The letter given out by W. B. Pries in withdrawing from the senatorial race in favor of Dick Metcalf is a remarkable evidence of his great capacity for renunciation. Mr. Pries says:

To My Friends in Nebraska: For many years I have devoted much time and contributed of my means to the cause of the people's government in this state and during all of the time have supported the candidates of the party with which I have affiliated, except in rare cases where I have personally known they were not in sympathy with the great reform movement tending to restore constitutional government to the people, and to demonstrate that the state that has the right to control all corporations which the state created. The fact that I have been without regard to my personal affairs being situated only in the fashion of a doctrine that I have introduced into the state and the nation, and if I have contributed in any way to the burden of the people, I have added one thing that has given greater happiness to just one of my fellow citizens or if I have advanced in any way the great responsibility of citizenship in this Democratic republic, my reward, therefore, when I announced myself as a candidate for the office of United States senator I was not actuated by the thought that my party or the people would do anything for the services given either the state or the nation. All that can be said is that any citizen can do, to promote good government, to diffuse universal education and to provide the means of comfort and make easy the road to happiness commensurate with the capacity of the people to enjoy it. I have endeavored to exercise the right which every citizen has under the law to submit my name for approval or rejection, on conditions now existing in our state that might bring to my candidacy a sufficient following to make my ambition reasonably certain of success and in this hope I have had many assurances from all parts of the state.

There are, however, many of my friends who believe that another might be selected that has greater elements of strength than I have and who may have contributed more largely to the success of the cause which is so dear to myself and others. Therefore I am deferring to their wishes and hereby announce my withdrawal. I do this with little reluctance, as conditions now present themselves. Now, as ever, I long for the success of the things for which I have contended before the people in this state and under no circumstances could I or would I permit my personal ambition to stand in the way. My only regret on my part I know will be a keen disappointment to many of my personal friends, but I wish them to view the situation from my viewpoint and believe me that I am certain that this is the best thing to be done under the circumstances and conditions now existing. There is one who is very near and dear to me whose heart is nearly broken, but love and time will wipe away his tears and my compensation will be that I have performed my full duty to my friends.

I wish to express my sincere gratitude to all of my friends for the loyal support they have given me and especially to those who have contributed financially to my campaign and my only political ambition in the future will be to render all and each of them such service as I can and to contribute of my time and energy to make this state the best governed state in this union. WILLIAM E. PRIES.

BUTLER DEMOCRATS NEXT WEEK

C. M. Skiles, Candidate for Senator, Knocche Brava Plaza.

DAVID CITY, Neb., July 15.—(Special.)—The democratic county convention will be held here in David City on Friday, July 22. To date very few candidates have filed for office, but several are in prospect. C. M. Skiles, an attorney of this place, has filed for state senator from this district. Mr. Skiles is opposed to county option and apparently does not approve of the scheme of his leader, W. J. Bryan, as to the Oregon plan of electing United States senators, for he did not sign statement No. 1.

C. H. Aldrich, republican candidate for the nomination for governor, will speak at Beaver Crossing next week at the district picnic of the old soldiers, at the annual harvest picnic at Arxell, at the annual reunion of the Fort Kearney Park association, at the annual soldiers' reunion at Central City and numerous other small places.

Boyd Files for Congress

Former Representative from Third District Will Try to Regain Seat—Lost Two Years Ago.

NORFOLK, Neb., July 15.—Judge J. F. Boyd, congressman from the Third Nebraska district from 1907 to 1909 and defeated two years ago by the present incumbent, J. P. Latta, today filed his candidacy for the republican nomination and will make an effort to regain his former place. He was defeated two years ago.

BRYAN ROASTS WORLD-HERALD

Devotes Good Share of Kearney Speech to This Paper.

KEARNEY, Neb., July 15.—(Special Telegram.)—Before an audience of 800 people, largely women, William J. Bryan spoke tonight at the opera house in this city. Judge W. D. Oldham introduced the speaker in a very flattering manner.

Mr. Bryan's opening remarks were a sharp criticism of the Omaha World-Herald. Reviewing his presidential campaign, he sharply defended his different platform issues. He stated that he had referred to discuss county option when it was put up to him at the last legislature because this issue was not contained in the platform upon which the democratic legislators were elected.

Mr. Bryan spoke of his great desire for party harmony, his interest in the party and that he would be the last one to create mutiny within the ranks. He said he was not willing, though, to see the democratic party debauched and demoralized by the breweries and liquor interests.

