Western League Gossip

Hilly Fox, former Rourke second baseman, hit a home run in the ninth inning at St Joseph, which defeated Denver in a close game. Hilly is going some down in Joelown.

It was a regular slugging match played between Sloux City and Des Moines Wednesday. The Sloux got eighteen and Dea Moines seventeen hits. Nine errors were made in the game.

Omaha plays twelve games away from home. If they can break even the Rourkee will be in line for a first division berth if they can win a few games at home. Dalton, the Des Moines player, who was traded to Brooklyn by Higgins, is playing a great game for the Trolley-Dodgers. He is hitting the ball hard and is playing a great feelding game. Dayidson, who also went to Brooklyn from this league, is hitting in good shape.

O'Toole, the new twirler recently ob-tained from St. Paul by "Babe" Towne of the Solux City team, pitched Wednesday against Des Moines for five innings and struck out eight men. Patton, who was farmed out by Pa to the Waterloo team in the Three-I league, is pitching good ball. He has had a number of games won and then lost at the end of the game by one or two scores.

Agnew, who was with the Rourkes early in the season and later sent for a summer's seasoning to Columbus, made two home runs, a three-bagger and a single one in four times up in the game against Fremont. Too bad he could not have been in an Omaha uniform Wednesday, Cooley has bought 'Red' Weich, a second baseman from Kansas City, and Bill White, a shortstop from the Pacific Coast league. Weich is touted as a fast man. Cooley says he is looking for two or three more good players.

Nig Perrine, who did not show up well at second for the Rourkes in the first two games he played this season, is coming along in better shape and is playing good ball. Nig, at one time, could show all the second basemen some speed and may be able to do it again before the season closes.

PERILS ALONG EVERY PATH is Always Hanging

Around.

When we look back over our more or less misspent lives we are led to wonder how we have been able to aviod all the dangers that beset our pathways, as we are pleased to designate the rocky roads over which we have dragged our feet. These dangers were so many and so varied that we marvel at our agility in doging them all.

We need not shudder now over the dan-gers that have passed, but it is a good and the benediction.

Psalms, the announcements, the sermon, the death of Robinson. The decision of the for those of us who are still living to We need not shudder now over the danreflect that Providence has had us firmly by the hand all through life. We have been jerked by Providence from in front of automobiles that were exceeding the speed transmitted. The manager of the telelimit. The same capable guardian has phone company says that a constantly investigation by the county attorney" plucked us time and again from beneath growing number of the company's patrons the wheels of freight cars that were being backed noiselessly over crossings, seeking whom they might crush into an unrecognisable pulp to mystify the coroner. Speaking of these dangers recalls to my mind one James Jordan, who could nearly always scent danger from afar, even in his early youth. He never stumbled upon a pest of bumblebees as we walked barefoot he subscribe to the belief that he could throw a stone against a hornet's nest and

I recall that once when a big circus was coming James Jordan turned it down, so to the great pulpit orators of the world, the speak, and went instead to visit his uncle peaking of the great pipe organs in the in the country. 'He had a premonition that if he went to the circus one of the wild animals would reach through the bars of the cage, snatch him up and proceed to eat him without compunction or any other

On the farm there didn't appear to be anything that could endanger the life of James Jordan, so he proceeded to turn him seif loose to a limited extent. He ran frolicsomely though cautiously across the rear lawn in pursuit of a butterfly, unaware that a clothes line was stretched between two of the trees.

But it was there, all right. It caught James Jordan beneath the chin, swung him maliciously into the air, turned him over three times and slammed his head against the ground with a thud that nearly broke his neck. It taught him at the same time the great truth that danger lurks every where precisely as do bill collectors. After he had regained consciousness his uncle, who was a stern man, came out and reproved him for swinging on the clothes line. He said the line was there to hang clothes upon, not to be used for acrobatic practice. The knowledge he imparted was superfluous. James Jordan knew it before his uncle told him and the knowledge did not come by intuition. He said as much to of information for anybody who desires to his uncle, coupling with the remark a word sleep out of doors in his own home. It of criticism about the line's being left hanging so low. His uncle then untled one end of the rope and called the youth's attention to it in a way that left a lasting impression.

SUNDAY SERMONS BY PHONE

If Men Will Not Come to the Church, the Church Will Get 'Em on the Wire.

Gradually the rural telephone has grown from a fence post affair to a thing of duily convenience. And now in Kansas it is entering a field that is unusual and yet useful, for it is becoming the disseminator of the Sunday sermon. No more the farmer's wife who lives, three miles from a church need to worry as to whether the weather will be too bad for the long drive; no longer need the hitching up of the horses for that trip to the church be a matter of absolute necessity, for the telephone has stepped in and brought the church to the home.

It is in Olathe, Kan., that the experiment of the telephoned sermon is being tried, and so far it has been a success that is growing. There illness and weather cannot interfere with the Sunday worship, for the sermons and every other church service, for that matter, is transmitted directly to the home and all one needs to do to hear is to place a telephone transmitter to the ear. The telephone company
