American Indian Children Growing Up in Ways of the White Man civilization have the evidences of education been so pronounced as at the present time and under the present system of Indian school supervision and The imitative nature of the is cultivated and brought into evidence. Obedience is impressed upon the mind, in the work of dicipline, until the whole being seems to yield to the will and command of the instructor. The moulding of the Indian child into an obedient imitative existence to do as commanded, and to act in harmony with others in all its movements, plays, sports, joys and labors, to do as others do, and to not do the things which tend to incivility, coarseness and inhumanity, is doing much today to bring the young Indian boys and girls to a higher plane of civilized life. Only a few years ago and this would have been thought impossible.

The work of the lodian school at Rapid City, S. D., was recently brought to our attention while attending the annual meeting of the Southwestern South Dakota Cattle Growers' convention, which was being held there. The exhibitions given on the streets of Rapid City by the Indian boys and girls of this school, under the direction and command of the instructors and managers of the school were of a maracter to attract the attention and re-Seive the applause and commendation of Joyed, seemingly, at what he sees or what exercises were directed by Chief Disciplin- or silly, impulsive nonsense with these coys cultivation, devoted to raising all the original control of the control of t all who witnessed them.

Indian Child out Hilarious.

These children in age were from 7 to 17 years old, and were divided into companies of forty to fifty, according to age maneuvers, though of a quite difficult form, brass band of a dozen instruments. and size; there being about 300 present, were gone through with as much case and. These exercises were of a very high order all of whom took part in the exercises and accuracy as though these companies had in matter of perfectness in drill and train- The Rapid City Indian school is situated educational work is quite modern and up- this school she is equipped in every acseemed perfectly at home, quiet, contented, served a term in the regular army. The ing. Prof. Balmer speaks in strong praise two miles west of the city, in a beautiful to-date. There are eighteen buildings in all, quired qualification for making a good Cheyenne River, Tongue River, The Crows, orderly, though in no sense oppressed nor elevated platform exhibition which was of the Indian boys and girls in his depart. little valley on a government farm or re- used for the various purposes and demands home. on the contrary over Joyful. The Indian given on the streets with the dumb bells ment of the work. They are orderly, quiet serve of 1,360 acres of rich agricultural of the school. The present capacity for The live stock on the farm consists of and the Santee Sloux of north Nebraska.

CLOB DRILL

The military exercises, drilling and direction of the music by the Indian boys' ing and civility in meeting strangers.

he does. He is rather a matter of fact in- arian Prof. W. H. Balmer, who by taps and girls," remarked the professor. Sev- nary facm crops usual in this section of the dividual, and can perform all his tasks and signs made the Indian clubs keep per- eral small boys and girls near by were country, wheat, oats, barley, rye, corn, and his gymnasium stunts with the som- feet time with the performers, which was called by Prof. Balmer and introduced to potatoes, garden crops, etc. Tame hays are ber gravity of an old-time war chief. also observed in every movement under the writer, as an illustration of their train- being started, alfalfa is the main hay crop, which is growing successfully and makes the main dependence for winter feed.

Location of School.

child is not hilarious, bolstrous and over- and Indian clubs were without fault. These and try to imitate. There is no foolishness lands. Several hundred acres are under handling students is 200 boys and girls. cattle, mainly the milk cows, mentioned, busy at all times, but not tire it at any an educational view point.

eight instructors, busy all the time in founded. fraining and teaching. Dairying is taught with all its improved methods and ap- From Whence Come These Children? pliances for successfully carrying on this dairying for family; in fact, everything other warring tribes of Indiana.

