Sues for Work Done—John Latenser, architect, has brought suit against the city of South Omaha for $425, which he claims due him as the balance for work designing the South Omaha city hall.

New Precincts—Three new voting precincts have been added to the city of Omaha since the last county election as follows: First ward, Fifth district, 1901 South Fifth street; Sixth ward, Fifth district, 2205 Military avenue; Twelfth ward, Fifth district, 4413 North Twenty-fourth street.

Fear of Suicide—Leaving a note for his wife saying, "the Missouri river was not big enough for him," William Diese, a South Omaha contracting carpenter, left home Wednesday night, and it is feared he has committed suicide. Relatives say he was burdened with debts he was unable to meet. Two years ago Wiese disappeared and was thought to have met death, but returned home more than a year later.

Suit Goes to Federal Court—The case of Thompson, Belden & Co. against the Omaha Water company, which was commenced some time ago in the district court of Douglas county, was, on Friday, removed from that court to the United States circuit court, the water company being a foreign corporation, incorporated under the laws of the state of Maine. The suit is for the recovery of $6,500 damages, which it is alleged the plaintiff company suffered as a result of an overflow, caused by a defective hydrant.

More Pockets Picked—Thursday night's late collection of the mail boxes brought two additional wallets to swell the already large colection in the custody of Postmaster Thomas. Each of them was called for and identified by its owner Friday morning. One belonged to James Patterson of San Bernardino, Cal., who was in the city enroute from Plattsmouth to that place. The other was the property of J. P. Allen, Twenty-fifth and Leavenworth streets. Neither one of the gentlemen left the postmaster any statistics as to how great his loss had been from having his pockets rifled.

Tom Allen and Dahlman Confer

Two Erstwhile Speech Making Campaigners Are Closeted at the City Hall.

Tom Allen, brother-in-law of William Jennings Bryan, held a long conference in secret with Mayor Dahlman at the city hall Friday afternoon. The two were still closeted at last reports, and the situation furnished a sensation to a large gathering of Dahlman men who were in the building.

Both Mr. Allen and Mr. Dahlman have just returned from speechmaking campaigns through the state. It is thought they are comparing notes.

Ben Davis of Red Oak, Ia., was robbed of $100 by pickpockets on a car going to the asylum for the deaf and dumb about 6 o'clock Thursday evening. He reported to the police the theft had been committed by three men who jostled him on the rear platform, one being a tall man and the other two, short.

DENTISTS ELECT OFFICERS

National Dental Association Will Meet Next at Cleveland—I. S. Gaylord Elected President.

DENVER, July 21.—The National Dental association today selected Cleveland as the next meeting place and elected officers as follows:

President, F. S. Gaylord, New Haven, Conn.; first vice president, Charles S. Butler, Buffalo; second vice president, F. R. Warnel, Denver; corresponding secretary, Charles W. Rogers; Boston; recording secretary, I. M. Brown, Chicago.

At a public meeting in the auditorium, Dr. W. M. A. Evans, health commissioner of Chicago, advocated dental inspection as a part of the regular physical examination in public schools.

WANT MONEY ASSOCIATIONS

Secretary of Treasury Gets Letters from Banks in Principal Cities Offering to Co-operate.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Acting Secretary of the Treasury Andrew received letters today from banks in St. Louis, Louisville, Pittsburg, Philadelphia, Boston, and New York, announcing that they would be glad to co-operate in the organization of emergency currency associations. The responses to Secretary MacVeagh's suggestion for the creation of these associations, which would provide an issue of additional notes in financial crises, have been enthusiastic, the elimination of the withdrawal abstracts furnishing impetus for a decided boom in this direction.

RAWN INVOLVED IN SCANDAL

Questions Asked in Case Previously Planned to Incriminate.

HAVE NEW ACCIDENT THEORY

Private Detectives in Employ of Family Claim Dead Man Stumbled and So Discharged Revolver Unintentionally.

