Woman Sues Saloon Men for Husband's Death

Alleges that He Died from Excessive Drinking in Several Saloons. A suit for $15,000 has been filed in the district court by Mrs. Bridget Nichols against an Omaha hotel man, a druggist and six South Omaha saloon keepers in behalf of two minor children, Kathleen and Ruth Nichols. It is alleged in the complaint that Louis James Nichols, a young stockman of South Omaha, came to his death through excessive drinking of intoxicating liquor, which was done by the defendants named in the suit. In the petition it is asserted that Nichols was on a spree lasting from November 1, 1909, to April 18, 1910, and that he died as a result of his excessive drinking. His death occurred April 18, 1910.

Plumbers Defer Strike Action

Journeyman Will Await Decision of Master Plumbers' Association at Next Meeting. No plumbers' walkout will be called for next Monday, if at all, according to action taken by the local plumbers' union in a meeting at Labor temple last night. The union men decided, according to statements by several members, that they would let their demands for a raise rest until after the meeting of the Master Plumbers' association, Saturday night. The union submitted its demand to the association last week, and the latter laid them on the table, neither granting or rejecting them. A few of the boss plumbers, not connected with the association, have granted the plumbers an increase of forty-six cents a day, however, and as a result only a few of the employees remain to be given better pay. The union men conducted their meeting in strict secrecy last night, and the report given out at its close was without detail.

Witness Admits False Testimony

Man Testifying in Behalf of Divorcee Defendant Changes His Mind on Stand. H. W. Harvey, a witness in a divorce case in district court, had an embarrassing time of it before Judge Troup. He felt impelled to retract in the afternoon the testimony he had given in the morning. Harvey appeared because of business relations with Andrew Nison, the loyal hotel saloonkeeper, whose wife is suing for divorce. The hearing was on motion for $1,000 temporary alimony, and was an inquiry into the state of Nelson's finances. Harvey, coming on the stand in the morning, swore that May 25 he had paid Nelson $1,000 which he owed him. Presided by T. J. Nolan, counsel for Mrs. Nelson, Harvey swore that this money had been credited to his account with Benson & Myers, real estate dealers by whom he is employed. At noon, Mr. Nolan went to Harvey's office and demanded to see the entry on the books showing the credit to Harvey for money drawn and paid Nelson. Harvey refused. He was called back to the stand in the afternoon and then he broke down and admitted he did not pay the money as he had declared. He added that he and Nelson had agreed upon this testimony. Later Nelson denied this.

RUPTURE. I have a certain cure for rupture without resorting to a painful and uncertain surgical operation. I am the only reputable physician in this line of work who will take such cases for treatment upon a guarantee to cure, or make no charge. You may deposit the money in a bank in your city in your own name, and when you are satisfied a cure has been made you then instruct the bank to pay the money to me. If you are doing this you are absolutely certain of a cure, or it will cost you nothing. If I was not perfectly sure of my work I could not do business in this way very long, but instead have been doing so for 18 years, and adopted this plan because so many have been satisfied by quicks and fakers. Not one of them will permit a patient to deposit his money until a cure has been made. When taking my treatment patients must come to my office, and if they live near by, can return home the same day. Call or write for literature.
