Davidson Saves Woman; Injured

Superintendent of Schools is Hurt When He Rescues Girl from Runaway Smash.

Superintendent W. M. Davidson with a sprained ankle declares he is a lucky man. He received his injury when he sprang from his buggy in the tangle of a collision Wednesday evening, and rescued a young woman from a chaotic mass of horse, harness and vehicle.

The accident occurred near the entrance of the Theological seminary. A vacuum cleaning apparatus was at work with a scolding noise near the building. A young woman, whose name could not be learned, but who said she came from Benson, was driving just behind Mr. Davidson.

Her horse took offense at the cleaner and became unmanageable plunging madly into the rear of Mr. Davidson's buggy. The young woman landed gracefully on all fours, according to Mr. Davidson, while the shafts of her vehicle were broken and the harness torn. Dr. Davidson executed a leap in reaching her side. He discovered later that his left ankle was injured.

BORROWER SUES LOAN FIRM

Plaintiff Alleges that He Has Paid $120 on $50 Loan and Still Owes More.

Harry Miklas and his wife, Clementine Miklas, attack the Reliable Credit company in a district court petition as a “chattel loan company making loans at usurious and exorbitant rates.”

The petition declares that the company in order to avoid lawsuits conceals the ownership, but Vina Woolworth, of Milwaukee is declared to be their chief owner. Business is done in Chicago in the name of Rachael Hupp. Archibald R. Kelly is declared to be the local manager. These three are made defendants in the suit.

Miklas says he first borrowed $50 of the company giving a promissory note. Some months later the company, he says, “coerced” him into signing a promissory note for $100 and likewise “coerced” his wife. The plaintiff asserts that $120 has been paid in; that $50 is all that was owed; and ask a judgment for $70 in addition to an injunction to prevent the credit company from serving a salary assignment which Miklas made.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Country Club Opening Attracts Many to the Grounds.

NUMEROUS GUESTS DURING DAY

Second Annual Field Meet of Grade Schools Will Be Held Today—Pat Donally Sealed at Packing House.

The South Omaha Country club opening yesterday afternoon and evening was the most successful of any in its history, and the indications are for a season of great popularity. The rain at noon which continued in light showers until 2:30 p. m. made the guests late in arriving and restricted the golf playing to the more enthusiastic lovers of the sport. Many of the golfers were too busy with the entertainment of numerous guests to get out on the links. A good match game was played, however, and the winners of the qualifying round will probably play Saturday to decide the prizes.

The base ball game between the club and Creighton university resulted in a victory for the college men, 5 to 4. The dinner parties were numerous and 200 guests were served to a generous table d'hôte dinner consisting of fruit, olives, roast beef and vegetables, stuffed tomato salad, strawberries and ice cream. The threatening weather of the afternoon caused delay in the arrival of the earlier guests so the last dinners were served at 2:30 p. m. and the evening dance had begun before all the guests were served in the dining rooms. The slight delay was readily overlooked by the guests in the enjoyment of the brilliant occasion and the perfect evening. The dance was one of the most enjoyable because of the perfect evening and the good condition of the floors. Dimmick's orchestra dispensed the music. This function continued until 11:30 p. m.

Informal Hospitality.—As all affairs of the club are intended, every detail of the entertainment was informal and thoroughly saturated with hospitality. T. J. O'Neil, the president of the club, was everywhere present. He had the assistance of Otto Raduweit, the manager of the cafe and house accommodations. To these two much of the great success of the opening of the season was due.

The guests included by far the greater number of the prominent families of the city and among them were many invited guests from Omaha and other cities. W. A. Schrel of Chicago was the guest of E. L. Howe and had the distinction of having hailed from the most distant point on this occasion.

A matched game of golf between the live stock men and the business men of the city will be played Saturday. This will be a straight match, without handicaps, and the losers pay for the dinners.

The grounds are in excellent condition, although it is still necessary to use temporary greens, and probably will be for two weeks.

The roster of golf players was posted yesterday showing the opening handicaps. These will be subject to change every week.

Pat Donally Sealed.—Patrick Donally, thirty-second and A streets, was sealed yesterday afternoon at the vats of the Cudahy Packing company, where he works. He slipped into the vats by a mistake, but was assisted by his companions. Fortunately the water was not quite as hot as usual and he escaped with less severe injuries. He was attended by Dr. O. Riley, the Cudahy physician, who dressed his burns, which were about the limbs and ordered him to the South Omaha hospital. Last night he was doing as well as possible under the circumstances.