CHICAGO, July 22.—Whether Ira G. Rawn, president of the Monon road, was killed by a burglar in his home at Winnetka last Wednesday, or whether, as is stated by the Chicago police, he committed suicide, railroad men declared today his death occurred on the eve of what may be one of the greatest scandals in railroad history.

Questions asked Rawn July 7 in the Illinois Central car repair case all were planned, it is said by attorneys, with the intent to incriminate Rawn as responsible for losses to the road. Rawn, it is declared now, knew of the purpose of counsel and sought by every legal means to delay the progress of the examination. Twice on personal pleas he had obtained postponements, but the last effort for delay had failed and the examination was to have been continued next Tuesday.

"His death will not cause any halt in the inquiry," said Walter L. Fisher, one of the attorneys in charge of the case. "It is a civil inquiry to determine the amount of money involved. The questions asked Mr. Rawn at the prior sessions naturally were in the way of laying a foundation for facts ultimately to be brought out."

Family See Reporters.

For the first time since the death took place the air of secrecy was lifted from the Rawn home late today and newspaper men were summoned. Upon their arrival announcement was made that a second bullet, the absence of which added to the appearance of suicide, had been discovered. The bullet was found, according to C. F. Hately, who is conducting the investigation, in the ashes in a fireplace, almost in direct line of fire from where Mr. Rawn's death resulted.

Samuel H. Greeley, president of the village board of Winnetka, also telephoned Assistant Chief of Police Schuettler here, asking him to detail two men to aid in the investigation. A representative of the private detective agency, the men from which yesterday were repulsed at the Rawn home, also was summoned to aid in the investigation.

Tell of Accident.

A new theory as to the means by which Rawn was shot to death was suggested by the private detective agency engaged by the Rawn relatives to investigate the death. The opinion was expressed that Mr. Rawn met his death as the result of an accident, and in fact, but one shot had been fired and that from the revolver held by Mr. Rawn.

"It is likely that Mr. Rawn heard some noise in his home and with revolver in hand descended the stairs in search of an intruder," said an official of the detective agency.

"When near the bottom of the stairway, I believe he stumbled, and the revolver was discharged.

"This would account for the fact that only one shot was heard by neighbors and that there was no trace of a robber in the house. Mr. Rawn's relatives knowing he descended in search of a burglar, and then finding him dead, likely assumed he had been shot by a burglar when the death more probably was caused by the accidental discharge of his own revolver."

HARTFORD, Conn., July 21.—It was ascertained at the offices of a local insurance company today that Ira C. Rawn, president of the Monon road, a few days ago reduced the accident insurance policy carried by him from $50,000 to $10,000. No reason was given for the reduction.

DO NOT INFORM ON TELLER

Bank Officials Believe Missing Man Will Show Up—Think He Was Affected by Heat.

NEW YORK, July 21.—William C. Duncan, president of the Greenwich bank, a state institution, said today that Walter Hall, the paying teller of the Herald Square branch of the bank, had been missing since July 3.

"We did not even call in the police about the matter," Mr. Duncan added, "because we believed that Hall was simply touched by the heat and will turn up sooner or later. We have had all the hospitals watched, as we believe that there he will eventually be found."

MUTINY IN MADRID PRISON

Soldiers Subdue Outbreak After the Fight Has Lasted Three Hours.

MADRID, July 22.—A grave mutiny broke out at the prison here today. The fighting lasted for three hours and was only ended by calling in of troops. The soldiers intimidated the mutineers by firing in the air.

Aluminum Aeroplane Fails.

JOPLIN, Mo., July 21.—An aluminum aeroplane from which great things were expected by F. M. Dechenne, its inventor, came to grief at the aviation field this morning when the gasoline tank exploded during a short trial flight. Dechenne was uninjured.

