Citizens Ask Water Board for Price of Line Extensions. WATER COMPANY AGAIN SUES. Asks the City to Levy Tax to Collect $225,424 Due the Company—City Was Not Planning That Way.

The Omaha Water company has started out to get immediate returns for its award of money for hydrant rentals and has filed in the United States circuit court a mandamus suit to compel the city to levy a tax and collect the $225,424 due it.

The city council has not been planning on levying for a judgment fund this year because of the desire to reduce the general levy and because the water board on the advice of its attorney decided that it would wait until affairs were better straightened out before trying to pay up the back rental bills.

The water board held a meeting Wednesday night and discussed the rate which must be determined as the beginning of possession of the water works by the city, and also the condition of the bond market.

A number of petitions have been received by the board recently from property owners, principally real estate men, who have been forced by the water company to put in their own pipe extensions. Since the city's taking over the lines has been a certainty, the company has refused to make extensions, and new houses have been piled at the direct expense of the owners.

Solicitor of Funds Released by the Mayor

Is Turned Loose, as Mayor Said He Did Not Know What He Was Doing.

C. E. Gilkison, accused by the chief of police of collecting money from women of the Third ward on the representation that it was for Mayor Dahlman's gubernatorial campaign, was released Wednesday evening by the mayor's orders.

"Gilkison is only a boy of 19 years," said the mayor, "and it seems not to have realized what he was doing. Mr. Van Wie, the publisher of the Labor Gazette, is carrying on a legitimate campaign for funds for his work for the labor people and I want to help him out. He hired Gilkison to solicit funds and did not know what was being done. The letter was taken away from the boy and he was released because we thought locking him up would prevent any further work of the wrong kind."

The petition which was circulated by Gilkison and by his father, W. Gilkison, stated that a special issue of the Labor Gazette is to be put out and the money was taken as a contribution in the interest of the labor cause. Van Wie told the mayor Thursday morning that the special issue would be put out July 23 and would be a big loss unless the subscriptions are collected. A number of retail business men are also down on the list for amounts of from $10 to $50. No action has been taken toward returning to the people of the Third ward their pledges for money.

Tries to Divert Song to Politics

Judge Cooley Causes Ire of German by Interpreting Song as Shout for "Jim."

Six youths, gladly clad and supporting big Japanese parasol and innumerable Sangreton badges marched down Sixteenth street abreast yelling for St. Paul.

"Judge" Cooley stood on the corner of Sixteenth and Farnam talking politics. He heard the boys yelling and marched to the curb. "Hurray for Jim," he shouted. "Hurray for St. Paul," said the boys, and they both yelled together so loudly that neither knew what the other was yelling about.

"There, can't you see," said the judge, continuing his political argument. "It's in the air, everybody is enthusiastic about Jim's campaign."

A stout German on the sidewalk overheard and broke into the conversation. "You're wrong, frant," he remonstrated. "You are singing for St. Paul, Minn., not for any Jimmy. Can't you hear it?"

The "judge" was very bland and kind. "I see that you are a stranger in the city, sir, and you don't understand our customs. That is political enthusiasm, Jim."

Disrespectful Conduct of liver and bowels, in refusing to act, is quickly remedied with Dr. King's New Life Pills. 50c. For sale by Boston Drug Co.
