BRYAN FOR COUNTY OPTION

Fearless Leader Announces Paramount for Nebraska Campaign.

HITS HIS PARTY COLLEAGUES

Shallenberger, Daziman and Hitchcock Blamed for Failure of Initiative and Referendum, 1908 and County Option Endorsed.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Neb., July 6.—(Special.)—William Jennings Bryan is out with a long "pronouncement" in which he insists that the great issue in Nebraska at the coming campaign must be county option. He will not consent to its being set aside for any other issue. He says he is not a candidate for any office, but does not say he will not run for the United States senatorship.

After reciting the governor's refusal to call an extra session of the legislature for the purpose of submitting an amendment to the constitution providing for the initiative and referendum, Mr. Bryan says: "The defeat of the special session plan is a disappointment. In the statement given out when inquiries were sent to the legislators I stated that the submission of the initiative and referendum amendment, besides securing a great advantage to the state, would, to a large extent, eliminate county option as a party issue, and enable us to conduct our campaign along national lines. Some of the more partisan republicans accused us of trying to secure an advantage for the democratic party—an accusation which amounted to the confession that the republicans were not prepared to defend the national policies of their party; but fair minded men in both parties recognized the propriety of making the fight on national issues without taking which party would derive most advantage from it. We have six congressmen to elect and one United States senator and these ought to be elected on national issues, but the governor's refusal to call the special session will make it difficult, if not impossible, to give the national issues a paramount place in the campaign.

Blames the Candidates.

"If I had had the hearty co-operation of the two democratic candidates for governor, Governor Shallenberger and Mayor Daziman, and the support of the World-Herald, the property of Congressman Hitchcock, one of the candidates for the United States senate, the special session would have been called before this, the initiative and referendum would have been submitted, and we would be ready to challenge the republicans to defend their national measures. Now, however, we must address ourselves to the liquor question—there is no escape from it. Consideration for the subject has been forced upon the party not by the advocates of county option but by the opponents of it. The blame primarily rests on a handful of democratic senators who thwarted the efforts of the majority of the democrats of the senate and house to submit the initiative and referendum at the regular session.

"The democrats of Douglas county still further accentuated the issue when they declared against county option last summer, and the breweries and other special interests have closed all doors of escape from the issue by entering upon an organized effort to control the next state senate with a view to preventing the enactment of any legislation objectionable to the corporations engaged in the production and sale of liquor and other corporations peculiarly interested in legislation. Those also must share the blame who refused to lend their influence to the calling of the special session which would have postponed the question of county option until after the adoption of the initiative and referendum amendment, when it could be brought up by petition and decided without causing division in the parties.

Hedges a Little.

"When I speak of blame attaching to certain persons who are responsible for forcing the county option question into the campaign I may be using the wrong word—perhaps I should say credit instead of blame, it may possibly be to the party's advantage to escape the discussion of national issues and to make a fight on the liquor question. It may be that the party is stronger on this issue than on national issues. If so, those who are responsible for making the liquor question the prominent question in the campaign should be credited with the advantage which they bring to the party. I shall not deserve any of the glory myself, if glory comes out of the situation, because I have tried to prevent it. Governor Shallenberger, Congressman Hitchcock and Mayor Daziman; will be entitled to divide the honors between them—I shall not attempt to state in what proportion if the party wins a victory through the adoption of their plans."

Following this, Mr. Bryan argues at length for the pledging of the democratic party and its candidates to the passage of a county option law by the next legislature. He declares himself as being utterly opposed to the liquor interests at all times and under all circumstances and refuses to be a party to any compromise on the question.

ARMY ORDERS ARE ISSUED

HARTIGAN STIRS UP GUARD

Adjutant General Takes Sharp Measures to Secure Efficiency.

TWO MAJORS ARE DROPPED

Companies G and I of First Regiment Will Not Go to Fort Riley Because They Are Not Up to Standard.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Neb., July 6.—(Special.)—Adjutant General Hartigan today issued an order relieving from duty Major W. F. Sammons, Major O. M. Newman and Lieutenant M. S. Mathers of the second regiment, Nebraska National Guard. These officers failed to make reports as ordered by the adjutant general and for that reason they were discharged. The commanding officer of the Second regiment was ordered to officiate the battalions with captains. Another order is to the effect that Company G and Company I of the First regiment could not go to Fort Riley to the encampment because they had failed to report forty enlisted men by July 1 as he ordered.

No company will be permitted to participate in any maneuver or attend the state encampment which has not forty enlisted men. The adjutant general has determined that the officers of the National Guard must take more interest in its affairs or drop out of the service. He believes that while the members of the guard and the officers make a certain sacrifice to belong to the guard, they must understand that it is serious business, and that if the companies expect to get financial help from the state they must in return give the state the best that is in them. In so many words, the adjutant general says he expects "either to make or break the guard," and there will be no more half-way companies.

Taylor Gets Automobile.

W. J. Taylor of Merna, candidate for the democratic nomination for congress in the Sixth district, has registered with the secretary of state a new automobile. It is presumed that Mr. Taylor will do his campaigning in his new machine.

Angus Gets Commutation.

Governor Shallenberger has commuted the sentence of Leo Angus, convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary for life for murder, to ten years. This will release Angus in 1916 with a good time allowance. Angus was convicted of participating in the murder of an Omaha saloonkeeper.

Another Catch for Illegal Fishing.

Dan Gillis and his deputy, Joseph Boehler, returned today from the neighborhood of Beatrice where they succeeded in convicting seven men of illegal fishing. The men were caught fishing with nets in order to get a supply of fish for a picnic to be held the Fourth of July. They were each fined $8 upon pleading guilty and their two new nets were burned. One of the men belonged to a city council, and another was a physician, though all gave assumed names upon being arraigned before a justice.

Two More Candidates.

Felix L. Gallaher has filed as a candidate for the democratic nomination for representative for the district including Thurston and Dakota counties. He signed statement No. 1. W. H. Talcott filed as a candidate for the democratic nomination for the senate in the Second district. He did not mention the Oregon plan.

Flames Cut Off Wisconsin Town

Forest Fires Rage Fiercely and Little Village is Doomed to Destruction.

BAYFIELD, Wis., July 6.—Cornucopia, Wis., is cut off by forest fires. Telephone messages say the fires are getting worse. The steamer "Barber" is at the dock ready to take off the women and children. Unless the wind changes the town apparently is doomed. All communication is cut off except by telephone and that may go at any minute. All available men are fighting the fires. The population of the town is about 100.