National Banks Increase.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—A total of 7,145 national banks in the United States responded to the call of the comptroller of the currency for reports on their condition at the close of business on June 30 last. This is an increase of 219 banks since June 23, 1909.

Gideons Meet in Detroit.

DETROIT, Mich., July 22.—Gideons from all over the United States opened their convention in Detroit today. The Gideons are 7,500 or more traveling men whose slogan is "A bible in the guest room of every hotel." A. B. T. Moore of Cedar Rapids, Ia., is president of the organization.

Alleged Swindler Sent to Jail.

PHILADELPHIA, July 22.—When arraigned for a second hearing here today John R. Marshall, charged with conspiracy to defraud the National City bank of Cambridge, Mass., was held in $10,000 bail for trial at Boston. In default of bail he was sent to prison.

Forty-Two Years on One Ball Team

T. J. Kelley of Denison Holds Record for Continuous Service Upon Second Base Ball Sack.

CRESTON, Ia., July 22.—(Special.)—T. J. Kelley, formerly owner of a shoe store here but who also for many years was a business man of Denison, according to statistics, holds the world's record for the length of time he has played base ball in the same team and in the same position. Mr. Kelley was in the city yesterday and gave some interesting data about it. He says that for the last twenty-seven years he has played second base, and in the same team continuously, on an average of three games per week. Mr. Kelley has lived in Denison for forty-two years, and is 44 years old. He says he keeps up exercise during the winter season and keeps in good condition the year around. He enjoys perfect health and attributes it largely to his habit of regular exercise. When he was presented with a silver medal by the members. He says he intends to follow the game until he reaches the golden anniversary, which will make him 67 years old. The team he plays with is an independent one and all the members are much younger.

"There is not a man on the team who was born, when I began playing," was the statement he made yesterday.

HEART THROBS OF NEW YORK

Not as Stony as it is Pictured When the Struggling Needs a Hand.

Fifteen millions of dollars annually are spent in New York city in the interest of poor young men and women who are passing through the red sea of their initial destiny, to keep the tides of poverty, dissipation, commercial greed and benighted ignorance from engulfing them. As one millionaire put it bluntly: "A young man who goes hungry in New York proves that he may be either a criminal or a fool; that he is without education proves that he is both."

It was Emerson who said that man owed his fellow men something besides his purse and his counsel; he owed him himself. And today few people realize how many highly educated and otherwise busy men of the upper walks of life give up a portion of their time to the betterment of young men, personally instructing them, personally inquiring into their needs, not patronizing, nor making them feel the gap between the patrician and the proletary, as it were, but from a profound Emersonian sense of duty man to man and a deep conviction that we are indeed in a measure our brother's keepers. These are devoting not alone money but service in the cause of hgher citizenship and loftier manhood.

"Come, with me and we will continue this conversation at our leisure," said a famous lawyer to a newspaper man who was interviewing him at the University club one snowbound winter night last winter. Taking a carriage, the pair were driven down to a boys' club on the lower East Side. There the eminent authority, whose legal opinions were worth $100 an hour, delivered a lecture on medical jurisprudence to forty young men of the district all evening students of law, who worked by day as clerks and laborers for low wages, some of them even supporting parents and educating brothers and sisters on their pittances.

And yet in the same institution there are thrice a week seven equally distinguished gentlemen who are doing the same educational work without money or price, and above all, without flourish of trumpets or newspaper spread heads. It is that sort of helpfulness tendered to the stranger that tells mightily in the making of our future metropolitan, whom a city and oftimes a nation delights to honor.

Sociologists affirm that the most important period of a young stranger's metropolitan career is the first few months. It is then that fresh and impressionable mind of the neophyte takes in the chief characteristics of a great aggregation of architectural effects, as well as divers races and conditions of men. New York is a vast panorama, a perennial show place, where there are thousands of diversions of every kind, as many or more varied occupations, interests, scores of languages, religious beliefs and customs peculiar to every climate and country of the world. It is no wonder that youth is impressed by its vastness, its staggering activity, its multiplicity of conditions, resources and advantages in whatever department.

