SHIPPERS WOULD AVOID SUIT

Iowa Business Men Will Pay Freight Under Protest.

HOPE TO AVOID COURT CASE

Belief that by Proceeding Carefully They Will Ultimately Recover Money Without Expensive Litigation.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
DES MOINES, June 3.—(Special Telegram.)—The business men and the shippers of Des Moines and Iowa are arranging to pay the increased rate on freight from the east under protest and to make claim for return when the federal injunction suit is disposed of. The Commercial club here is sending out notices to the shippers under advice of the attorney general to this effect. It is the view of the shippers that they will ultimately get back the increase which they pay. They have not as yet fully decided upon going into federal court on their own motion, and this evening their representative stated that they might avoid complicating the situation with a suit.

Authorize More Expenditures.

The state executive council today authorized the Board of Education to expend $10,000 more on the building of the new physics building at the State university than had been approved by the legislature, thus making the total cost $28,000. This was thought advisable because of changes made in the plans to enlarge the building.

Restoring Car Lengths.

Some time ago the Iowa Railroad commission issued an order changing the minimum length of a car of live stock from thirty-one feet to thirty-six feet. Today, upon a protest chiefly from Sioux City, the commission rescinded its order and directed that for another year, at least, the minimum shall be as it has been in the past. This affects only state shipments and is for the benefit of small shippers to the local packing plants.

Will Prosecute the Governor.

It seems now certain that the matter of the controversy between Governor B. F. Carroll and John Cowie, former chairman of the Board of Control, will be fought out in court. Cowie is out in a signed statement denying practically every essential in the recent statement of the governor, denouncing the governor in unmeasured terms and demanding publicity to the affidavits which he says he has. He insists that the proof shall go to the grand jury and makes it very plain that unless the governor can substantiate all his charges he will proceed against him in court. The whole controversy was brought out by the demand that Cowie should be removed from the board before expiration of his term.

HIRED MAN LOADED DISC WITH DYNAMITE

Discharged Employee of Iowa Farmer Planned Tragic Revenge, Then Notified Man of Danger.

EAGLE GROVE, Ia., June 3.—(Special.)—One and possibly more persons would have probably been killed on the Just Theby farm in Trow township had not John Cauquelin, a discharged hired man, who had been working on the place, reported his act and notified John Theby, one of his former employer's sons, that the farm disc was "loaded."

the letter, in which Cauquelin wrote "to be careful how you look up to the disk or some one may get hurt." In the bearings was found quantities of dynamite and caps to set the charges off, once the machine was set going. There was enough dynamite scattered through the machine to have blown up a carload of disks.

Iowa Commission May File Suits

Attorney General Says it is Not Expedient for Government to Take Further Action Now.

DES MOINES, Ia., June 3.—(Special.)—Attorney General Wickham today wired the Iowa Board of Railway Commissioners that it will not be expedient for the government to go into the federal courts for an injunction restraining the railroads from putting the new freight rates into effect from intermediate points in Iowa and Minnesota as requested by the railroad commission yesterday. Members of the board said that they will start a fight of their own for relief from all Iowa points, as well as Missouri river points.

Iowa Man Who Made Fortune in Alaska Marries Boyhood Sweetheart in Buenos Ayres.

DENISON, Ia., June 3.—(Special.)—Denison sent one man to Alaska who in the end made a good thing. Mr. L. A. Jones, brother of the cashier of the Crawford County State bank, had varying fortunes, but held on until he now has valuable gold mining properties near Fairbanks. After his fortune was assured he went from his extreme north home to Buenos Ayres, South America, and married a boyhood sweet heart, who was an artist in that city. He took his bride to Fairbanks for one winter, and then they both returned to Iowa. He started this week for

GOVERNOR GARST CONFIDENT

In Interview at Mason City He Says His Nomination Depends on Getting Out the Vote.

MASON CITY, Ia., June 3.—(Special Telegram.)—"My nomination next Tuesday hinges on getting out the vote of the state," was the declaration of Governor Garst to friends while holding a public reception in this city this morning. Last night he addressed the people of Charles City and tonight he spoke at Clarion.

Flags Stolen from Veterans' Graves.

MASON CITY, Ia., June 3.—(Special.)—Citizens of Garner, twenty miles west of here, are up in arms over barbarous vandalism perpetrated last evening. Some one went to the cemetery, desecrated the graves in a shocking manner of all the fallen heroes of the civil war that are there buried, and stole the flags that marked their resting place. John T. Bush, one of the prominent citizens has offered a reward of $25 for information that will lead to the conviction of the guilty party or parties. The feeling is running so high against such a flagrant violation of decency and respect that the reward will be raised to several hundred dollars in hopes of finding the culprit.

Married Sixty Years.

IDA GROVE, Ia., June 3.—(Special.)—Mr. and Mrs. James Smith celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary here Thursday. He is 59 years of age and she is 55. They were married in Ireland, June 2, 1850, came to America in 1858 and located at Syracuse, N. Y., coming west in 1861 to Preston, Jackson county, Iowa. They came to Ida Grove in 1894 and have since made their home with their daughter, Mrs. Crowley. There are four generations living in the family, five children, twelve grandchildren and five great grandchildren, and all were present at the reunion.

Pupil with Unusual Record.

NABHUA, Ia., June 3.—(Special.)—Here is a record for punctuality that is hard to equal. Lou Harrison, son of W. P. ### ANOTHER BREAK IN STOCKS

New Low Records for Year in Union Pacific and St. Paul.