Additional improvements and increased twenty head of work horses, swine and capacity are planned for the near future, poultry, all of which become an educational Boys' and girls' dormatories are provided, asset to the farm and school, as overyand every attention is given that perfect thing becomes a feature of study in some order and system be observed in each de- relation. The study of grains, seeds, their partment of the work. The main principle sowing, planting, cultivation, harvesting, n discipline exercised is to keep the child storage, etc., are all given attention from one thing. Part of the day is devoted to One of the main features of improvement study, a part to work and a part to play, for this year is the construction of a water by this means the mind is kept alive, the system to irrigate the thishle lands and physical condition healthy and the child supply the buildings and grounds with all the needed water. This will be installed in Boys are taught farming by actual labor view of getting the best and most up-towith teams and machinery, blacksmithing, date equipment now in use. It is plain to carpenter work, the manual training de- the visitor that this institution is located partment teaches the use of tools of all right, and has now the evidence of its kinds. Engineering, the operation of steam results that are to make it one of the engines, in fact all manner of mechanics greatest educational institutions for the and trades are taught. There are twenty- Indian boy and girl that the country has industry. There are 130 milk cows kept on the farm, a large barn for housing them do they come from? This question naturand a separate creamery building for tak. ally arises in the mind of the observer and ing care of the milk, butter and cheese his own answer would be, "They are all of products which are manufactured, and one tribe or nation, so like in feature, manused mainly on the farm in feeding the ner and general characteristics." This is students and operating force of the school. Practically true, they are the descendants The girls' departments are fully and com. of the Sloux warriors, possibly the strongpletely provided with every convenience for est bred nation of red men that America their instruction. They are taught sewing, has ever known, and in times of early setmending and the making of garments, tlement the most dangerous and cruel in Washing, ironing, cooking, housekeeping, their conflicts with the white settler or that could be classed as domestic science. These children are brought to the school or household economics. The girls are at by their parents and are clothed, fed and all times required to observe nestness, educated by the government. They reprecleanliness and general tidiness in their sent the following tribes or present-day The equipment of this farm and its dress and person. When the girl leaves Indian reservations: Pine Ridge, Rose Port Peck and Fort Bellknap of Montana, G. W. HERVEY.

(Copyright, 1910, by Bobbs-Merrill Co.)

"Mother had a nurse, and I was alone a I knew had-had-" home at dawn, suddenly grown convented away from her a trifle. I was brumoved away from her a trifle. I was brutal, but the whole story was a long torture. I think she knew what I was sufferture. I think she knew what I was suffertor the room bright and encertu. Of the room and its contents, of the ginme." Then she closed the door and left It was empty.

Then she closed the door and left It was empty.

Then she closed the food and left It was empty.

Then she closed the door and left It was empty.

The place for the door by which I had entered.

None at dawn, suddenly grown convented to the room and its contents, of the ginme." Then she closed the door and left It was empty.

None of us was comfortable. The place for the door by which I had entered.

The place for the door by which I had entered.

The place for the door by which I had entered.

The place for the door by which I had entered.

The place for the door by which I had entered.

The place for the door by which I had entered.

The place for the door by which I had entered.

The place for the door by which I had entered.

The place for the door by which I had entered.

The place for the door by which I had entered.

The place for the door by which I had entered.

The place for the door by which I had entered.

The place for the door by which I had entered.

The place for the door by which I had entered.

The place for the door by which I had entered.

The place for the door by which I had entered.

The place for the form in the room and its contents, of the ginme." The she closed the food and its contents, of the ginme." The she closed the food and its contents, of the ginme." The she closed the food and its contents, of the ginme." The she closed the food and its contents, of the ginme." The she closed the food and its contents, of the ginme." The she closed the food and its contents, of the ginme." The she closed the food and its contents, of the ginme." The she closed the food and its contents.

The place for the food an ing, for she showed no resentment.

draw my shoulders we che at levity. "Go on."

few weeks had been fired by what she speech. told me. If Sullivan had come across the "Married!" she said finally, in a small sards just then, I think I would have voice.

"Did you marry him?" I demanded. My came." voice sounded hoarse and strange in my great deal, and they were very kind to me. about him." I-I saw a lot of them. The brother rather I sat down on the edge of the boat and the handkerchief, a sordid story of a bad been full of swift-following events—

CHAPTER XXVIII-Continued.

I saw a lot of them. The brother rather I sat down on the edge of the boat and the handkerchief, a sordid story of a bad been full of swift-following events—

I saw a lot of them. The brother rather I sat down on the edge of the boat and the handkerchief, a sordid story of a bad been full of swift-following events—

I saw a lot of them. The brother rather I sat down on the edge of the boat and the handkerchief, a sordid story of a bad been full of swift-following events—

I saw a lot of them. The brother rather I sat down on the edge of the boat and the handkerchief, a sordid story of a bad been full of swift-following events—

I saw a lot of them. attracted me, partly-partly because he did mopped my hot face. I was heartly motor trip in the nountains without Mrs. not make love to me. He even seemed to ashamed of myself, and mingled with my Curtis, of a lost road and a broken car. avoid me, and I was piqued. I had been abssement was a great relief. If she and a rainy night when they-she and Sul- from the doomed train, the dinner at the mother and nurse played cribbage eternally, light, like this." of thing before, and I-well, I have paid member that, won't you?"

