CHURCH SUPPERS UNDER BAN

Bishop Williams Condemns Money Raising This Way as Unchurchly.

PRIESTS WARNED ON DIVORCE

Head of Diocese Tells Rectors to Obey the Canon of the Church.

—Connell Sees Deacon Ordained.

The practice of giving entertainments, suppers and affairs of the kind for the purpose of raising money was attacked by Bishop A. L. Williams in an address before the forty-third annual council of the Diocese of Nebraska at Trinity Cathedral yesterday afternoon.

"It seems to me an unchurchly appeal, when an effort is made to give a contributor to the cause a material return for his money," said the bishop. "The gift without the giver is bare."

Bishop Williams also took occasion to call the attention of the clergy of the diocese to the regulations concerning the marriage of divorced persons. He demanded that they should adhere strictly to the canon of the church.

While the bishop offered criticism in no uncertain terms his address was marked by a note of optimism. He spoke with earnestness of the material and spiritual progress of the church in this state.

"There is a growing sense of the duty of the wealthy to leave in their wills bequests for church and charities," said the bishop. "The time is close at hand, when it will be deemed as much a duty as to provide for one's family."

The council session opened in Trinity Cathedral with an ordination service, John D. Rice being ordained deacon by Bishop Williams, who also preached the sermon.

At the close of the service, the council began its business session in the crypt of the cathedral.

Rev. William H. Moor and Rev. John Albert Williams were re-elected secretary and assistant, respectively.

Little Adventure with Costly Eggs

How A. D. Brandeis Watched a Prize Package All Night to Forget it in the Morning.

Now would you like to pay $10 for fifteen eggs?

If you did buy eggs at that price and kept them under water-fur protection for a 200-mile journey, how would you feel if you suddenly discovered that you had thoughtlessly left the precious package in the railway train?

Don't you think you would hurry back to see if the porter had imagined you were contributing to the dining car commissary?

And if, on regaining the coach, you found all fifteen eggs of the $10 purchase intact, don't you think the porter would come in for an extra tip?

Well, that's what actually happened as an incident of a business trip which A. D. Brandeis made with one of his buyers to Kansas City, where the only thing he bought was this prize package of fifteen eggs.

Of course he didn't expect to eat any such expensive victuals, but only to feed them to the incubator out at his suburban farm. Mr. Brandeis hugged those costly eggs all the way home without letting them get out of sight, even keeping one eye open all night to watch them, and then in his hurry to leave the train, forgot all about the eggs until his companion reminded him of them, and he flew back to find that he had been saved by a feather.

Boilers Blow Up Killing Fourteen Steel Workmen

Explosion Wrecks Plant Causing Death or Injury to Nearly Every Man in Building.

CANTON, O., May 18.—An investigation into the cause of the boiler explosion at the plant of the American Sheet and Tin Plate company plant yesterday afternoon, in which fourteen men were killed and thirty injured, is in progress today. Coroner Marsh of Stark county has found no one who was employed at the mill who is able to give an explanation for the accident.

Thirteen bodies were removed from the wrecked plant last night and an all-night search resulted in the finding of one more body early today. Several of the injured men are in critical condition and probably will die.

An examination showed that three of the boilers of seven boilers exploded the others being merely displaced by the concussion.

Big Irrigation Project in Wyoming

Joy Martin and Associates Deposit Bond to Complete Works at Riverton.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., May 18.—(Special.)—Joy Martin and other officers of the Wyoming Central Irrigation company, which is under contract with the state to construct canals to reclaim over 30,000 acres of land near Riverton, in the ceded portion of the Wind River Indian reservation, arrived from Chicago last night and today met with the State Land board, state engineer and other state officials. It is understood the company offered to withdraw from the state, providing some one else would take over the contract.

The company has already advanced $50,000, and further agreeing that work is to be started within sixty days.

It is proposed to construct about twenty miles of canals this season and furnish water for about 45,000 acres of land in the vicinity of Riverton. The construction of these canals will also bring under the big ditches about 5,000 acres of additional land, water for which will be supplied another year.

