Cruelty to Animals—Rude Bannish was fined $1 and costs in police court Friday morning on the charge of cruelty to animals. Officer Hudson arrested Bannish Thursday evening, and stated that the man was whipping and jacking his horse in a public square.

New Air Brake Billings—The Interstate Commerce commission has passed a new law in regard to the brakes to be used on railroad trains, which states that no train shall operate on which less than 85 per cent of the brakes available for use on the train are being used. The new law goes into effect September 1.

Picnic at Miller Park—Miller park will be the scene of the annual church picnic of the Emanuel Baptist church on Saturday afternoon. Two special cars will be taken by the picknickers and the whole afternoon spent in games and amusements, followed by a supper at the park in the evening.

Site for Freight Depot—Deeds are recorded transferring property from Oliver Ames to the McCague investment company, and from that company to the Union Pacific, for a consideration of $225,000. The property is the block between Eighth and Ninth streets, and fronting on Jackson, which it was announced six weeks ago, had been bought by the railroad for terminal purposes.

Specials to Yellowstone—Summer outing specials have started on their way and Saturday morning, the first of the many annual special trains to Yellowstone National park, will pass through Omaha filled with pleasure parties. The Union Pacific railroad is furnishing the train, the expedition being in charge of Gillespie and Kimpert, who manage a number of them each year.

Commercial Club Telephone—A private branch telephone exchange has been installed by the Commercial club, and its general number will be Tyler 1234, which, because of the sequence, will be an easy one to remember. Body Held for Identification—The body of Albert Damske, who died at a local hospital several days ago, is being held at the Cole-Cook morgue, awaiting identification. While Mr. Damske has resided in Omaha for several years, little of his relatives is known, and as yet, it has been impossible to find any trace of his family. For some time he lived in the vicinity of the Union Pacific shops, near Tenth street. Mr. Cole is endeavoring to find some friends who will be able to tell something of his family residence.

Grain Man Says Crops Are Fine. T. B. Hord Arranging Trip to Europe and Makes Statement in Omaha on Outlook.

T. B. Hord of Central City was at the Paxton hotel Friday. He was in Omaha to make final arrangements for a trip to Germany, where he will take the waters. With Mrs. Hord and Charles J. Greene and wife of Omaha he will sail from New York on the 24. Mr. Hord's health is somewhat improved, but not to the extent that he desires.

With thirteen cattle feeding stations on his hands in Nebraska and a line of fifty elevators, T. B. Hord is probably the largest cattle feeder in the country, if not in the world. His elevator interests make him also deeply interested in the crop situation.

"In my judgment the growing Nebraska crop is in pretty good condition," said Mr. Hord. "We have had several good rains that came in time to help the crops materially. Wheat and corn fields that have come under my observation look all right, and reports we get indicate the same thing as a rule. Of course, the dry spring made a shortage of good grass, but the alfalfa is all right, and the area planted is steadily growing."

During the last winter the Hord company had nearly 2,000 cattle in the feeding yards, nearly all of which have now been sold off. Talking of feeding, Mr. Hord evinces considerable enthusiasm over the product of the alfalfa mill at Central City. In this mill California molasses is used to mix with the dry alfalfa hay as it is ground, and Mr. Hord believes this is the very best food that can be fed to cattle in combination with the roughage.

"We have a splendid little mill," he said, "and its product is in good demand wherever farmers and cattle feeders are acquainted with its value."

Poulson Pays Visit to Omaha. State Superintendent of Anti-Saloon League Explains the Resignations.

M. S. Poulson, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, was in Omaha Thursday and Friday, attending a line of his constituency. Regarding the recent resignation of six members of the board of trustees, he says it is merely another chapter of the fight on the league, which has been going on for several years.

"It is a question," he said, "of six members withdrawing, because the other forty-four would not agree with them."

The six members who resigned were S. E. Batten, B. P. Fellman, T. M. Wimberly, J. L. McBrien, W. R. Patrick and L. I. Abbott. As these men in their joint letter of resignation admitted support for the Nebraska County Option league, the superintendent attributes their action more than anything else to the fight on the anti-saloon league made by the County Option league.
