All sorts of things happen in this queer world, and some of them don't please us overly much. But it has been our cheerful experience that the sunshine always follows the rain, and that if we wait long enough the most persistent drouth is broken.

Many of our readers felt badly put out by the outcome of the joint debate at Reno last Monday. They had staked their expectations on "the white man's hope," and the hope failed them. That took a lot of joy out of their lives, just at the arms, has this community close of a giad holiday. But the whistle blew the

Just now the most edifying spectacle to be observed anywhere is that of the Peerless Leader trying hitch the democratic donkey to the water wagon. But the donk has gone through several strange experiences under the guidance of W. J. B., and maybe this strangest of all can be achieved. But what would some of the fathers of the democratic party say to it?

OMAHA, JULY 8, 1910. COLONEL CULFEPPER'S SPEECH

Indignation Aroused by News from Reno Overshadowed by Consternation at the Report from Lincoln.

HOPELESSLY LOST TO POSTERITY

REBEL COVE, Kaintucky, July 8 .- (Special by Courier Down the River to Pike's Landing.)-Not since the news came that General Simon Bolivar Buckner had Ulysses S. Grant, and the flower and chivalry of this glorious state was humillated by the abject terms of unconditional surrender, dictated by Yankee who happened to be for the moment in possession of the advantage of superior numbers and as it was by the news that came through from Reno Nevada, last Monday. Just at present we under stand that Marse Henri Watterson is absent from the state, and therefore is unable to furnish us with our proper expression of sentiment at this moment, when the white race, as one man, should rise in determination to wipe out the infamous stain that has been put upon humanity by this remarkable proceeding. When Marse Henri has returned we look for a clarion call from that old warrior, whose plume has always waved far in advance along white supremacy and democratic success. But, while Marse Henri is not with us, some of our more impetuous citizens are exercising a freeman's right, and voice their personal feelings in no uncertain terms. Colonel Culpepper, one of our finest citizens, says: "By gad, suh, it's unspeakable. I can't believe it. a white man, suh, much missed it."

(From a Staff Correspondent) | less delibuhately unduhtake to-LATER-Colonel Culpepper's remarks were interrupted by another and even more startling announce mentes. Posterity will be the loser, for it is well handed over his sword to known that Colonel Culpepper is one of our most elo in fact, and his remarks on this occasion would have been for all ages. Only the most unusual of circumstances would excuse the interruption of the been so stunned and shocked speaker, just as he was getting into full flight, but the important that no one has as yet had time to think of the episode. Major Desha brought the word, which has since been fully confirmed from the most authentic and trustworthy sources. It is that Colonel William Jennings Bryan, whose gonfalon we have followed for fourteen long, lean and hungry years, has set about to tle the democratic party as a tail to the prohibition kite. No one of all our citizens is possessed of sufficient temerity to undertake to deal with this question. It the line that has battled for must be left until Marse Henri Watterson returns to the state.