STEEL AND SMELTING ALSO DROP

Heaviness During the Last Hour is Accentuated by Heavy Selling for London Account—Entire List Affected.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Following a fairly strong opening with some irregularity during the morning session the stock market became suddenly weak at noon today with a general crumbling of prices.

United States Steel, which has recently been the strongest of the active stocks, sold below its recent low level, touching 7 1/4 at 1:30 o'clock.

Much pressure was directed against the Hariman issues, particularly Union Pacific, which sold at the lowest price of the year. St. Paul again touched its lowest level of the year and Reading declined 3 points or more. On the stock exchange the heavy selling of the noon hour was regarded as liquidation of long accounts.

Many stop-loss orders were uncovered on decline, particularly in United States Steel, which was the principal object of attack by an active bear faction. The market weakness was attributed in the main to further pessimism resulting from the government's move against railroads and unfavorable reports of general business conditions.

The break in Union Pacific reached 3 1/2, Reading, 4 1/2; Southern Pacific, St. Paul, New York Central, United States Steel, Amalgamated Copper, American Car and American Locomotive, 4 1/4; Northern Pacific and American Smelting, 3 1/4, and many others from 2 to 3 points.

The heaviness in the last hour was accompanied by large sales for London account. The center had been a heavy purchaser here on balance during the early session, but seemed to completely reverse its attitude towards this market later in the day. The London selling was chiefly in Union Pacific and United States Steel. Private advices from London reported formation in Americans on the curb long after the close of regular stock exchange business.

ERDMAN SWEARS AT WITNESS

electric battery," he said. "Then somebody said it was like dynamite."

"If it's dynamite, I wish it would go off," Francis said, as the witness continued.

"When Francis said that she began to kick the grip, and we all waited to see it go off. We thought dynamite was like fire crackers."

Deputy County Attorney Platt opened the hearing by reading the complaint. It charged Erdman with assault against Tom Dennison with intent to kill, and specified three counts. The counts related first to the plot against Dennison, second to the devising of the bomb and finally to the actual placing of the infernal machine.

nison, told the story of the finding of the infernal machine by the playing children. Smith told of the mysterious demolition of a house at Louisville by an explosion on May 17.

Cross examination of the witness, Meyers, caused several laughs. He was grilled searchingly as to the appearance of Erdman on the latter's alleged visit to the saloon in Louisville where Meyers was bartender. Attorney Yeiser, with persistent questions, sought to learn what manner of hat and clothing the suspect had worn.

"The hat wasn't calling for any drinks," the witness answered, "so I didn't pay much attention to it."

Upon being asked if he could remember the facial distinctions of W. J. Bryan in the same way he had recalled those of the prisoner, he faltered. "I shook hands with Mr. Bryan once," he said, "but I didn't look at him very close."

"What's the color of Mr. Bryan's hair," asked Attorney Yeiser.

"Why it ought to be gray by this time," said the witness.

TAFT ON LIFE'S PURSUITS

the ministry, in speaking of the possibilities of the newspaper business Mr. Taft said:

"The business of furnishing news to a people is like the business of furnishing their entertainment from the stage. An editor is unable to understand the current events of the day unless he has a certain amount of news, and he must study the subjects and the methods of treating them that he finds in the modern successful newspaper. Few newspaper proprietors have such patronage as to enable them to make their newspaper that which they think a newspaper ought to be, and they are obliged in their papers to consult that which they regard as the public taste and the public desire."

"While the editor occupies the position of an instructor of public taste and ought to exercise the function as such with more constancy and courage than he usually does, the limitations that there are upon him by reason of the public demand, those of us who would criticize the press hardly appreciate. Certainly journalism is a profession in which men of discriminating intelligence, of high courage, of accurate judgment, of a love of truth and real patriotism, can find a sphere of usefulness unexcelled in any other, and such men are needed, for if the standards set by some of the most successful of the newspapers in lack of truth, in coarseness and unfairness of criticism, shall not improve in the next generation it will vindicate the pessimists of today."

"I refer to a class of newspapers and magazines that are properly criticized as 'muck rakers,' that rely for their circulation on the vicious and unfounded attacks upon the honesty and upright character and patriotic motives of men in public life, and upon those conspicuous and prominent socially. This muck raking is an outgrowth and probably the unavoidable aftermath of a laudable and necessary attack upon abuses which had shown themselves in a form of corporate greed and control of politics."

"It was necessary to have a house-cleaning in this regard and Mr. Roosevelt led the movement and much has been accomplished in clarifying business methods. In the doing of it he was himself the foremost to denounce those who took advantage of the general condition of popular suspicion and filled their purses by unfounded attacks upon men in public office struggling conscientiously to do their duty. But this muck raking episode will pass. Indeed I hope it is passing, and for the best of reasons, because the people are beginning to see what it really is, are refusing to be influenced by it and thus are not making the contributions to the pockets of the muck rakers, which is their only motive for continuing their business.

and the change which has taken place in the influence of the editorial writer, and the increased importance of the statement of the news, the influence of the college-bred journalist must continue to be of the greatest weight. It needs a trained mind, a judicial temperament, quick perceptions and a high standard of integrity and self-respect, together with a nice and graphic literary touch, to make the leading special correspondent of the paper, which in many respects is now its most influential part, what it should be. It is a field well worth the ambition of any to succeed in. It has many temptations. It has rewards which may be permanent and solid, or as the correspondent yields to its temptations, may be merely temporary."