Speaking of his late canvass among the state representatives and senators, Mr. Bryan said that he regrets he got and the pledges he received were sufficient to call a special session and were he governor he would not have hesitated to call this special session and adopt the initiative and referendum. Further he said that he was growing tired of the idea that a man was not in good standing in the democratic party unless he wobbled when he walked. He is in favor of the democratic party taking a stand on the liquor question from which it can defend itself, and that it could not offer any defense when standing out against county option.

At the close of his address, Mr. Bryan stated that he hoped to win the fight at the state convention at Grand Island to get county option placed in the democratic party platform. He said that he did not know how many counties were with him, but he did know that Lancaster county would stand solid for county option.

BLAIR DEMOCRATS ENDORSE

A large number of the delegates were present, but only a few outside of the delegates. Governor Shallenberger was present and spoke at length to the convention. C. O. Lobeck and Lewis J. Quinby of Omaha, candidates for nomination to congress, were also here and spoke. The convention by resolution voted for the initiative and referendum and against county option and endorsed Shallenberger, Hiltchcock and Lobeck. Delegates to the state convention were elected, as follows:

BILLION GOES IN BUILDING

Record of 1909 for Cost of Construction Shows New Mark.

THREE-FOURTHS FOR FIREPROOF

Some Interesting Figures Gathered by the Government on Building in 125 Principal Cities of the Country.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Building operations in 125 cities of the United States during the calendar year that represented expenditures close to $1,000,000,000—00, to be exact, according to statistics compiled by the United States geological survey, $300,000,712.

That result is taken to be one of the principal indications of the recovery from the financial panic of 1907 and 1908, for the building record for 1909 was beaten 10 per cent. A comparison of increases and decreases of the operations of 1909 with those of 1908 is held to be unreasonable, because, it is said, 1908 was not a normal year. Chicago, which led the increases in 1908 with a little more than $3,000,000, led them again in 1909 with an increase of more than $3,000,000. New York, which was second in 1908 with an increase of a little more than $4,000,000, reported an increase for 1909 of $2,000,000. Brooklyn, which had reported a decrease of more than $3,000,000 in 1908, came third in the 1909 increase, with a growth of $1,402,061.

Of the cities that showed decreases in 1909, San Francisco had the largest, $2,484,273, or 17.32 per cent; Dayton was next, with $1,833,795, or 41.62 per cent; the largest proportional decrease, and Oakland was third, with $1,002,051, or 18.35 per cent. The decreases in these cities may be ascribed to local causes.

San Francisco's Decrease.

The explanation of the decrease in San Francisco, which at first glance may be surprising when it is recalled that they apply to a city not long ago almost destroyed by an earthquake, is that the building in San Francisco has probably reached a point nearly normal, for the first time since the catastrophe of 1906. The annual cost of building operations for five years in San Francisco was: 1905, $13,588,723; 1906, $24,527,891; 1907, $5,574,844; 1908, $31,968,941; 1909, $26,184,068.

New York, in 1909, had the greatest number of new brick buildings; Chicago took the lead in stone structures. It also led in concrete buildings, which were reported to be 1,791 in number, in seventy-seven of the 125 cities reporting, a considerable gain, which is taken to show the growing use of that material.

Seattle had the largest number of new wooden buildings. Chicago built wooden buildings which cost more than $10,000,000, while Seattle, first in numbers, was third in value. Reading, Pa., was the only city that reported no wooden buildings erected.

New York reported the construction of fire-resisting buildings at a cost of $13,182,387; Chicago was second, with a cost of $9,106,500; Brooklyn third, $4,528,721; Philadelphia fourth, $4,570,770; St. Louis, fifth, $2,422,929, and San Francisco sixth, $1,154,387. The average cost of new fire-resisting buildings in the fifteen cities reporting the greatest cost for this class of buildings was $1,151 in Philadelphia to $5,284 in New York. In new brick buildings Brooklyn was second, Chicago third and Philadelphia fourth. In stone buildings, New York was second and San Francisco third. In concrete buildings Seattle was second and Philadelphia third.

Number of Permits.

The number of permits issued in fifty-one cities increased from 217,594 in 1908, when there was a decrease from 1907 of 12,861 to 212,498 in 1909, a gain of 28,904 or 13.63 per cent. The number of permits or buildings does not seem to bear any definite relation to the cost of the operations, as several cities showing increases in cost of buildings showed decreases in number of permits or buildings, while some of those showing decreases in cost showed increases in number of permits or buildings.

The average cost of operations under the permit system in fifty-one cities was $2,415 in 1909, as against $2,248 in 1908. In New York the average cost per building was $24,387 in 1909, against $19,305 in 1908; in Chicago it was $4,241 in 1909, against $4,227 in 1908; in Brooklyn, $4,672 in 1909, against $4,198 in 1908; in Philadelphia, $2,489 in 1909, against $2,107 in 1908; in San Francisco, $4,430 in 1909, against $4,705 in 1908.