It is asserted that within sixty days twelve to fifteen steam shovels and from 1,000 to 1,500 teams and hundreds of men will be at work on the big system, which, when completed, will reclaim one of the largest tracts of arid land in the state and at a cost of over $3,000,000.

Percentage of Filings Falls Off

Speculative Element Eliminated from Contest for Claims in Standing Rock Reservation.

ABERDEEN, S. D., May 18.—(Special.)—With the filings in the Standing Rock and Cheyenne River reservations up to 1,300, the number of returners who fail to file is steadily growing larger, and it is now apparent that at least 50 per cent of the first 10,000 winners will fall to file. In fact, the persons now filing are quite generally practical farmers who have inspected the country and realize that it is capable of producing excellent crops of every farm product known in the northwest. It is noticeable that most of those who are now filing come from nearby states, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Iowa and Nebraska furnishing the most of the filers. The speculative element disappeared after the first few hundred names were drawn.

DEADWOOD, S. D., May 18.—(Special.)—Mrs. Jessie Phillips, for over a quarter of a century a resident of Spearfish, died at the home of her son in Deadwood, Wyo., where she had come for relief. Mrs. Phillips was 82 years of age and leaves six grown up children.

Jacob W. Mullins, a former school teacher and for twelve years past living on Redwater, died at his home there following an illness with tuberculosis. Mullins was 42 years of age and leaves no known relatives.

At Lead, D. H. Danielson, who for twenty years past has been a resident of that city, died at his home, aged 88. Mr. Danielson had been failing in health for some time. He was a native of Norway and is survived by five children, including Ole Danielson, one of the head bosses of the Homestead mine.

PROFIT IN WAR MATERIAL

Nicholas Murray Butler Analyzes Dreams of War Prophets.

ARE ALWAYS WELL TIMED

Action Always Begins Just Before Legislative Bodies are Ready to Consider Military Appropriations.

LAKE MOHONK, N. Y., May 18.—The sixteenth annual meeting of the Lake Mohonk Conference on International Arbitration began its three-day session here today. Diplomats, educators, jurists and citizens from many parts of the world received the welcome of Albert K. Smiley, the founder and host of the organization.

Dr. Smiley was followed by Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, president of the American Association for Conciliation and presiding officer of this conference. Dr. Smiley declared that the greatest step in the direction of international arbitration was soon to be taken, in the estimation of an international court at The Hague.

The most striking feature of President Butler's address was his assertion that "somebody makes something by reason of the huge expenditures in preparation of war," and his suggestion "that the same sort of ability that has exposed other forms of political chicanery and graft should investigate the sincerity and disinterestedness of the lively types of patriotism which accomplished these military and naval debates the world over."

Mr. Butler continued: "Have you ever noticed that about the time that appropriations for military purchases are under consideration in congress in the House of Commons, in the Chamber of Deputies, or in the Reichstag, or just before such a time, hostilities are always on the point of breaking out in two or three parts of the world."

"Just at these times war prophets begin to see visions and to dream dreams, and the poor, gullible people run off to their cyclone cellars and shout impudently to their representatives of vote and once and as much as possible in order that great ships and guns and forts might be built to protect them from their fears."

A year's review of the movement was given by Dr. Benjamin F. Trueblood, secretary of the American Peace society. John B. Clark, the professor of political economy at Columbia university, spoke on "An Economic View of War and Arbitration."

Other addresses scheduled for today's session were by Robert Lincoln O'Brien, editor of the Boston Transcript, and Rev. Dr. Arthur J. Brown of New York, secretary of Presbyterian board of foreign missions.

Boarders are Losing Homes

High Provision Prices Closing Boarding Houses—Workers up Against Problem.

J. High that boarding house keepers are being crowded out of business?

This is a question that is being asked by an army of workers who have no other home but the boarding house.

In the "walking distance" district, which lies to the north, west and south of the business district, a number of proprietors of family hotels have had to close their places in the last two months. Four premises in the vicinity of Twenty-fourth and Farnam streets have notified their boarders that another home will have to be found and the proprietors will close their houses this week.