"I know that, too," I said bitterly, and portance.

and we had a dreadful time. I was dragged ately." home like a bad child. Did anybody ever "Of course, they were not your kind," I do that to you?"

orphan," I said, with a cheerless attempt Sullivan's employ. If he had pretended thing. She wrote me charming letters, and rington, was his wife's father. And I'll in the summer, when they went to Cresson, see him hang by the neck yet if it takes she asked me to visit her there. I was too every energy and every penny I possess." would be an unpleasant story."

you marry him?" "No."

You-cared about him?" "No," she said finally. "I did not care the one I thrust into her wet fingers.

I drew a long breath.

apolled, I suppose. Most of the other men had not married him, and had not cared livan, tramped eternally and did not get Dallases, and Richey's discovery that Allfor him, nothing else was of any im-home. And of Mrs. Curtis, when they got succession had come our visit to the Carter.

home at dawn, suddenly grown conventor portance.

driven into my brain. And when Mrs. Cur- in her lap. "I know," I acknowledged re- looked at me over the handkerchief. tis arranged drives and picnics, I-I slipped pentantly, "and-people do queer things "I know it's funny," she said, with a son, and later the confession that he was away and went. I suppose you won't be- when it is moonlight. The moon has got catch in her breath. "When I think that out of the running. lieve me, but I had never done that kind me tonight, Alison. If I am a boor, re- I rearly married a murderer-and didn't-

"What sort of looking onap was Suill- 10, she went on what a first of won't be responsible if you keep on was at that moment in the drive below my pacing back and forward on the sand. I the time I felt that there was something crying like that. I may forget that I window, resting his long legs by sitting pacing back and forward on the sand. I the time repet to the sand of the sand would say or do something that gave me head, and that I may be arrested at any that made the night hideous. The sense "Very handsome-as large as you are, a queer start, as if she had dropped a moment." drew my shoulders up sharply. I am with the servants; they were almost inso- chief at once. "I meant to be so helpful." tied, and Johnson looked up and grinned. straight enough, but I was fairly sagging lent. I couldn't understand. I don't know with fealous rage. when it dawned on me that the old Baron "When mother began to get around. Cavalcanti had been right when he said somebody told her that I had been going they were not my kind of people. But I about with Mrs. Curtis and her brother, wanted to get away, wanted it desper-

to marry you I would have killed him. Not "If Mrs. Curtis knew, she never said any- only that, but the man be murdered, Harproud to let her know that I could not go I could have told her so much more shere I wished, and so-I sent Polly, my gently, have broken the shock for her; I mald, to her aunt's in the country, pre- have never been proud of that evening on terded to go to Seal Harbor, and really- the sand. I was alternately a boor and a went to Cresson. You see I warned you it ruffian-like a hurt youngster who passes the blow that has hurt him on to his play-I went over and stood in front of her, mate, that both may bawl together. And All the accumulated jealousy of the last now Alison sat, white and cold, without

"Why, I don't think it is possible. strangled him with my hands, out of pure is it? I-I was on my way to Baltimore to marry him myself, when the wreck

"But you said you didn't care for him?" "That's all I want to know. Did I protested, my heavy masquine mind unable to jump the gaps in her story. And then, without the slightest warning. I real-ing clearer.

panic-stricken. I locked him in and ran, of the restaurant"-he was abviously avoidkilled a man."

like Sam. "All-ee," he called. "All-ee; bring him, bless him," detectives, say on Monday. If you wou'd the next morning that I had folded my 555.23. The state is turning over to the tell that, and-how the end of your neck. tents like the Arabs and silently stolen lace got into the sealskin bag-" isn't mine. I picked it up in the car." there. I'm making a julep!"

hands. "Coming in a moment. Sam." she the influence of my tobacco, and spoke at got two arms and a revolver, and you've these things and perform many other. Senator Jacob Gallinger of said, and rose. Sam is home. We would better go back gallows, dilating on the absurdity of cut- right, and there is a row, you crawl under tenarian pastime of leaping up in the servation had been that almost every are the only girl in the world. You know that night.

going to kiss you!"

so, under fire, we walked sedately back thing was wrong. to the house. My pulses were throbbingwhen we reached the steps, the heart convention!" he said cheerfully. "The others are not here yet."

had not seen Alison alone again. The would go out; I want to bathe." noise was at its height below, and I liard room, was Johnson.

