With the opening of the Country club last evening all of the centers of Omaha's social activity of the summer season have assumed activity. The year in the life of the city's clubs promises unusually brilliant and lively functions of purely social significance with added attention to the out-door sports and pastimes.

Society officiated last evening at the coronation, a dinner-dance, which formed the formal opening and society was represented in such number, more than three hundred covers were laid, that there is every reason to believe that the season thus ushered in will be one of unusual activity.

People of Omaha seem to delight especially in the outdoor life as is evidenced by the splendid support which is given to the numerous outdoor clubs of Omaha and vicinity. Few cities of its size in the country are so generously supplied with country and boat clubs where people may enjoy the sports of summer in the open air.

Many Omaha people will leave in June for a trip abroad and many others will leave for their summer homes. Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Cudahy and the Misses Florence and Alice Cudahy plan to spend part of the summer at Mackinac. Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Kuntze will leave the middle of June and Mr. and Mrs. Ward M. Burgess expect to rent a cottage at Mackinac.

Among those who will sail in June for Europe are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Kelly who will spend the summer in Germany. Miss Corinne Paulsen leaves this week for New York and will sail on the steamer Deutschland for Germany for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Borgium, Miss Mary Meek, Miss Davis and Mr. Cecil Berryman will sail in two weeks on the President Grant for Paris, France.

Miss Frances Nash, Miss Jean Cudahy, Miss Helen Cudahy and Miss Nora Forthman of Los Angeles, chaperoned by a teacher from Mrs. Somers' school will sail June 4 on the Arabia. They will spend the summer visiting the points of interest abroad.

As the preparations for the production of the children's opera "The Toy Shop," progresses, interest increases and present indications are that the performances which are to be given at the Brandeis theater Friday and Saturday, in benefit of the Child Saving Institute, both well attended and well worth attending.

In the Omaha production, which is made under the direction of Miss Margaret Martin, a new doll will be part of the interesting company, in fact a doll embodying the so prevalent appreciation of the baryard fantasy, a Chaudier doll. Miss Ruth Thompson, the clever toe dancer has the important role. Her costume is an attractive feather garb.

Miss Doris McGraw has been chosen as the queen, the role upon which so much of the opera's plot hinges.

The first rehearsal at the theater will be held Monday afternoon. The first dress rehearsal is planned for Tuesday; both these rehearsals mean the presence of the large number of chaperons in charge of the various groups.

The opera tells the story of an old toy-maker and discloses the uncanny way in which his toys receive life and how they act during the beautiful small hours of the night.

Another large charity entertainment of the week is the annual bridge party which is to be given at the Country club Thursday afternoon in benefit of "The Creche." The interest in this event has been expressed by a generous demand for tickets. Mrs. H. T. Lemist is in charge of the arrangements, which are most complete.

Mrs. George R. Wright entertained pleasantly at what Saturday afternoon, complimentary to Miss Jessie Ellingwood, whose marriage is to be celebrated in June. For the Young Man. Presenting a watch to the young man graduate has become a sort of institution. The superiority of our Watches is attested by the increasing demand each year at commencement time. RYAN JEWELRY CO. GOLD & SILVERSMITHS 15th & Douglas Sts. Omaha. Buy from us once and you will be our customer always.

Revival of the Silver Age. The ancient silversmith was half brother to the Alchemist. His magic touch transformed the metal into beautiful shapes and forms which found their way into the shrines of art lovers and the palaces of kings. Side by side with the sculptor who produced a Venus and the Painter who gave to the world a Madonna the ancient Silversmith held high place in the realm of art. Today his ancient and honorable craft is preserved and exemplified at its best in the beautiful creations made by the Gorham Company and for sale here. Gorham Silverware is renowned for its beauty of design and individuality of pattern. It costs no more than wares of less merit. We are agents for Gorham Silverware in Omaha and show at least a $20,000 stock. C. B. BROWN CO., Jewelers 16th and Farnam Streets
