WITH A PUG NOSE Working Crew Puts on the Near-

Comic Opera with Eclat. STEREOTYPERS ARE GUESTS

Enrollment in Ak-Sar-Ben is Nearly

to the Thousand Mark and Moving Fast-State Speakers Boost Omaha.

"Halley's Pug-Nosed Comet." a near comic opera in seven acts, played by the Ak-Sar-Ben cast at the Den Monday, a hair-raising auto-aero ride by Otto Nestman, and the inintiation of a class of 250 candidates, made last night's celebration one that will not soon be forgottenat least not until next Monday night. The evening was given over to the special entertainment of delegates attending the annual convention of the stereotypers and electrotypers and was, literally a howling 410 success.

The number initiated last night, not including the visiting delegates, swelled the enrollment of Ak-Sar-Ben to a grand total of 949. Colonel J. C. Root, master of cere-2.000 monles during the "after program," an nounced the total, telling how it is the aim of the knighthood to bring the mem-22 bership up to 2,000 between the presen time and the dates of the fall festival. With such a membership, he said, the board of governors would be able to eclipse any previous efforts of entertaining visit-1,600 ors, and in putting on the fall festival. The den was packed; and every man h 27 the place, including the visitors, caught the spirit, had the present welfare and 700 the future improvement of the city of Omaha at heart. Everyone had the boosting feeling, and everyone showed it. After the ritualistic part of the program a number of prominent men were called upon for brief addresses. First of the list was

D. E. Killen of Adams, Neb., aspirant for governor, Killen Likes Omaha.

Mr. Killen expressed pleasure at being able to come to the city of Omaha just to 1,800 watch the progressiveness and ambition of Omaha citizens. "Your city," he said, "with its $7,000,000 in new buildings alone is a great incentive to us from the smaller Ne braska towns to come in and get a little inspiration from what you are doing. You who live here do not realize the importance of your city to the state of Nebraska, but we who live out in the state are able to get a clearer view of conditions.

> "Merchants from other towns may come here and buy anything they want. With us out in the state Omaha is a household word. and I want to predict for Omaha that in will be greater in the future than it has > ever hoped to be in the past." H. Scheele of Seward, state representative from Seward county, compared the growth of Omaha with the growth of other state municipalities, saying: "Omaha has been built up to its present stage by its own brain and its own citizenship. Further, you are still building and with greater enegy than ever before. I hope you people will all pull together for Omaha; forget your politics long enough to work hand in hand for your own home town, and pull together like brothers." L. P. Straub of Chicago represented the stereotypers and electrotypers and handed the city several generous bouquets on the treatment the delegates have received during their stay, "My love of fair dealing," he said, "compels me to say: New York may ing men of his own profession, but from everything he has seen in the city so riav a. m. allino p. m. | courteously thrown open to us." The talk of A. C. Wakeley of Omaha, concluded the program. He testified to gives," she elaborated.

"Oh, no; we don't go to the pawnshop and get it out every time," I assured. 'Merely meant we get the same kind of present for each new victim. The office collection always comes to the same amount and results in a stagnation of imagination. If everybody should chip in a little more some time there would be a panic. Nobody would know how to spend

"Haven't you been chipping in for about every one there?" she queried guardedly.

"Another fellow and I are the sole survivors," I boasted, "Of course, one of another of the victims may get a reno vation of his status and then come back for a second present. Some people never know when they've had enough." "Isn't there any chance-of the other