CHAPTER XXIX.

chief, and failing to find it, she accepted after the wreck. The previous five days had been full of swift-following eventsture in the theater of a man about to leap Hotchkiss producing triumphantly Stuart and an old cavalry saber.

I rearly married a murderer—and didn't—
I cry for sheer joy." Then she buried her entire week and its events were two sides of the ridiculous is very close to the sense she said, "and I've thought of nothing but We said nothing. I held up a handful of myself! There were some things I wanted cigars, he extended his hat, and when I enough, both of them, under it all, and The apartment, save in the hallway, was to tell you. If Jennie was-what you say, finally went to sleep, it was to a soothing then I understand why she came to me breeze that wafted in salt air and a faint I was serious, too," just before I left. She had been packing groma of good tobacco. I was thoroughly my things and she must have seen what tired, but I slept restlessly, dreaming of condition I was in, for she came over to two detectives with Pittsburg warrants "I'm not easer to be locked away, but, by ing door. I carried a handful of matches, cried. "The man was married. The girl me when I was getting my wraps on, to being held up by Hotchkiss at the point of jove, to offer her the stolen notes in ex- and by the time I had passed through a "Nobody ever cared. I was born an Jennie, a housemaid, was a spy in Mrs. leave, and said, 'Don't do it, Miss West, a splint, while Alison fastened their hands change for Sullivan!" I beg you won't do it; you'll be sorry ever with a chain that was broken and much after.' And just then Mrs. Curtis came in too short. I was roused about dawn by a know," McKnight remonstrated, "and we then the situation had been merely unlight rap at the door, and, opening it, I found Forbes, in a pair of trousers and a "No. As we went through the station pyjama coat. He was as pleasant as most the telegraph operator gave Har-Mr. Sul- flesty people are when they have to get livan a message. He read it on the plat- up at night, and he said the telephone form, and it excited him terribly. He took had been ringing for an hour, and he his sister aside and they talked together, didn't know why somebody else in the He was white with either fear or anger- blankety-blank house couldn't have heard boarded the train, a woman in black, with As he was palpably asleep on his feet, I beautiful hair, who was standing on the left him grumbling and went to the telecar platform, touched him on the arm and phone. It proved to be Richey, who had then drew back. He looked at her and found me by the simple expedient of trac-

"I don't sleep with one in my pocket, "Mrs. Curtis and I had the drawing I retorted, "but if you'll hold the line I'll room. I had a dreadful night, just sleep- call out the window to Johnson. He's im asleep at the farm house, I-I was timore. Then-the other woman, the lady I don't know why he did it, but-he had ing names-"she is playing our cards for us. No-I don't know why, and I don't Some one was calling Alison through a care. But you be at the Incubator tonight megaphone, from the veranda. It sounded at 8 o'clock. If you can't shake Johnson, have not recovered from the surprise of "I wonder," I reflected, "If you would be my unexpected arrival, my one appearance away. For at 5:30 Johnson and I. the "My nocklace!" she repeated. "But it former as uninquisitive as ever, were on she?" he inquired irrelevantly. our way through the dust to the station. ting out the former free passes to see the a table." "Don't," I begged her. "Anchovies and affair in operation. I remember, too, that "The deuce I will?" I declared score times. She is not a Christian Scientist, "crank" on the matter of correct living

"Johnson!" I could hear the laugh with When we found Harry had disappeared in which McKnight comprehended the situa-

But Sam's voice came strident through Mrs. Klopton received me with dignified hear-or feel-the throb of the Cannon- my hand shake when I tried to strike a the megaphone. "Be good, you two," he reserve. The very tone in which she asked ball's engine,

"New-what is it, Mrs. Klopton?" I dethe little swish of her dress beside me on manded finally, when she had informed the grass was pain and ecstasy. I had me, in a patient and long suffering tone, but to put out my hand to touch her, and that she felt worn out and thought she needed a rest. "When I lived with Mr. Justice glasses, bent over the rail and watched Springer," she began acidly, her mending basket in her hands, "it was an orderly, "Home early, aren't you?" Alison called, well conducted household. You can ask any of the neighbors. Meals were cooked "Led a club when my partner had and, what's more, they were eaten; there was none of this 'here one day and gone the next' business."

