines, then at Omaha, proceeding thence to Cheyenne and Kansas City. It was hoped that the colored cavalry stationed at Fort D. A. Russell, Wyo., might also be permitted to figure in the parade, but from the latest communications received it is feared the military authorities will not give their consent. It was mentioned at the governors' meeting that Major General Frederick Smith, the new commander of the Department of the Missouri, is showing every desire to help the governors in making the year's affair one of the most successful since the initiation of the movement, which has given Omaha such a distinctive civic festival. The membership committee reported that without any solicitation 48 members had paid their assessment for this year.

The first initiations for 1910 are expected to take place the first Monday in June and it is stated that the ceremonies will be entirely different from last year.

The new button will be ready in a few days, the design having been approved by the governors. It is a very pretty piece of work and should have many wearers as much for its beauty as an ornament as its civic association. The button is in the form of a star surmounted by Nebraska's floral emblem, the golden rod. In the center is the name Ak-Sar-Ben and the year 1910 and underneath leaves of corn indicating the leading industry of the state.

For Croup there is nothing better than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

High School Cadets Going to Harlan
 Arrangements Completed for Visit of Young Men from Omaha to Iowa Town.

Although the board of Education has not yet made the official announcement it is practically decided that Harlan, Ia., has been selected for the annual encampment of the 500 cadets of the Omaha high school. The boys are expected to go June 4 and be in camp for a week or ten days. During that time they will have the advantage of regular military training under the direction of Lieutenant Haskell. Thursday, June 3, will be visitors' day and a special train has been arranged to convey the friends of the cadets from the city. That will be review day as well, and in the reviewing line with Colonel Glasford, commandant at Fort Omaha, will be Mayor Edmund Lockwood and ex-Mayor W. L. Baughn of Harlan.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its cures of coughs, colds and croup.
