DOCTORS WILL NOT CONDEMN

Turn Down Resolution Aimed at Longer School Hours.

MT. VERNON PHYSICIAN BITTER

Declares Tendency of Colleges Forces High Schools to Push Students to Work Endangering Health.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
DES MOINES, Ia., May 20.—(Special Telegram.)—The State Medical Association, after much discussion on the evils of the public school system as affecting the health of children, turned down a resolution to condemn the present tendency in Iowa to lengthening the school year. This resolution was offered by Des Moines doctors, who have been interested in the fight for shorter school years here. Dr. Crawford of Mount Vernon had attacked the school system savagely.

"The high school is a form of tyranny," he said. "As a result of my investigation in Sioux City 90 per cent of the children were found to be defective because of the school work. The tyranny of our schools was amazing. The colleges determine the work of the high schools, the high schools determine the work of the grades and the children suffer. This is monstrous, when it is considered that but 1-15 per cent of the high school children ever go to college. The hours of school should be made shorter and the children given freedom of the woods and of the great outdoors."

V. L. Treyner of Council Bluffs was elected secretary of the state association. Electrical Workers Win. After three weeks of negotiations with their employers, members of the local electrical workers' union have succeeded in securing a new working agreement for the fiscal year, ending May 1, 1911. The new scale provides for a material increase in wages for all branches of the craft.

Postpone Express Hearing. On request of G. A. Wrightman, secretary of the Iowa State Manufacturers' association, the board postponed the Express hearing to October 12. This was the earliest date that could accommodate all parties.

The commission also fixed June 15 for hearing in the coal-rate case and June 16 for hearing in the application of the Sioux City Stock Yards company for cancellation of exception to rule 35 to Iowa classification, No. 14, relating to the minimum weights of live stock.

Cadets to Into Camp. A corps of cooks was sent from here today to West Liberty to take charge of the kitchen for the camp of the state university cadets. The battalion of about 200 went from Iowa City in charge of Lieutenant Norton C. Mumma of the regular army, who is instructor at the state university. The camp will continue until next Monday.

Education Board to Meet. The State Board of Education will hold a meeting at Cedar Falls next week for the purpose of filling out the faculties of the three colleges. A very important topic to be filled is that of Prof. W. W. Kenyon at the agricultural college and the board is having difficulty in finding the right man for the place. Nothing has as yet been done toward selecting a president at the state college.

Rate Question to Be Taken Up. The railroad commission has asked interested persons to prepare a case to be taken before the Interstate Commerce commission for the purpose of having a review of the Iowa proportion of all Iowa interstate rates. An effort has been made to induce the commission to take this up in behalf of Des Moines alone and then as to some other cities, but the commission is disposed to make it a state matter and include all shipping points and has requested the shippers to get the case made up in that way.

Loses All Her Savings. While Mrs. Andrew Dixon of Carlisle, Ia., was absent from her home yesterday afternoon unknown thieves stole $1,500 which she had secreted in the pantry. Bloodhounds have been placed on the track of the robbers. Mrs. Dixon's husband died about a year ago and left her the sum. Yesterday she withdrew the money from the bank in order to purchase some land, and hid it in the pantry. When she returned home from visiting a neighbor the money was gone.

SIoux FALLS, S. D., May 20.—(Special.)—Mystery surrounds the identity of a man who was found dead about two rods from a highway at a point two and one-half miles north of the town of Humboldt, west of Sioux Falls. There were evidences that the man had committed suicide. His throat was cut from ear to ear, and beside him was found the knife with which the bloody deed was committed. A large number of the residents of the town.

Saloonist Denied Change of Venue. MARSHALLTOWN, Ia., May 20.—(Special.)—The state and anti-saloon league won the first point in the test case brought on the saloonist's petition against John Zandt, a local saloon keeper, when Judge J. M. Parker, in the district court this afternoon overruled the motion for a change of venue filed by the saloonist's attorney. The motion charged Judge Parker with being prejudiced because he signed the petition.

Anti-Discriminatory Law is Held Valid

State of Minnesota Wins First Round in Fight with Standard Oil Company.

ST. PAUL, May 20.—The state supreme court in an opinion by Justice O'Brien today declared valid the state law forbidding discrimination in charges for commodities sold throughout the state.