One thing must be borne in mind by the young stranger at the very outset. Making application for assistance, at any of these welcoming institutions in no wise compromises his pride. He is nowise regarded as an object of charity. In accepting help he still retains just as much of his self-respect as if, being a member of a great fraternal order, he felt entitled to enter a lodge wherever he might chance to be on the broad earth. In approaching them he must cast aside all thought of being regarded as a weakling and an incompetent, or an object for eleemosynary consideration on the part of his betters. He is not so looked upon or patronized. Wise and wealthy men have placed in competent hands great advantages for his use and improvement. They are just as much his to enjoy as are the parks, the recreation piers, hospitals, and the hundred other institutions which Father Knickerbocker has thrown open to the world without money or price.

A year or two ago a young man found himself homeless and penniless on a sleet blown March night in the neighborhood of Madison square. He was at that point of mental anguish and despair when men commit petty crimes and suffer imprisonment just for food and shelter. He was casting his eye about for a loose stone with which to smash a window when a hand was upon him. After his story was heard the policeman directed the youth to First avenue and Twenty-third street, the Municipal lodging house. Here he was questioned, given a bowl of coffee and half a loaf of black bread, led up to a shower bath, then up to a clean, sweet bed in one of the upper dormitories. He slept soundly. By morning his clothes had been fumigated, brushed and laid out, he was given a good breakfast, and the superintendent, seeing that he was a man of no ordinary breeding, sent him out to a department store, where he found work. Today he is receiving $4,000 yearly salary there and seldom misses a month that he does not call at the Municipal lodging house to inquire if there be not some deserving young man who has found himself in the same terrible plight as he found himself on the bitter night in March, when it was the toss of a bad penny whether he went to Sing Sing or was saved to useful citizenship through a kindly hand at a crisis in his career. Father Knickerbocker is not altogether unselfish in his provision. For is it not wiser, more humane and cheaper to afford such a one a few days' meals and lodging to tide over bitter crisis than to send him to prison and pay his maintenance for a term of years?—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

AUTO KILLS LITTLE BOY

Five-Year-Old Harry Drefs Struck by Car Driven by C. Sundell.

OCCURS NEAR 27TH AND HAMILTON

Owner at Wheel Says He Was Going Eighteen Miles an Hour, but Officers Declare Speed Twice That.

Harry, the 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Drefs, 2618 Hamilton street, was hit and almost instantly killed last night before his parents' house by an automobile driven by C. Sundell, 2845 South Thirty-fourth street. Sundell, who was arrested immediately after the occurrence by Officers Wetz and Cummings, is held on the charge of manslaughter.

Sundell, who is in the real estate business, was out showing some property to Mr. and Mrs. Bash, 1518 South Tenth street. They were accompanying him in his auto, making a tour of the locality when the accident happened. Sundell says he turned into Hamilton street at Twenty-fourth street, and admits that between there and Twenty-fifth street he was traveling at the rate of twenty-two miles an hour. This is his estimate, as he had no speedometer on the machine. He slowed down, he says, between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth streets as there was a crowd on the street.

Between Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh streets, where, he says, he was not going more than eighteen miles an hour, he saw the child and another playing on the street. He declares he signalled with the horn three times, and that the children evidently heard it, as one ran south while little Drefs took to the other side of the street and was struck by the machine.

The child's head was cut in two places and there was every evidence of fracture of the skull when it was examined by Police Surgeons T. T. Harris and Loveland.

They hurried with the little boy to St. Joseph's hospital, but life was found to be extinct just as the child was about to be placed on the operating table.

Officers Cummings and Wetz, who were sitting on a porch in the vicinity where the accident occurred, say the automobile was traveling at the rate of forty miles an hour.