Summer Bowling League.—A summer bowling league was formed last night among the tenpin rollers and the opening games of the new schedule will be played Monday night. John Briggs was elected president, Fred Stroeh, vice president, and Frank Lepinski, secretary and treasurer. Eight teams have been organized: Stelling's, Jett's, Malt's, Martin's, Tiger's, Kentucky's, Culkin's, Cuba's, Ideals, N. E. Carters, Green's Boosters.

Summer Carnival Proposed.—An important meeting of the Shamrock club is called for tonight to consider the practicability of holding a summer carnival in South Omaha, under the auspices of this athletic association. The proposition to be considered will be to hold a carnival during the week beginning June 13. It is therefore urged by the president of the club that all members be present at the deliberations this evening.

THE MAKER'S LOSS--NOT OURS

- When making this season's garments the great tailoring concerns of the east based their output not alone on the prosperity then in effect, but also on the probability that this season's demand for clothing would greatly exceed that of any previous year.
- However, through no fault of theirs, but simply because of the very uncertain spring weather, many of these firms were unable to dispose of their entire stock. Consequently on our buyer's recent eastern trip he secured several hundred high-grade hand-tailored garments at a price but little above the cost of fabric alone.
- These garments include the styles especially favored by up-to-date young men as well as those designed for the more conservative men of middle-age. In shade, pattern and size we can assure every man that his own personal tastes and needs will be exactly suited.
- And remember, every one of these garments is strictly hand-tailored. We consider this purchase one of the most fortunate we have made in many years and urge you to see these suits without fail.
- Come as early Saturday as you can that we may give you our very best attention. Choose any suit you like:

At the Theaters

"Queen of Queer Street" at the Gayety.

Crime, running the gamut from wife desertion to murder, supplies the pabulum for the main structure of "The Queen of Queer Street," which was staged at the Gayety Thursday night by the Roccadia Stock company. A strong melodrama, it held the excited interest of a well filled house until the fall of the curtain. April, the Queen of Queer Street, is the daughter of a vaudeville artist, who was cast aside like a faded flower. Then Schuyler, the man she married, after her death in a Bowery tenement, discovers that she was an heiress, and it is with the later discovery that she had a daughter, whose existence threatens the possession by Schuyler and his sister of the wife's money, that the plot thickens. Schuyler, in addition to his other iniquities, is a morphine fiend. The

WANTS TO LOCATE ESTATE

Woman Says Brother Left $75,000 or So, but County Court Has No Record of Such Property.

Special Officer Dan Lahay, whose functions are to locate lost, missing, kidnapped and dead persons, has a chance to get a reward if he finds the estate of Tom Wilson. Mrs. Elaine Wilson Seal has written asking for information.

The letter explains that her brother died in Omaha at the age of 35 years about two weeks ago, and left an estate amounting to $50,000 or $75,000. "I can prove I am the only surviving relative, and will reward you well if you find Mr. Wilson's estate," Mrs. Seal wrote.

Every mother should know that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is perfectly safe.

action of the play, which is a picture of certain phases of Bowery life, naturally revolves around "the queen," who, as impersonated by Miss Madge Hatter, is a type of the life of the child of the gutter, with the precocity of the waif who has had to fend for itself and has the worldly wisdom of a sage of the underworld. It was an interesting character study. Miss Hatter was ably supported by the other members of the cast, and Mr. McGovert's portraiture was as realistic as the emergencies of the occasion required. Mr. De Forrest played the part of the artist friend and patron of April with manly sympathy.

ORATORICAL CONTEST AT OMAHA UNIVERSITY

Second Preliminary for First Annual Competition in June at School is Held.

The second of the preliminaries for the oratorical contest of the University of Omaha, to be held early in June, occurred Thursday afternoon, when ten students, six young women and four young men, participated. The first of the preliminaries was ### held last Thursday, at which time four young women and five young men took part. From the nineteen taking part in the preliminaries eight will be selected by the judges, and these eight will contest for the oratorical honors of the school.

The preliminaries consisted of orations, recitations and declamations, interspersed with vocal and instrumental music. At the exercises Thursday afternoon, held in the university chapel, a large crowd was present, and upon the conclusion of the program, under the guidance of Dr. Maynard and Mrs. Ross, the latter the instructor in elocution and oratory, there was an inspection of the university building.