One landlady, of what has been known as a first-class boarding house, said in discussing the situation:

"I cannot make the business pay any longer. I have been trying to keep even, but the cost of provisions has become so high that I cannot continue in the business. I cannot raise the price of board, for I would lose my boarders. I have kept a home for young men and women who get fair salaries in the big business houses downtown for years, but if I attempted to raise the price of table board they would have to go some other place, as they are paying now all they can. The price of meats and groceries has been raised considerably in the last three years, but the price of board has not. I do not see any other way out of the situation but to close up my house."

MITCHELL DOG MAKES GOOD

South Dakota Bloodhound Tracks Three Escaped Prisoners for Twenty-Five Miles.

MITCHELL, S. D., May 18.—(Special.)—The state's bloodhound, which was purchased some five months ago, made its first successful effort in trailing down some criminals. The dog, when first brought home, showed some evidence of having the right instinct, and under the charge of State Inspectors Marshall Craft has shown what it could do. A half dozen different times the dog has been used in this city to track parties who have tried to break into houses, but in no case was he ever successful. Three men broke jail at Chamberlain Sunday night and Fire Marshall Craft went out there with the hound. Fourteen hours after the men got away the hound took up the scent and followed it south along the Missouri river bank until darkness set in, and the chase was given up for the night. In the morning, after a light rain had fallen, the hound was put to work again, and after traveling until 2 o'clock the following day and never losing the scent once the three escaped prisoners were discovered twenty-five miles south of Chamberlain, concealed in some bluff, near the river bank. When the hound came in sight of the men huddled up in abject fear of being attacked by the dog, it was all the fire marshals and Sheriff Farney could do to hold the animal. Two of the men were being held for selling whisky to Indians and the third was held on the charge of forgery.

Denver Votes to Remain Wet

Propositions for Prohibition and Limited Number of Saloons Are Defeated.

DENVER, May 18.—Two propositions affecting the liquor business came before the voters in the election here yesterday.

One was the absolute prohibition of the liquor business. The other was whether or not the present number of saloons should be materially decreased and the license materially increased.

Returns up to 9 a. m. today indicate a majority of at least 5,000 against prohibition. It seemed probable the reduction scheme was also defeated, but by a much smaller majority.

Regardless of this the number of saloons in Denver will probably grow smaller as Mayor Speer sometime ago declared himself emphatically in favor of a restricted district.

The extension of the franchise of the Denver Union Water company for twenty years was decisively beaten.

MANY COMPLAINTS BY CITY HEALTH DEPARTMENT

Forcing Property Owners to connect Residences with Sewerage System.

Police court prosecutions for violations of the city's sanitation ordinances are about to establish an alibi for the much persecuted Missouri river.

Four complaints have been filed by officers of the health department against property owners for failure to connect their premises with the sewerage system. Many others are to follow.

The complaints follow the investigation of Dr. Lundsten, government specialist, called to Omaha to investigate typhoid cases and conditions. Each of the complaints made in police court are against premises on which the sanitary conditions are held directly responsible for typhoid cases investigated by the expert.

The first four defendants called in police court, Joseph Pollock, 1305 South Twelfth street; Anton Dilke, 3306 Charles street; Joseph Redman, 1508 Locust street, and H. W. Farnam, 2104 Ames avenue, were ordered to get their premises in shape at once by Judge Bryce Crawford on Wednesday morning.

How to Keep Your Complexion Young

(From the New York Herald)

"Age-marks—whether due to pausing years or premature and undesired show first in the complexion," said Mme. D'Almeida. "Keep the complexion young and you will never 'look old' before your time—and truly every woman can be fair at forty if so she will."

"The coarse and dark skin, the spots and blotches, the unwelcome crows' feet, the loose skin, the stragg hairs—any and all of these blemishes that so mar the appearance can be prevented (or, if already present, diminished) by simple home treatment."

"You soon find a wonderful improvement in your complexion if you dissolve a small, original package of mayotone in eight ounces of witch hazel and massage the face, arms, and neck with this solution once a day. The skin recovers the lovely and soft tints of youth, becomes free from spot or blemish and the growth of fuzzy hair is prevented. No, you need never use powder again, nor any cosmetic."—Adv.
