June has surely set a hot pace for July. However big it may be, the Taft stick proved mighty.

Mexico is still a wide-open republic. It holds its national election on Sunday.

Still, running for two offices at one and the same time never was very popular.

How would you like to fight under the shade of a Reno sun on the Fourth of July?

It seems that Teddy, Jr., has declined all invitations to become a mollycoddle.

The Illinois professor who says skunks are edible can have a monopoly on the market if he wishes.

A Jacksonville, Fla., paper demands longer sessions of congress. We would suggest that the extras be held down there.

In addressing the people of New York Colonel Roosevelt just spoke the English language and took the chance of being understood.

Will Rev. Mr. Poulson turn the other cheek? Or will he yield to human frailty and show his accusers up in their true light?

The mystery surrounding the finances seems to be the real disturbing factor among those unselfish anti-Saloon league workers.

Governor Patterson of Tennessee believes in "straight democracy." That ought to get the colonel vote which is always "agin mixin' it."

"Are you ready to have your measure taken?" Mr. Bryan asked Governor Harmon, but the governor gave the job to tailors nearer home.

If Reno could only persuade the railroads to put in special rates for the night it might result in a great increase in the divorce colony population.

Ex-Governor Folk discovers nothing new when he finds that "the existence of corruption is the fault of the people." Who else would be blame on?

Judge Ben B. Lindsay and William Allen White have now completed their plans for saving the country, which ought to relieve the rest of us from further vexation.

When Thomas Fortune Ryan was asked if he thought Colonel Roosevelt could run for president again he replied, "I do not know; I am not in his confidence." Tee, hee.

Our old friend, Edgar Howard, argues the suppression of the Bryansters to democratic dollar dinners on corporation agents. Is it possible there are corporation agents inside a democratic party? Who would we thought it?

While recalling Nevada as the haven divorces, the home of the jack rabbit and the resort of prize fighters, do not forget that Esmeralda county, which is a part of this great commonwealth, is the stamping ground, between the four-year heats, of Major Anmascol.

Just to Think Over. Minnesota republicans held a state convention last week in which a ticket was nominated giving recognition to all elements of the party and a platform promulgated on which all republicans should be able to stand.

Here are the planks on two state issues of more than ordinary interest: PRIMARY ELECTIONS. It has become notorious that the great expense attendant upon primary elections practically precludes men of moderate means becoming candidates for important offices.

TEMPERANCE. The regulation party stands for the strict regulation and control of the liquor traffic. All the restrictive and regulative provisions relating to the same now on the statute books of the state are the fruits of republican legislation.

POLITICAL CONDITIONS IN MINNESOTA may not be exactly the same as political conditions in Nebraska, but the work of the Minnesota platform makers at least furnishes something for Nebraska republicans to think over.

Diaz Still at the Old Stand. General Porfirio Diaz has been re-elected president of Mexico at the age of 80, an office to which he was first elevated in 1877 and which he has held continuously since, except from 1880 to 1884.

This last election turned on a political conspiracy led by Francisco L. Madero. But President Diaz, who gained his original election as the result of a successful plot to overthrow the government, was not stepping into any plots at the ripe old age of 80.

Hard Up for a Grievance. Those Lincoln papers must be desperately pressed to find fuel to feed the fires of anti-Omaha prejudice which they have such a hard time to keep ablaze.

Looking Toward Alaska. The time has come when Alaska must command the attention of the government and of private enterprise for the development of its resources.

Some one has discovered that our Nebraska primary law as revised by the late democratic legislature prohibits platform conventions making expression for or against any candidate who may be seeking nomination.

Our Birthday Book. June 28, 1910. Lyman J. Gage, former secretary of the treasury, was born June 28, 1828, at De Ruyter, N. Y.

Emerson Hough, who writes stories, is 83. He was born in Newton, Ia., and has made his reputation in handling western subjects in travel and fiction.

Harry C. Moir, proprietor of the Morrison Hotel company, Chicago, will be the sole owner of one of the greatest hotels in the country, the $5,000,000 thirty-story terra cotta skyscraper to be erected by the Morrisons.

Miss Elizabeth Leighton Lee has been appointed by the Pennsylvania State Department of Health landscape architect in connection with the new tuberculosis sanitariums, of which there are to be three.

Harry C. Moir, Jr., 8-year-old son of Harry C. Moir, proprietor of the Morrison Hotel company, Chicago, will be the sole owner of one of the greatest hotels in the country.

When Thomas Fortune Ryan was asked if he thought Colonel Roosevelt could run for president again he replied, "I do not know; I am not in his confidence." Tee, hee.

Our old friend, Edgar Howard, argues the suppression of the Bryansters to democratic dollar dinners on corporation agents. Is it possible there are corporation agents inside a democratic party? Who would we thought it?

of construction can be carried on under government regulation and supervision in such a way as to avoid evil consequences from private exploitation.

The president has the right idea in proposing that a commission of experts be stationed in Alaska to study carefully its resources and the best means of getting at them as a preliminary step to systematic development.

What Else Could He Do? It would be perfectly natural that Theodore Roosevelt should take an active part in the New York campaign, as he evidently intends to do.

A Tower of Strength. The republican party and the national administration are greatly strengthened before the people of the United States by the passage of the postal savings bank bill.

Roosevelt Starts Things. One to the credit of Teddy is called from France. The consideration by parliament of a measure to compel government employees to marry at or before reaching the age of 25 and increasing salaries as the crop of children increases.

PERSONAL NOTES. Porter Charlton, the young American who murdered his wife in Italy, seems to be in a grander danger of being characterized as a naughty boy.

Miss Alice Christopher of Evanston, Ill., on her marriage to Gerry E. Brown of Rhinecliff, Wis., received an unusual bridal gift—the city of Chicago bestowed her family name on a municipal playground.

Frank Sandler is the biggest engineer on the Williamsport end of the Philadelphia & Reading system, and he has the "fittest" engine. The engine looks like a toy alongside the monsters that handle coal trains or that goounding along with general freight.

Harry C. Moir, Jr., 8-year-old son of Harry C. Moir, proprietor of the Morrison Hotel company, Chicago, will be the sole owner of one of the greatest hotels in the country.

Army Gossip. Matters of Interest On and Back of the Firing Line gleaned from the Army and Navy Register.

The quartermaster general of the army has prepared a new form of estimates for supplies in his department for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1911. Hitherto the estimates have shown by comparative statistics the increase or decrease over appropriations for the current fiscal year by the items of appropriation.

The attention of the War department has been directed to the use of penalty envelopes by an army chaplain, who was circulating literature of a benevolent character. The object of the correspondence was for an entirely worthy purpose and deserved all the help which could be imparted to it by those in authority.

The officers of the Army War college in their ride to Gettysburg spent the early portion of the week at Antietam, where they were joined by Colonel J. A. Duncan, acting chief of infantry, and Lieutenant Colonel W. D. Beach, acting chief of cavalry, who returned to Washington on Thursday.

The military authorities are engaged in an animated discussion of the type of insignia which should be adopted for the army as a part of the apparel in the field of officers and the members of the enlisted force.

The general staff of the War department has had under consideration the plans for an army troop automobile submitted by Major Hugh J. Gallagher of the subsistence department, who is on duty at Seattle.