"Nonsense," I observed. "You're tired, Three hours later I went up to bed. I that's all, Mrs. Klopton. And I wish you

"That's not all," she said with dignity, glanced down into the garden, still bright from the doorway. "Women coming and in the moon light. Leaning against a going here, women whose shoes I am not tree, and staring interestedly into the bil- fit-I mean, women who are not fit to woman is in; you heard me ask the eleva- him. touch my shoes-coming here as insolent tor boy. For 2 cents I'd-" as you please, and asking for you."

"Good heavens!" I exclaimed. "What did you tell them-her, whichever it was?" "Told her you were sick in a hospital and wouldn't be out for a year!" she said triumphantly. "And when she said she thought she'd come in and wait for you, I slammed the door on her." "What time was she here?" "Late last night. And she had a light-for Sullivan and his subsequent discomfiture; McKnight at the station with Alison, and later the confession that he was is for the benefit of our friend Hotchkies

"Draw up a chair and help yourself to said. "If she's here alone, we will startle after aeons of search, I found a knob and her into a spasm. One of us could take a stumbled into the reception hall, I was as son, and later the confession that he was is for the benefit of our friend Hotchkies is for the benefit of our treat man and "What here, who says he is a small man and "What thing?"

himself and mopped his face.

he said pompously, "and we may need was mine, primarily. desperate means."

McKnight jibed. But they were serious wards." when they had told me what they planned, unlighted. By one of those freaks of ar-

"You're compounding a felony." I re-won't have, if we don't start. Come along. Fide." to Hotchkiss.

The plan was simplicity itself. According to Hotchkiss, Sullivan was to meet Bronson at Mrs. Conway's apartment, at 8:30 that night, with the notes. He was to be paid there and the papers destroyed. "But just before that interesting finale," McKnight ended, "we will walk in take a keen desire to get back to the place I the notes, grab Sullivan, and give the police a jolt that will put them out of the count.

I suppose not one of us, slewing around corners in the machine that night, had the faintest doubt that we were on the right track, or that fate, scurvy enough before, was playing into our hands at last. Little Hotchkiss was in a state of fever; he == alternately twitched and examined the revolver, and a fear that the two movements might be synchronous kept me uneasy. He produced and dilated on the acrap of pillow slip from the wreck, and showed me the stiletto, with its point in cotton batting for safekeeping. And in the intervals he implored Richey not to make such finecalculations at the corners.

We were all grave enough and very quiet, however, when we reached the large building where Mrs. Conway had her apartment. McKnight left the power on in case we might want to make a quick get-away, and Hotchkiss gave a final look at his revolver. I had no weapon. Somehow it seemed melodramatic to the verge of farce. In the doorway Hotchkiss was a half dozen feet ahead; Richey fell back beside me. He dropped his affectation of gayety, and I thought he looked tired. "Same old Sam, I suppose?" he asked.

"Same, only more of him." "I suppose Alison was there? How is "Very well. I did not see her this morn-"All-eef" Sam again. 'I see you down three miles away, and by that afternoon ing." Hotchkiss was waiting near the ele- milking before breakfast, or how many magazine article. She has always "done we were in Washington. The journey had vator. McKnight put his hand on my arm. handsprings she can turn in swift suc- jest what she wants to"-and she is 98-Allson turned and called through her bean uneventful. Johnson relaxed under "Now, look here, old man," he said. "I've coaston. It is probable she can do all and "that is going some." "It must be very late: same length on the latest improvements in got one arm and a splint. If Hotchkiss is feats besides, including the popular cen- Hampshire, said recently that his oband through the open window we could day's dinner, the distance from barn to congressman, "Where are we at?"

