

MAKING UP BOOSTERS' TRAIN

Special for Trade Excursionists to Be Ready Sunday.

"CON" BABCOCK ON THE JOB

Old Pullman Conductor Comes from Seattle to Chaperone Expedition—Railroad Men Will Go Along.

The trade boosters' railway caravan is being made up by the Northwestern...

The first piece of equipment for the trade excursionists arrived in Omaha Thursday morning. It is a fourteen section kitchen car for the use of George Green's band. It is a regular club car and its use for taking care of the band will solve a difficulty for the commissary committee.

Fullman Conductor Babcock has been brought from Seattle to handle the party. He is a veteran in the business as are the twelve porters who will comprise his crew.

Thirty telephones will be installed and anyone in Omaha can communicate with the train by calling Douglas 5044.

Railroad Men to Accompany. Among the railroad representatives who will accompany the party are F. Walters, general manager, Northwestern; S. F. Miller, general freight and passenger agent, Northwestern; G. F. West, general agent of passenger department, Northwestern; E. C. Griffin, general agent freight department, Northwestern; L. M. Costley, superintendent, Northwestern; C. H. Reynolds, superintendent, Northwestern; Eugene Duval, assistant general western agent, Milwaukee; L. B. Beardsley, superintendent, Milwaukee; R. P. Edson, superintendent, Milwaukee; C. L. Dwyer, general agent, Burlington, and C. C. Holtorf, assistant superintendent, Burlington.

General Manager Walters of the Northwestern has taken a personal interest in all of the arrangements and says he is determined to make it the best handled excursion that ever left Omaha.

The boosters will mix up with Halley's comet somewhere between Slickney and Chamberlain, S. D., as they make about eighteen towns on May 18. It is hard to predict what will happen when the comet's tail and the stars come together, but after sizing up the bunch, odds favor the boosters.

MRS. SARAH GOODMAN WILL BE BURIED IN CONNECTICUT

Body Rests in Vault at Forest Lawn Temporarily—Interesting Story in Devoted Life.

The funeral of Mrs. Sarah C. Goodman, who died Monday morning, was held Wednesday afternoon at the home, 222 Farmington street, and the body was placed in a receiving vault at Forest Lawn cemetery, where it will rest until summer when the daughters will take it to the old home in Connecticut for interment beside that of the husband and father, H. A. Goodman, who died in Omaha twenty-six years ago. The services at the home were conducted by Rev. Frederick T. Rouse, pastor of First Congregational church, of which the Goodmans have been members, the elder couple joining soon after its organization. Assisting Mr. Rouse was Rev. G. G. Rice of Council Bluffs, a life-long friend of the family, and himself 90 years of age. Many friends attended and there was a large bounty of floral tributes.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodman went from their Connecticut home to Galesburg, Ill., before the civil war. There they became acquainted with Rev. Mr. Rice and with him and other loyal unionists, formed a colony which went to Centralia, Kan., with the avowed purpose of aiding in making that territory a free state, when admitted to the union. From the eventful days of that stirring period until the day of her death, this bond of friendship remained unbroken and at her death the venerable clergyman came to pay his last tribute to Mrs. Goodman. He related to the daughters and company of friends at the home the interesting story of this friendship and spoke with affectionate regard of the devoted lives of both Mr. and Mrs. Goodman.

From Kansas the Goodmans came to Omaha, in 1866, and remained here continuously since. Mr. Goodman for many years was foreman at the Union Pacific shops, of what is known as the Lincoln shed, and the family has hosts of friends in this city.

Mr. Rouse, in his remarks, spoke of the conspicuous part Mrs. Goodman had always taken in the First Congregational church, where she was beloved as the oldest member, being 80 years of age.

Misses Ida and Mary Goodman, the daughters, are teachers in the public schools of Omaha.

DEEP WELL FOR CITY NATIONAL

Plan to Dig Under Building for Water Supply for the Tall Structure.

The new City National bank is to have its own water supply. If present plans mature, for every purpose except drinking, serious consideration is being given to the feasibility of sinking a well under the building from which the water supply will be drawn. So far no obstacles have been presented which would tend to discourage the project and those having the matter in charge intimate that the sinking of this supply well is practically a certainty.
