Postal Savings Bogies.

Although the postal savings bank is an assured fact, as a result of the legislation enacted by congress...

It is possible, under the law, we are told, to convert 30 per cent of the savings bank funds into government securities...

Again, we are told, that should the volume of deposit mount up to great magnitude, as some of the advocates of the scheme think will be the case...

Another fear is that a period of distress might lead to a sudden and general withdrawal of deposits in the postal banks...

Despite all these postal savings bogies which the bankers persist in conjuring up, the much more probable expectation is that postal savings will not only encourage thrift and bring hoarded money out of hiding places...

W. R. Hearst has now joined the war with Japan forces and is bombarding his papers from Paris with columnar projectiles, but his country sleeps peacefully on.

To show how deep is his sorrow at Jeff's defeat, Jim Corbett mentions the fact that he gave up a theatrical tour to help train him. Well, what is Corbett's loss is the public's gain.

At last Walter Wellman, who would have discovered the North Pole with his airship had not Cook and Peary interfered, has consented to cross the Atlantic ocean in that faithful old dirigible.

Some headway toward a safe and sane fourth was achieved this year, and if this is used as a starting point toward a still better showing next year we may accomplish something worth while in 1911.

the froside just as much, if not more, than on the public rostrum or in the club. The man or woman who lights the faces of home folks with practical deeds of love and charity ignites a more enduring flame than the one who saves the spark for strange hearts.

Evanescent Fame. A new edition of that indispensable volume which goes by the title, "Who's Who in America?" gives us some entertaining, if not instructive, statistics of the instability of fame.

Speedy Justice. The state of Georgia is encumbered with a system of court procedure which lawyers and newspapers declare to be destructive of speedy justice and pernicious in its influence upon the state.

Work for the Educators. The recent convention of the National Educational association was notable for a prevailing spirit of criticism by educators of the system of popular education in this country.

Curing a Grouch. In addressing a woman's club convention Dr. Madison C. Peters recently said that social settlement work was a sure cure for a grouch because it broadens a person's vision of life and makes him happy to know that he is doing something for others.

The Heat East and West. Summer's sun is no respecter of persons; it shines on the just and unjust alike, on the west as well as the east, and not every city or state in the Transmississippi country would make an ideal summer resort.

Our Birthday Book. Christopher Columbus would be celebrating his birthday today if he were still "sawing" among the Ming. He was born July 16, 1451, in Genoa, and stuffed off this mortal coil in 1506 without knowing that he had discovered a new continent.

John W. Griggs, who was attorney general in the McKinley cabinet, is celebrating his sixty-first birthday today. He was born in Newton, New Jersey, and is now practicing law at Paterson.

to their natural advantages in the conservation of health and life unless they sometimes pause to take stock and by comparison note their lot as against that of people in the larger eastern cities. These advantages of pure air and wider open spaces...

ing, but while looking they are still investing millions in warships. One of the objections lodged against the new campaign publicity law enacted by congress is that it applies only to national campaign committees and committees doing work in more than one state and not to state and local committees working wholly within state lines.

SECULAR SHOTS AT PULPIT. Springfield Republican: All religious demonstrations seem to be satisfied with the recent decision of the Illinois supreme court ruling Bible reading, singing and prayer out of the public schools. These are held to constitute worship, and freedom in the exercise of religion excludes compulsion of attendance upon any form of worship, and when all are taxed for the support of public schools, no form of worship can be maintained there without being, as it were, forced upon those to whom it may be disagreeable.

SERMONS BOILED DOWN. The doors of heaven are a retired place of helplessness. When a man's religion is on his sleeve it is usually part of his cloak. It is easy to love truth ardently when the edge is toward your adversary.