"I've got the binoculars!" And me when I would dire told me that some- "Well, Sherlock," McKnight said, "what's I braced myself against the table and the next move in the game? Is it our struck the match sharply against the sole jump, or theirs? You brought us here." of my shoe. It flickered fraintly and went No sound of conversation penetrated the ing, another dish went off the table. It heavy doors. We waited uneasily for some fell with a thousand splinterings; the very minutes, and Hotchkiss looked at his air seemed broken into crashing waves of watch. Then he put it to his ears.

cocked on one side, "I believe it has match, and listened. I had not long to stopped. I'm afraid we are late."

We were late. My watch and Hotchkiss' agreed at 9 o'clock, and, with the discovery that our man might have come and gone, our zest in the adventure began to flag. McKnight motioned us away from the door I could hear the thud of his tall on the last time long and vigorous, without result. Then he turned and looked at us.

was ajar about an inch, and a narrow, somewhere or other around here, and wedge of rose-colored light showed then-" beyond. I pushed the door a little and I stumbled over something, and I drew listened. Then, with both men at my heels, back my foot almost instantly. "Did I I stepped into the private corridor of the step on you, old man?" I exclaimed, and apartment and looked around. It was a bent to pat him. I remember straightening square reception hall, with rugs on the suddenly and hearing the dog pad softly tofloor, a tall mahogany rack for hats, and a ward me around the table. I recall even that couple of chairs. A lantern of rose-colored I had put the matches down and could not haired man across the street. If she glass and a desk light over a writing table find them. Then, with a bursting horror

"What was that? Didn't you hear some-

Hotchklas, who had been trying to get The sound, whatever it had been, was the wrong end of a cartridge into the bar- not repeated. We went awkwardly out rel of one of the revolvers, straightened into the hall, very uncomfortable, all of us, and flipped a coin. The choice fell to "We have desperate people to handle," me, which was right enough, for the affair

"Walt just inside the door," I directed, "Hotchkiss is like the small boy whose "and if Sullivan comes, or anybody that one ambition is to have people grow ashen thaswers his description, grab him without and tremble at the mention of his name," ceremony and ask him questions after-> rangement possible only in a modern flat, I found the kitchen first, and was struck butler's pantry and the refrigerator room I comfortable; suddenly it became grisly. From somewhere near came a long-sustained groan, followed almost instantly by the crash of something-glass or china-on the floor.

I struck a fresh match, and found myself in a narrow rear hallway. Behind me was the door by which I must have come: with had started from, I opened the door and had kept my sense of direction, but I the resulting jangle, was the dining table, probably laid for dinner. I cursed my stupidity in getting into such a situation, and I cursed my nerves for making match. The groan had not been repeated. None of us knew just what to do next, out. And then, without the slightest warnsound. I stood still, braced against the "Good graclous!" he exclaimed, his head table, holding the red end of the dying wait; the groan came again, and I recognized it, the cry of a dog in straits. I breathed again.

"Come, old fellow," I said. "Come on. old man. Let's have a look at you."

and rang the bell. There was no response, floor, but he did not move. He only whimno sound within. He rang it twice, the pered. There is something companionable in the presence of a dog, and I fancied this dog in trouble. Slowly I began to "I don't half like this," he said. "That work my way around the table toward

"Good boy," I said, as he whimpered. I had seen it when he did. The door "We'll find the light, which ought to be thought I didn't see him, she don't know across made the room bright and cheerful, of the room and its contents, of the gib-ire. I think she knew what I was sufferone, for she showed no resentment.

"It was early and there were few people There were no neighbors, but we fished disappearance from the train. It was so round—none that I cared about. And and rode and motored, and—it was moononther and nurse played cribbage eternally, light, like this."

"It was early and there were few people There were no neighbors, but we fished disappearance from the train. It was so this its serio-comic horrors and its one real McKnight. They were bending over a such instinct made McKnight suggest discovery by the police table, on which lay McKnight's total armato me, inspite of my rage against Sullion the showed no resentment.

