

Nebraska RATES UNDER STATE RIGHTS

Northwestern Road May Find Itself in Pretty Predicament.

CEMENT TARIFF CAUSES TROUBLE

Road Lowers Rate Pursuant to Order from Interstate Commission and Nebraska Authorities.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
LINCOLN, July 8.—(Special.)—For following the instructions of the Interstate Commerce commission and reducing intrastate freight rates in Nebraska without first consulting the Nebraska commission, the Northwestern railroad may get itself into trouble and the case may lead to a conflict over state rights.

The Northwestern has filed a new rate schedule with the railway commission showing a reduction in rates on cement from Norfolk to other towns in Nebraska, and with the schedule was filed an order or decision of the Interstate Commerce commission, authorizing it to charge these rates. In the printed decision Commission officials expressed the opinion that the question is one purely affecting the state and, therefore, the Interstate Commerce commission has no jurisdiction over the matter. The majority of the commission hold that the rates charged between Norfolk and the other Nebraska points were unreasonable and ordered a reduction, and the railroad complied with the order without consulting the local commission.

The case was brought by the Acme Plaster company of Wyoming against the Northwestern. This company ships its cement from Wyoming to the Nebraska points on the Northwestern. It was the rates on the Northwestern that were reduced.

No Roosevelt for the Fair.

Secretary Mellor of the State Board of Agriculture has decided not to try to get ex-President Roosevelt to the Nebraska state fair. He will do nothing that might lessen the chances of Omaha securing the colonel.

"Colonel Roosevelt is going through Omaha September 2 for Cheyenne," said Mr. Mellor, "and that would be a week before the fair, so it would do us no good to secure him for the fair crowd. If he stops over in Omaha more people would get to see him and it would not interfere with the crowds which are coming to the state fair."

Not Up to Legal Department.

Being in Omaha today, Governor Shallenberger did not get to ask the opinion of the attorney general on the legality of an exhibition of the Jeffries-Johnson prize fight pictures. Mr. Thompson said he had not looked up the law in the matter, but if he had to pass on the question it might be probable he would have to see the pictures first. In fact the defeat of Jeffries by the first prize fight disappointment the attorney general has had since the defeat of John L. Sullivan by Corbett.

Consolidation of Rural Schools.

Superintendent Bishop has just issued a forty-page bulletin on the "Consolidation of Rural Schools." Consolidation is explained as meaning the uniting of two, three or more small and weak schools into one that shall be large enough in point of members to be interesting, and strong enough in the way of money to afford a comfortable building, two or more good teachers, and reasonable facilities for work. It also means that outlying territory with but few children shall be combined with a nearby school that is strong, rather than remain unorganized into a separate but weak district. In its fullest sense it means the uniting of all the schools of a township into one or two so located as to be most accessible.

Nebraska

possible, though not necessarily at the geographic center. Among the advantages claimed for consolidation are: 1. It is much cheaper for the same grade of school. 2. At the same expense much better schools can be secured, because fewer teachers being needed a better grade can be secured, a division of labor established and at least some sort of supervision suggested. 3. It is possible a country school equal in every sense to the best city schools, yet within reach of farm houses. 4. The health of children is better when conveyed in wagons and landed warm and dry than when sitting all day with wet feet and draggled clothing after tramping through all kinds of roads in all kinds of weather. 5. The inspiration that comes with numbers puts life into the school that is impossible in classes of one or two each. 6. It makes possible the employment of at least one experienced, well-educated, broad-minded teacher under whose supervision even young and inexperienced teachers covering fewer things will do far better work than when working alone trying to teach everything. 7. It increases property values as a whole for those who care to sell and broadens life for those who stay. 8. It makes unnecessary the sending of young boys and girls away from home for high school privileges on the one hand, or the breaking up of homes on the other in "going to town to educate the children." 9. It makes unnecessary the present costly system of sending the young men and women at private expense to village schools, thus supporting a double system of education for country children.

No Statement Yet. Governor Shallenberger returned from Omaha this afternoon, but he was too busy to give out a statement for publication on the charges against the city officials that the liquor laws are being violated in the big city. The governor said he probably would issue a signed statement tomorrow.

Wymore to Have Water.

WYMORE, Neb., July 8.—(Special.)—The city council has taken steps immediately to put the city pumping plant on a safe working basis. At present there is but one boiler and one pump working. The boiler is in good condition, but trouble is frequent with the pump. This block fronts the Burlington depot and the street adjacent to it will be vacated for use by the Burlington in building a new depot. JACKSON BLAMED FOR DEATH

Inquest Held Over Body of Rufus Coleman—Green's Deed Declared Due to Natural Causes.

The coroner's jury in the inquest held yesterday afternoon over the body of Rufus Coleman, the negro, who was shot and killed Thursday noon by Eugene Jackson, found that Coleman came to his death at the hands of Jackson. The decision was this:

"As the evidence before us, that the said Rufus Coleman came to his death by two bullets fired by Eugene Jackson, so-called 'Butler,' on the 8th day of July, 1910, at the Brown flats on Twelfth street in the city of Omaha, we, the jury, recommend to hold said Eugene Jackson for further investigation, without bail."

Thomas Green, the negro who was discovered in a dying condition in a barber shop at 139 North Sixteenth street the afternoon of the Fourth, and who later died upon arriving at St. Joseph's hospital, was found to have come to his death through natural causes by the jury in the coroner's inquest. At the time Green was last seen, it is stated he was drunk, and when he died it was thought by the surgeons who attended him that it was from suffocation and liquor, since he had been dressed as a ghost and left in a small room which had poor ventilation. The jury decided:

"That we have found that said Thomas Green came to his death through natural causes; that of a diseased heart, thereby causing heart failure, at the St. Joseph's hospital, July 4th, at 5 p. m."
