BOARD AUTOS ON STREET CAR

Machine is Found to Be Stuck in the Mud at Lincoln When Time for the Start Arrives Friday Morning.

When the members of the Board of County Commissioners assembled at the court house Friday for their automobile tour of inspection they found everything in readiness—except the automobile. It so happens that Lou Adams, George McBride and County Commissioners Pickard and Trouton took the commissioners' machine Thursday morning and went to Lincoln. Running was bad, owing to heavy rainfall in the vicinity of Lincoln, and the party did well to get to Lincoln. Returning in the auto Thursday night was out of the question. Thus it is the board took its auto ride in street cars.

The commissioners returned from their tour of inspection about 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. Every institution visited was found to be in excellent condition and all met the approval of the board. A few instances were found where repairs are necessary, but as a general thing the institutions are in good shape.

The first stop was made at the county jail. From the jail the party proceeded to the county store on South Thirteenth street. Next visited were the Detention home and the county hospital. At the hospital the commissioners were served with a midday meal.

Hardware Men Guests of City

Many Will Stop Off While Enroute to the Convention in Denver.

The Omaha Automobile club is having an ordinance prepared which it will ask some councilmen to introduce to assist in the campaign for more safety on the streets.

The ordinance will provide that all slow-going vehicles must keep to the right of the road and next to the curb. This is in line with the present law, which says that all vehicles which pass others must pass on the left side.

Automobilists claim this will give them a chance to move along within the speed limit and not have to turn into the car tracks or to speed up their machines in passing wagons and carriages where the horses are going no faster than a walk.

They maintain it will also be a help to pedestrians who have the slower-going vehicles near the curbs and those on foot can more easily keep out of the way of wagons than automobiles.

An effort will also be made to have signs placed at the crossings of the principal thoroughfares instructing slow-going vehicles to keep closer to the curbs.
