Gotch Tells of the Defeat of J. J. Jeffries

Frank Gotch, world's champion wrestler, arrived in Omaha from Reno Wednesday night and spent the day Thursday visiting friends.

Champion Wrestler Spends Thursday in Omaha—Says Jeff is Broken-Hearted.

Frank Gotch, world's champion wrestler, arrived in Omaha from Reno Wednesday night and spent the day Thursday visiting friends.

Gotch was as close as anyone to the defeated Jeffries, and held number of personal interviews with the former champion. He visited Jeffries before and after the big fight and was one of the men who was taken into the confidence of the boiler-maker.

In speaking of the fight, Gotch said: "Jeffries met a better man and was fairly licked. When I saw him before the fight to all appearances he was in the prime of condition; but when he got up against the negro he was merely the shell of the man that fought six years ago."

He said that for three days before the battle and he seemed as hard and in as good condition as could be desired. But when he got in the ring that vitality, that nerve and stamina which made him the greatest fighter the world ever saw, was lacking.

"I talked to Jeffries after the battle was over and he had no complaint to make. He said that he had been urged him on to reclaim the championship from the black and that he had done his best. He said that even though he had won $300,000 from the fight, counting the money he had made before and during the fight, he would rather be the boiler-maker at a day's work than have the defeat administered to him."

"It is a cinch that no matter how long Jim Jeffries lives he will never outlive the sorrow that has been cast over his life by the beating that was administered by Johnson."

Conervation Program Delayed

Fear that Ballinger-Pinchot Incident Will Be Made Too Prominent is a Factor.

ST. PAUL, July 8.—The program of the National Conservation congress, to be held here September 6 to 9, which it was hoped would soon be ready for announcement, is being held up pending a conference to be held in Chicago early next week, between Governor Eberhart and Clifford Pinchot.

The trouble is, according to Ralph Wheeler, secretary to the governor, that the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy has again entered into the discussion. "It seemed to be the opinion of the local board," said Mr. Wheeler, "that some of the speakers were too partisan and that the Pinchot side of the Pinchot-Ballinger controversy was given too prominent place in the program. With this idea in mind the governor wired Mr. Pinchot asking for a conference and received a reply that it would be impossible to change the program, as all the arrangements had been made."

"We believe Mr. Pinchot does not understand the governor's message."