The decision came on an appeal by the state from the decision of the Ramsey county court in sustaining a demurrer of the Standard Oil company to the complaint of the state of Minnesota, in which it was charged that the Standard Oil company charged discriminating prices for its product in places where it had no competition.

The state began an action to forfeit the charter of the company as a business in Minnesota, basing its action on alleged acts of discrimination. The case will now be tried on the facts and an injunction asked for.

New Witness in Heike Case

Former Talley Man Says Records of Weights Were Sent to Benedict and Bendernagel.

NEW YORK, May 20.—An important new witness in the trial of Charles R. Heike today proved to be Henry H. Falkenstein, now a hotel detective, but who said he had been a tallyman or checker on the sugar docks when Oliver Spitzer, who is serving a term in the Atlanta penitentiary for underweighing frauds, was dock superintendent and Harry Walker, one of the defendants at this trial, was Spitzer's assistant. Falkenstein said that copies of the records of weights taken on the docks were sent to Mr. Benedict, in charge of the main office in Wall street, and to Charles Bendernagel, in charge of the branch office in the city.

he'd die, and if he was any worse, I'd kill him myself." This again brought the boys to attention, and they listened with keen interest when they were assured that Mr. Wright attributed the success of his success in life to having been able to mix with and touch the humps of wide-awake traveling men in his youth. He told them, too, that no other class of workers could exercise so great an influence for good on so many people as the men of their calling, among their customers, on their houses and on society in general. He cautioned them not always maintain a high standard of method as business developers and builders, and pointed out that the character of the man on the road was made plain to the head of his establishment by the letters from patrons passing over his desk.

After the opening exercises the delegates went into executive session, to transact their own business. Meetings were read from the national officers, and also from the grand councils of Alabama, Georgia, Florida, Oregon, Washington, Illinois, Mississippi and Louisiana, now in session.

One sick brother, Charles M. Crunleton of Beatrice, was remembered when a bunch of flowers was ordered sent him on behalf of council. Another executive session was held Friday afternoon, and while the men were thus engaged, the women visitors were shown the beauties of Omaha by a committee of local women.

Teamster Takes Poison for Rats

John Fix in Critical Condition from Swallowing Deadly Drug When Wife Reproached Him.

"John, you've been drinking," accused Mrs. Fix, when her husband appeared at their home, 1207 Ohio street. "Yes, and I'm going to finish it off, too," he replied, at the same moment seizing a bottle of rat poison, which he drank.

"His condition is serious, but there is probability of recovery," Police Surgeons Loveland and Standeven answered the emergency call. Fix is a teamster, 67 years old, and in fair health. His daughter, Mrs. Fred Stroud, lives in Council Bluffs.

MRS. DOXEY ADMITS MARRYING ERDER

Columbus, Neb., Woman Charged with Murder in St. Louis Says She Had Two Husbands.
ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 20.—Mrs. Dora E. Doxey, who, with her husband, Dr. L. B. Doxey, will go on trial Monday on the charge of murdering W. J. Erder, today in an interview admitted she married Erder. She said while she was Erder's wife she corresponded with her other husband, Dr. Doxey, and that Doxey, who lived in Nebraska, knew she was living with Erder. Mrs. Doxey also said she would never again live with her husband, even though she is acquitted, as she confidently expects. While she was living with Erder, according to Mrs. Doxey, her husband in Nebraska sent her medicines which she took. Since she has been in jail her husband cured her of the habit.

Flickering Screen Particularly Injurious to Eyes of Youths and Elders.
The rise of the moving picture show constitutes a new menace to health, according to Dr. W. F. Southard of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of San Francisco. Obviously the brunt of the attack is borne by the eye. A few years ago motion pictures were but an incident in the program of the vaudeville theater. Within the last three or four years such shows have sprung up in every city, town and hamlet in the country, and at the small admission of 5 or 10 cents, are crowded from noon till midnight. An investment of $50,000,000 is evidence of its magnitude. We need no scientific tabulation of results in order to accept Dr. Southard's contention that moving pictures exert a serious strain upon the eye and, indeed, the general nervous system. Especially in the case of children, with whom it becomes a "crave," a frequent attendance upon such performances has worked great injury to the eye. The effect, too, of the majority of these theaters upon general health is deserving of the attention of health officers. Most of them are conducted in long, narrow rooms originally designed for stores, or inclined floor bringing the rear seats near to the ceiling. While no crowded public room should be used longer than two and a half or three hours without thorough ventilation and cleansing, these theaters, having at best inadequate ventilation, are crowded continuously for ten or twelve hours, thus precluding any cleaning or ventilation until the next day. If we are to have such shows, these features must be regulated by law; and if you value your eyes, don't go to the picture shows very often, stay no longer than half an hour, and sit as far away from the screen as possible.—Leslie's Weekly.