"It was early and there were few people There were no neighbors, but we fished disappearance from the train. It was so the instinct made McKnight suggest discovery by the police table, on which lay McKnight's total armato me, inspite of my rage against Sullion the discovery by the police table, on which lay McKnight's total armato me, inspite of my rage against Sullion the sealskin bag and the bit of chain; ment—a pair of pistols, an elephant gun

The sealskin bag and the bit of chain; ment—a pair of pistols, an elephant gun

The sealskin bag and the bit of chain; ment—a pair of pistols, an elephant gun

The sealskin bag and the bit of chain; ment—a pair of pistols, an elephant gun

The sealskin bag and the made us I could not find it. I felt along the endCresson trip stood out in my memory for Incubator, where I found Hotchkiss and feel the weakness of our position. Some less walnaccting, past miles of wall. The such as the made us I could not find it. I felt along the endCresson trip stood out in my memory for Incubator, where I found Hotchkiss and feel the weakness of our position. Some less walnaccting, past miles of wall. The such as the made us I could not find it. I felt along the endCresson trip stood out in my memory for Incubator, where I found Hotchkiss and feel the weakness of our position.

' I was myself again in a second, and by the light from the hall I led the way back to the tragedy I had stumbled on. Bronson still sat at the table, his elbows propped on it, his cigarette still lighted, burning a hole in the cloth. Partly under the table lay Mrs. Conway, face down. The dog stood over her and wagged his tail.

McKnight pointed silently to a large copper ash tray, filled with ashes and charred bits of paper. "The notes, probably," he said ruefully.

"He got them after all, and burned them before her. It was more than she could stand. Stabbed him first and then her-Hotchkiss got up and took off his hat.

"They are dead," he announced solemnly, and took his note book out of his hat band. McKnight and I did the only things we could think of-drove Hotchkiss and the dog out of the room, and closed and locked the door. "It's a matter for the police."

an officer tied to you, somewhere, Lawrence? You usually have." We left Hotchkiss in charge and went downstairs. It was McKnight who first saw Johnson, leaning against a park railing across the street, and called him over. We told him in a few words what we had found, and he grinned at me cheerfully. attempted to cross the room. I thought Mr. Blakeley," he said, "when you get tired "After while, in a few weeks or months. crashed without warning into what, from and finger print specialist upstairs, you come to me. I've had that fellow you want under surveillance for ten days!"

McKnight asserted. "I suppose you've got

(To be Continued.)

Go It as You Please

clining years.

N OLD colored woman at Brazil, tobacco bag, and the inadequacy of latin Ind,-the word old is used ad- dry revenues to meet the increased exvisedly, for she is 98-attributes pense of chicken and chitlings.

her long life and good health Brazil's oldest inhabitant wouldn' to the fact that she has, as she recognize a rule of health if she meexpresses it, "always done jest it in the road. She wouldn't know a sanwhat I wants to." She is the oldest resident Station bulletin from a Sunday school of town and county, and no one disputes tract. The English alphabet is as unher claim to that often clusive title intelligible to her as Sanskrit. She has "the oldest inhabitant." According to practiced no scheme of physical culture a correspondent of the Indianapolis more elaborate than is involved in mani-News, "she is strong and robust, has per- curing a pair of black hands on the feet bearing, good eyesight, and a clear, seamy side of a washboard. Doubtless bright mind." She has chewed and she has consumed coffee in large quantismoked since she was a child and finds ties and has indulged in something tobacco "de great comfort" of her de- stronger at times. In short, she probably has vidiated every regulation of The public is not advised as to how right living that has been formulated not many miles she is able to walk in a from the days of Hippocrates to the day, how many cows she is capable of data of Dr. Woods-Hutchinson's latest air and cracking her heels together three man in this country, who had been a have you such a little time. I suppose I permits a man about to be hanged to cat We crowded out of the elevator at the kind of scientist. She is oblivious to where in the seventics, and it will be an only one of a dozen or so, but—you a hearty meal. I did not cajoy my dinner fourth floor, and found ourselves in a the theories of new thought and to the conceded that he had some oppornor a pagan scientist, nor any other had died young. The senator is some rather theatrical hallway of draperies and fads of new medicine and no medicine, tunities for observation. What a joit is Before we got into Washington I had armor. It was very quiet: we steed un- If she has a subconscious mind she is there for living by rule of three or Sam was whistling, an irritating bird made an arrangement with Johnson to sur- certainly after the car had gone, and not aware of it, and she has pondered thirty-three! Physicians, dietitians, and call, over and over. She pursed her red render myself at 2 the following afternoon, looked at the two or three doors in sight no problems more serious than the re- diagnosticians dying young and the poorlips and answered him in kind. It was Also, I had wired to Alison, asking her if They were heavy, covered with metal, and lation between supply and demand as ap-houses filled with centenarians, who she would carry out the contract she had sound proof. From somewhere above came plied to bacon and corn meal; the when- haven't bathed since they were bables. "Sam or ro Sam." I said firmly, "I am made. The detective saw me home, and the metallic accuracy of a player plano, ceness and wherewithat of next Sun- In the immortal language of the Georgia

