Spanish War Veterans Will Hold Memorial Service at Fort Crook Cemetery Sunday.

To show especial reverence to the memory of the Spanish war soldiers, who are numbered among the dead, Camp Lee Forby, No. 1, United Spanish War Veterans, will hold a memorial service at the Fort Crook cemetery Sunday afternoon.

Joining with the camp for the occasion will be General Henry W. Lawton Ladies' auxiliary, and all of the unaffiliated Spanish war veterans and of the general public accepting the cordial invitation to attend. That the attendance may be made convenient, there will be special interurban railway cars for the afternoon, stopping at the band quarters, which will be the point of assembly.

The idea of thus honoring their soldier dead is especially pleasing to the garrison at Fort Crook, and Colonel Cornelius Gardner, the commandant, and the other officers and men have volunteered cordial cooperation. The sixteenth infantry band being an especially delightful addition to the participants in the program.

This will be the program:
Assembly at Fort Crook band quarters at 4 p. m. sharp.

SENATE KILLS AMENDMENTS

Senate Turns Down Plan Regulating Increase of Rates.

TAKES POWER FROM COMMISSION

Lawyer Sought to Prohibit Rates Until Approved by Interstate Commerce Commission—Clark's Motion Likewise Lost.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Through the defeat in the senate yesterday of a number of amendments offered by "insurgent" republicans and democrats, the way was paved for an early vote on the administration railroad bill. It is expected this will come tomorrow and the senate then will adjourn over until Monday, when the statehood bill probably will be made the unfinished business.

The regular republicans maintained a firm hold upon the situation during several votes on important features, notwithstanding the fact that the insurgents and democrats united their votes on several occasions. More was accomplished during the closing hours of the session today than in any one week during the three months the bill has been the pending business.

Not until 3 o'clock was anything done beyond listening to discussion of the measure, but when at that time Senator La Follette concluded his two days' speech in opposition to the bill the voting proceeded rapidly, with the following results:

The Cummins amendment requiring the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission of all increases in railroad rates before they become effective was voted down, 29 to 42.

The Martin amendment requiring the committee to reach a final decision on increases within six months was defeated, 18 to 54.

An amendment by Mr. Clarke of Arkansas to defer increased rates until passed upon by the commission, but putting them into effect after six months, pending a final decision, was rejected, 35 to 49.

Time Limit Extended.

An amendment composed of propositions by Senators Jones and Paynter was accepted. This provision provides for the extension for a period of six months of the 120-day suspension of new rates and regulations for the hearing as to their reasonableness if not concluded in that time and for refunding of the difference between rates if the new rate is found to be unreasonable. This amendment was adopted unanimously.

An amendment by Senator Hughes striking out the capitalization clause of the bill was adopted with practical unanimity, Senator Burton casting the only negative vote.

Of all the votes of the day the one on the Cummins amendment was by far the most important. The vote on this amendment was by no means so close as had been predicted by its friends and feared by its opponents. Three days ago the advocates of the bill, as suggested by the administration, had been apprehensive of the success of the Cummins provision, but during that time they had been extremely active, with the result that while they made important concessions they scored the defeat of the provision.

Position of Insurgents.

Of the twenty-nine votes favorable to the amendment twelve were cast by insurgent republicans, as follows: Beveridge, Borah, Bourne, Bristow, Burkett, Clapp, Crawford, Cummins, Dismick, Doolittle, Gable and La Follette. Only four democrats, Bailey, McNary, Smith of Maryland and Taylor, voted for the provision.

The pairs on the vote were announced as follows: Root with Tallaferrro, Flint with Culberson, Lorimer with Davis, Dillingham with Tillman, McCumber with Foster and Richardson with Rayner. Senators Bankhead, Bulkeley, Daniel, Hughes, Money, Newlands, Penrose and Percy were absent and unpaired. Explanations were made in behalf of most of the absentees.

The closest vote was 35 to 40 on the amendment offered by Senator Clarke of Arkansas, regulating the extensions of time allowed for hearing on rate changes.

The presentation of the Martin amendment requiring the Interstate Commerce Commission to reach its decisions on increased rates within six months and the doubt as to the effect of that provision after the expiration of that period in case of the failure of the commission to comply with this demand, were responsible in large measure for the fate of that provision.

Agree on Jones' Amendment.

The Jones' amendment presented a simpler situation and with the Cummins provision disposed of, it was acceptable to all parties—to the opponents of the bill because it was the best they could get, and to its friends because it was found necessary to go that far in order to get enough to defeat the Cummins amendment.

Pending the vote on the Jones-Poynter amendment there was much confusion as to the parliamentary statutes of the two amendments as separately presented.

The original suggestion of Mr. Jones merely provides for an extension of the suspension of the 120-day period, already allowed by the bill for investigations of new rates by the Interstate Commerce Commission. It goes into the bill as a proviso and reads as follows:

"That if any such hearing cannot be concluded within the period of suspension, the Interstate Commerce Commission may, in its discretion, extend the time of suspension for a further period not exceeding six months."

The addition made at the suggestion of Mr. Paynter provides that "if the increased rate is found to be unreasonable the carrier shall refund to the party paying it the difference between that rate and the rate as it existed before the increase, and shall do so on the presentation of the bill of lading, receipt or expense bill at its office where the freight charges were made."

The Paynter provision also directs the issuance of way bills and receipts, showing the points of origin and destination of freight, giving the names of consignee and consignee, and the total amount of charges, all to be used as a basis for settlement.

Notwithstanding it was evident from the time an agreement was reached for the acceptance of the Paynter amendment that the Jones' provision would meet with general favor a roll call vote was called.

Mr. Aldrich's name was the first called and in a loud voice he responded in the affirmative. Coming immediately after him was Senator Bacon and he cast his vote in the negative. All others voted for the provision. The yeas and nays changed his vote, rendering the verdict unanimous. He took occasion to state, however, he had originally voted "no" because he did not favor the Jones' portion of the amendment.

Presenting his amendment striking out sections 13, 14, 15 and 17, which are broadly described as the capitalization provisions of the bill, Mr. Hughes pressed for an immediate vote and the amendment was accepted without much discussion. Again the roll call developed a unanimous vote, with one exception. The negative vote was cast by Mr. Burton of Ohio. In the discussion the fact developed that practically all the senators were opposed to the capitalization provisions.

The "insurgent" republicans based their opposition on the ground that sufficient
