The Sun's magic touch.
"The tomato never acquires its full and most perfect flavor," says Professor Tracy of the United States Department of Agriculture, "except when ripened on the vine, and in full sunlight."
Here is one secret of the unrivalled quality of

Campbell's Tomato Soup
It is made from choice New Jersey tomatoes perfectly ripened on the vines; and then put up immediately; so that all their enticing natural flavor is retained. Every ingredient used is equally choice, fresh and perfectly conditioned. And they are blended with a skill and care worthy of their quality.

Cherry Salad—One pint can cherry juice, one cup canned cherries, one dozen pimento olives cut in rings, one small cup of celery, one-half cup of black walnuts, one envelope powdered gelatin. Heat cherry juice to boiling point, over gelatin pour three tablespoons of hot juice, stir until dissolved, then add remaining juice. When cold and just beginning to thicken add pimento olives, celery, walnuts, and cherries. Mold. Serve in slices on lettuce leaf, with wafers and mayonnaise, to which whipped cream has been generously added. Will serve eight.

If you go to market early and take with you a fat purse you can have it now—sweet corn. The first representatives of this great American delicacy have arrived and are worth—well, almost their weight in gold. It will be very much like eating pearls to indulge in the succulent cereal. In round numbers the corn can be obtained for 50 cents a dozen.

Then, there are apricots, too, which may be had for the trifling sum of 90 cents. These likewise are the first of the season.

The third delicacy among the new arrivals is gooseberries—not the common, plentiful, home variety of gooseberries; not the gooseberries for preserves, jams and spiced concoctions; no, the gooseberries that the Indians hawk from door to door; but gooseberries whose price makes them aristocrats; gooseberries 20 cents a quart. Pineapples belong now to the other side of the list, a large supply giving them a reachable price. In fact you can get pineapples at 10, 15, 20 or 25 cents a piece, according to size.

Strawberries cling to the same price, 15 cents a quart, and while this is not as low as the housewife likes to have them before she dons her preserving garb, it might be a good thing to begin preserving. There is a large question as to whether or not the price will be lower this season since the home-grown fruit isn't going to arrive. Cherries are 40 cents a pound. The supply of cherries, likewise, is certain to be short this year, since this fruit, too, was nipped in the bud. Lemons also are high—25 cents a dozen.

Head lettuce of choice variety is now in the market, prices ranging from 4 to 15 cents. Egg plant is 15 and 20 cents. Radishes three to five bunches for 5 cents, onions two bunches for 5 cents, lettuce two bunches of 5 cents, turnips 5 cents a bunch. Tomatoes are 50 and 60 cents a basket of 10 cents a pound, new potatoes are 35 and 40 cents each; asparagus is 5 cents a bunch, two or four bunches for 25 cents, according to quality.

There are plenty of chickens in the market, hens retailing at 30 cents a pound; fresh broilers, 50 cents a pound. The wholesale prices are: Roosters, 125 cents; geese, 15 cents; ducks, 30 cents; turkeys, 25 cents; hens, 17 cents; springs, 38 cents; fresh broilers, $6.00, $7.50 and $9.00 a dozen. There is likewise little change in butter prices, which are 26, 28, 30 and 32 cents a pound. Eggs wholesale at 20 cents a dozen; retail at 23, 25 and 26 cents.

familiarity of town markets, are not often shipped to the city.

The spinach is the vegetable most generally cooked as greens, and dandelions and beet tops are close successors. There are three varieties of spinach—the rough, smooth and round. They are medicinal, with a slightly bitter flavor. Much of the spinach sold on home markets is grown in frames by the market gardeners. It is forced under glass, making a rich crop and a profitable one, as it is in demand all the year around, and the canned article is more or less in favor.

The marketer should not buy any but the best. It should be crisp, clean and free from straw, insects, dried leaves, etc. If thrown directly in cold water it freshens and then it must be picked over and should be thrown into a large pan under the hydrant, where the running water helps in the washing. Drain well in a colander. Dissolve half a tablespoonful of soda in warm water and pour over the spinach with hot water, cooking twenty minutes.

A number of appetizing recipes for serving spinach are gleaned from Olive Green's "How to Cook Vegetables."

Baked Spinach—Clean thoroughly, sprinkle with salt and cook in a large double boiler without liquid; or put into a covered saucepan and steam. Drain and chop, season with butter, pepper and salt and serve with a border of poached eggs or put into a tightly covered saucepan and as soon as it begins to cook reduce the heat. Drain in a colander and season to taste.

Baked Spinach with Cream—Prepare according to direction given above, using a well seasoned stock for liquid. Drain, chop and reheat, seasoning with salt and pepper and moistening with cream and butter.

SPINACH A WHOLESOME FOOD

Suggestions for Buying and New and Palatable Ways for Preparing Greens.

Greens form the most wholesome food just now. They include spinach, shepherd's sprouts, dandelions, endive, lettuce and many wild herbs which farmers use freely, but which, owing to the unfamiliarity of town markets, are not often shipped to the city.

WATER COMPANY ASKS WRIT AGAINST SEWAGE IN RIVER

Says City Cannot Collect Fine for Impure Water When Garbage Goes in Above Intakes.

By suit filed in United States court, the Omaha Water company demands injunction against the city of Omaha to prevent the dumping of sewage in the Missouri river above the intakes of the water plant, and asks that the ordinance fixing a penalty on impure water be set aside.

The water company contends that the city is dumping sewage and allowing waste and dead animals to be heaped on the river banks, and while this practice obtains can not demand a penalty for impure water. The city ordinance in question was recently passed by the council. It sets a fine of $1,000 a day as the penalty for serving the city with water below a standard of purity sufficiently high to satisfy the city chemist.

The new North Omaha sewer is discussed in the petition. This sewer, it is alleged, drains not only a large area of the city, but also carries the waste from Immigrant hospital where various water borne diseases are under treatment. The sewer empties six miles above the intake.

The history of the water company is set forth in the petition with special attention to the contract of 1880, along with the contention that the actions of the city alleged impairs this contract.

No date has been fixed for the hearing in the matter of the application for an injunction. Judge Munger will leave Friday evening on a short fishing trip, to be absent several days, and nothing will be done in the injunction matter until his return.