Dry Wave Recedes the Country Over

Reports at National Brewers' Association Will Reveal Notable Change for Year.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—(Special.)—That the dry wave is receding and that the "dry territory" is rapidly changing back to "wet" will be the consensus of the reports to be made at the fifth annual convention of the United States Brewers' association, when it meets at the New Willard hotel, June 8 and 9. There will be plenty of reports to substantiate that claim, it is said. Marking half a century of its existence and finding itself in the midst of the greatest fight it has ever encountered, the association's convention this year will be of special interest.

While the convention proper does not begin until June 8, preliminary meetings will be held on June 7. On the morning of that day the members of the Interstate Executive association will meet, at which all convention delegates will be welcomed. In the afternoon the trustees of the national association will meet.

The first meeting of the convention will be held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. At this session delegates from every city and state in the country will attend. Two important papers will be presented, that of President Carl J. Hostet, who in his annual address will review the last year and discuss in detail the situation as he sees it, and the report of the trustees and the standing committees which will take up the work accomplished. In the afternoon there will be an executive session which only members will attend and at which trade matters will be discussed. The day will be ended with a trip down the Potomac on a special chartered steamer.

CONTENTMENT BLOOMS ON FAT

Why the Stout Person is a Moving Spectacle of Sweet Senility.

Fat is often unappreciated or misunderstood and unduly blamed for sins and delinquencies of other body foods. From the fat is formed are absorbed, either as soaps or in a solution brought about by the bile. As a source of energy for the development of heat, fat may be described as quickly available, but not so lasting as some other substances. By its concentration of fuel power it saves other tissues, especially the albuminous ones, from oxidation and is valuable as a reserve force. Moreover, by its presence the protein is better enabled to do its work in tissue building and as a storage of energy for emergency use. Fat is so important, that the last material use of fat is to serve as a protection of the body from injury and cold. It forms an outer cushion for the frame. From an aesthetic standpoint the physiological and orderly distribution of fat in the connective tissue makes all the difference between beauty and ugliness. In considering the psychic role of fat we should specially bear in mind, G. M. Miles says, its reserve function in relation to active vital processes. A liberal disposition of fat is one of nature's wise precautions to enable us to bear some of the trials of life. It has been known from earliest antiquity that fat people are more contented and optimistic than lean ones and the supply of fat may be compared to the ample bank account of a busy and provident man. Miles says that he believes he is correct in asserting that a physiological reserve of fat by its very presence exerts a quieting and reassuring influence on the vital forces most concerned in constructive metabolism, while its lack leads to a physical discontent and unrest, which sooner or later reacts on the disposition, developing into that pessimism and temperamental discontent so often seen in lean people.—Medical Record.

Woman Hunter in Man's Clothes

Sheridan Officer Surprised at Identity of Individual He Compelled to Wade Deep Stream.

SHERIDAN, Wyo., May 20.—(Special.)—Large ranch owners along the foot hills of the Big Horn mountains have lately been much annoyed by hunters who even kill birds on their nests to test their marksmanship. Last Sunday a deputy sheriff was called in to service to arrest a few of the hunters who might break the game laws of the state. One hunter was spotted across a stream, which was well swollen by the melting snows and rains. Halting the hunter, the sheriff commanded that he come across. Instead of obeying the command the bearer of arms sauntered the other way. A shot from the revolver of the deputy caused the hunter to make haste. He tried to argue that the water was too deep to cross, but the officer told him to "wade through," and through the water nearly waist deep struggled the hunter. It was a surprise for the deputy when from the stream emerged a Sheridan woman, tugged out in man's hunting costume, and begged that she be not arrested. Satisfying himself that the woman was only out after jack-rabbits and not guilty of any breach of the law except it might be "hunting on the Sabbath day," she was allowed to go.