Good Roads in Empire State

eastern states put together, not the roads of the state. excluding Massachusetts. There ... The upkeep of motor cars," says Mr. are now 2,000 miles of state roads Lyon, "will this year be reduced 40 per more under construction. There are macadam roads totalling in mileage verts and bridges repaired. Towns have constructed $,000 miles of gravel roads, in first-class condition. To keep these roads in navigable, so to article, shape means work, systematic, unof people. The state is divided into nine districts, with Frank D. Lyon, deputy commissioner of the state highway department, in actual charge of these. divided into fifty-four counties under the supervision of fifty-four superintendents, need of repair.

HERE are in the Empire State Work of construction and regair is now 80,000 miles of roads, greater at its height, and Mr. Lyon's report of mileage of which is improved recent date showed that on one particular highway than all of the other day there were 26,000 men and teams on cent, in my mind, on account of repairs to highways being made." 2.400 miles, constructed by towns. There Towns are this year raising by taxes for are more than 40,000 miles of earth roads, highway improvement the sum of $2,504,properly shaped and crowned, stones picked and removed, depressions filled, cultowns to aid them in this work $1,593,070. Bridge work in 1910 is to cost $628.414.63. The amount to be paid out for new machinery is $180,011.25. Special road improve-

700.22, making in all $5.185.877.33 to be expended by towns this year. The state is to bond itself for $10,000,000 for the construction of state roads. Towns Each and counties are to be called upon to proment, in actual charge of these. Each vide as their share $5,000,000. The state Don't, I begged her. / Anchovies and district has a superintendent, an assistant vide as their share $5,000,000. The state juleps and Sam will go on forever, and I he mentioned the curious anomaly that fully. the maintenance of state roads already constructed. who in turn are answerable to the nine The sum of $21,985,877.33 is to be expended I love you, don't you, dear?" assistants to Mr. Lyon. Then it is further in one year, this year, for road construcsubdivided into 934 towns under 934 town tion and improvement throughout the great superintendents. By this system Commis- Empire State; that is, this amount is availsioner I won can reach within twenty-four able for the work and in all probability er notification any road in the will be utilized by the state department of highways.-Empire State Motorist.

ment in towns of the state is to cost $279 .-

ized that she was crying. She shook off my hand and fumbled for her handker-

Then, little by little, she told me from mother and nurse played cribbage eternally, light, like this.

until I felt as though the little pegs were. I put my hand over both of hers, clasped van, that I laughed aloud. At which she for Sullivan and his subsequent discom-

Her fingers lay quiet under mine. "And face and cried again. "What sort of looking chap was Suili- ro," she went on with a little sigh, "I- "Please don't," I protested unsteadily, to sn apex, a point, And the said apex mask for a moment. And there was trouble That brought her out of the handker- of tragedy. I opened my screen and whis-

"That was all!"

glanced away again, but she recled as if ing Alison, and he was jubilant. he had struck her."

"Then what?" The situation was grow- "Got a railroad schedule there?" ing a little now and then. I dreaded to see probably got one," dawn come. It was to be my wedding day. the night. Mrs. Curtis was in a frenzy, tion. He was still chuckling when I came Then-I saw his cigarette case in your back. his clothes. The murder was discovered said. "What time is it now?" and you were accused of it! What could "Four. Listen, Lollie. We've got him. I do? And then, afterward, when I saw Do you hear? Through the woman at Pal-

I'm going to have some anchovies on toast! To this day I believe the Sam Forbeses All-ee!" Neither of us heard. willing to repeat a part of that story- at dinner in Granger's clothes, and the just from the telegram on-to a couple of note on my dreser which informed them

Sam, armed with a megaphone and field us with gleeful malignity. doubled no-trumps, and she fainted. Damn don't know which. Then, when we it. He wouldn't get to sleep until noon.

IN THE DINING ROOM. That was Saturday night, two weeks

"You'll have to come back," he said.

hand. I had given it to him. You wore "Train to Richmond at 6:30 a. m.," I