For the first time an attempt was made to collect statistics of the building operations by character of buildings and also by alterations, alterations, and repairs to each class of buildings. It is reported from 125 cities gave details showing the kinds of buildings erected and the additions, alterations and repairs 9.7 per cent.

More Fire Proof.

Of the cost of the new buildings, 73.24 per cent was for fire-resisting buildings. Of the total cost of additions, alterations and repairs 65.53 per cent was for fire-resisting buildings and for the repair of wooden buildings. The average cost in 1909 for new wooden buildings was $2,299; for new brick buildings, $2,522; for stone buildings, $11,679; for concrete buildings, $7,860, and for miscellaneous fire-resisting buildings, $2,723.

POLICE ARE AFTER CRIPPEN

also be determined is a matter of doubt, but the important fact is that point has not been overlooked. Though the police appear to be satisfied that it was Crippen's wife who found a grave in the cellar of his home, so far as known the identity of the victim has not been established to the satisfaction of the law. After death the body was cut to pieces and some of the bones were removed as if by a hand skilled in surgery and the flesh covered with quick lime that destroyed the possibility of easy recognition.

It develops that Crippen had in his possession only $250 when he disappeared, but according to the police, he took with him the greater part of the jewelry that had been his wife's. From this they figure that his funds cannot hold out long. It is not likely that he will try to dispose of the jewelry.

The police late today completed their examination of the Crippen residence and grounds, having disposed of the theory advanced by some that the premises had been used as a burial ground for bodies other than the one discovered.

Suspect Not on List.

NEW YORK, July 15.—The first of the Hawley Harvey Crippen might reach here from England passed up the bay early today after having undergone a search at Quarantine which failed to reveal any sign of the American physician whose wife was injured in his London home. The steamer was the Louisiana, which left England on Sunday. Dr Crippen was supposed to have taken passage for this country in company with a young woman named Ethel Clara Leneve, formerly the doctor's stenographer.

Doctor's Letter to His Son.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 15.—P. O. Crippen of this city, son of Dr. H. W. O. Crippen, spent in Denver today for the letter received from his father in February, announcing the death of Mrs. Crippen. Although the letter was not brought to light, he was enabled to quote it, in substance, from memory, owing to its brevity. It was about as follows:

"Dear Son: I am very sorry to write you that my beautiful wife died recently in San Francisco. She went there to attend to an estate, and while enroute contracted pneumonia. She died in San Francisco, suffering from pleuro-pneumonia."

"That was the last word I had from my father," said Crippen today. "I have not seen him in sixteen years and he seldom corresponds with me."

The Chinese authorities have sent ten gunboats and 1,300 soldiers to the scene from a neighboring island so that they may be ready to assist the Portuguese soldiers if necessary in exterminating the outlaws.

Several Chinese students have been rescued after months of captivity. It was the Portuguese campaign to free the students which brought about the fighting. The hospital at Macao is filled with wounded soldiers.

Mayor Atherton Forced to Resign

City Official at Newark Yields to Pressure—Keep Corporation's Skirts Clean.

NEWARK, O., July 14.—After a conference lasting many hours, Mayor Herbert Atherton resigned today, in response to pressure exerted upon him by leaders of his party and personal friends.

The reason given was that it was hoped thereby to save the city the disgrace of an investigation by the governor, following the breaking last week of an Anti-Saloon league detective and subsequent suspension of Mayor Atherton by Governor Harmon.

It was announced that "Newark wants to do his own house cleaning."

Eight new arrests were made today as a result of Acting Mayor Ankeles' order to arrest every riot suspect. Attorney General U. G. Denman directed the secret examination of witnesses and suspects, which lasted all afternoon.

Record Price for September Wheat

More Damage to Spring Crop Sends Quotations Upward at Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 15.—Wheat today sold at the highest price of the season, the September option gains 1/40 above the top figures made on the crop scare in the spring. A rise of 5/16 a bushel in two days was shown. The advance since last night was 1/16 cents on the alarming reports from that point profiting taking carried the market down 1/16. Spring wheat crop damage in Canada, the United States and Russia, the result of excessive heat and drought, caused excited buying on a large scale.

Turnout continued unabated until the final top of the going. The market closed strong, with last sales of September at $1.07 1/2, a rise of 1/16 from $1.06 1/2 a bushel compared with last night.

NEW YORK, July 15.—July wheat shorts ran to cover today, advancing the price 1/16 cents per bushel to $1.15. Later months were up 1/16 cents on the alarming reports from spring wheat sections and strong cables, the latter indicating that Europe is beginning to realize the extent of the northwest damage. Foreigners were buyers here at the opening.