The body has been taken in charge by Coroner Crosby. The father of the child is employed in the cigar store of Philip G. Moeller, 1703 North Twenty-fourth street.

Norris Brown for Chairman

Executive Committee Selects the Senator to Sound Keynote of Convention.

Senator Norris Brown will preside over the republican state convention at Lincoln next Tuesday, and will deliver the keynote speech at the opening of the meeting.

Senator Brown was chosen for chairman by the executive committee of the state committee last week, but announcement was deferred awaiting his return to the state and indication of his acceptance.

Senator Brown sent word from Kearney yesterday to Acting Chairman Learned that he would be glad to accept the invitation.

HYMENEAL

Shepherd-Matt.

RAPID CITY, S. D., July 22.—(Special.)—John Shepherd of Castle Creek, who for many years, under the name of John Post, was a well-known stock detective in Wyoming and Montana and quite well known in the west, was married here by County Judge Lewis to Miss Katie Matt of Hill City. For some years past Shepherd has been interested in mining in the hills, but is now going to locate northeast of here and raise fancy stock. Besides being a stock detective, Shepherd worked for some time in the south as revenue service agent for the government.

Science and Animal Magnetism.

BOSTON, Mass., July 20.—To The Editor of The Bee: In your issue of the 17th inst you publish a Boston dispatch containing the following words: "It was announced simultaneously that Mrs. Eddy would personally take part in the movement to drive out of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, the malicious animal magnetism which has been disturbing the peace of that institution." First I desire to say that Mrs. Eddy never takes a personal part in the disciplinary affairs of her church. Such matters are always handled by the Christian Science board of directors. The strange illusion of "malicious animal magnetism" in this statement does not mean anything to Christian Scientists. The use of the term in your report is evidently intended to be facetious. The term "malicious animal magnetism", in Christian Science parlance refers to the human opposite of Christian Science, the mental malpractice which undertakes to ape after Christian Science even as quackery undertakes to follow the practice of the honest physician.

Mrs. Eddy does not believe in the power of evil, but she has discovered that certain persons do believe in certain deceptive mental operations and she has taught her students how to protect themselves against such deception by understanding that God is in reality the only power.

American Millionaire is Jailed for Spoiling Fence

MEXICO CITY, July 22.—The department of foreign relations, at the solicitation of the American ambassador, has asked by telegraph for information relating to the arrest and imprisonment at Tijuana, in lower California, of D. W. McKay, an American millionaire resident of San Diego. McKay is alleged to have run afoul of the Mexican authorities through tearing down a portion of the boundary fence on an estate which he had recently purchased. Ambassador Wilson, anticipating the arrival of the instructions from Washington, which reached him today, had already taken the matter up with Foreign Minister Creel on a communication from Los Angeles signed by several prominent residents of that city.

McKay's offense, according to the understanding of the ambassador from the meager facts in his possession, is alleged to constitute trespass, which, under the construction of the Mexican law, is a crime, not a civil offense, and is punishable by imprisonment.

Mr. McKay was today released on bail at Ensenada, according to advices received by his attorney, J. F. Wadham of San Diego.

Will Throw Indian on His Own Resources to Aid Race

WASHINGTON, July 22.—In pursuance of its aim to raise the Indian to the plane of independence occupied by his compeers of other races, the bureau of Indian affairs will materially decrease the rations to be distributed among the red men this year. The officials are engaged in apportioning the Indian appropriation for the current year and will reduce the number of Indians receiving gratuities from the government by 10 to 15 per cent. This year the rations, it is said, will be confined largely to aged and indigent Indians.

The Indian bureau believes that in decreasing the rations so far as possible it is lending a helping hand to the Indian in his combat for self-support.

The goal which the officials see in the not distant future is a total abolition of these gratuities. Last year 17,868 Indians received rations at a cost of $412,142. This cost, it is expected, will be decreased by $28,035 this year, and the officials claim that the decrease would have been much greater had it not been for increased cost of living.
