Those Who Bathe in Scant Many complaints have been received by the police from patrons of Carter lake, who state that the bathing privileges at

With the verdict the jury recommended that McBride be committed to the state asylum for the insane. McBride, who had been completely calm and unmoved during the trial, showed the first sign of emotion when the verdict acquitting him was read. In that moment he bowed over and wept. His father and mother, who had sat with him throughout the ordeal, likewise wept on their son's shoulders and kissed him. It is expected Judge Estelle will issue the order committing McBride to the asylum, as he has no other alternative than to comply with the recommendation of the Attorneys for the defense say there will be no appeal. McBride shot Harry Long, 13 years old, to death November 27, 1909.

When the aid came back to report, he said, "Why there's a family in it now." Investigation proved the truth of the Ordinarily the Byron Reed company, which is agent for the house, would have an arrest made for trespassing, but the Goff family-the children, at least-invites some degree of commiseration. The Associated Charitres has helped the family several times, and the children's case is pending in juvenile court. The father and mother are separated. Mrs. Goff, when asked how she had the nerve to move in, asserted that she had tried to find out who owned or rented the home, but had been unable to do so. The

The Cudahy Packing company has reached no decision as to moving all or part of its general office force to Chicago. "Nothing has been decided," said E. A. Cudahy Saturday, "and will not be for some time. I can't say when."

Further than this statement, Mr. Cudahy declined to discuss the question of removal at all, though he intimated that plans for the projected new office building in South Omaha are not being rushed.

The office force itself of the Cudahy Packing company knows very little of the proposed removal of the general offices. There is talk enough to warrant the feeling of expectancy which prevalls at the plant.
