GREAT SPREAD OF CHRISTIANITY

Report of Rev. Arthur Judson Brown Shows that Considerable Progress Has Been Made in Japan.

BY D. V. FRANCIS. N.*W YORK, July 23 .- (Special Dispatch to The Bee.)-The great world's missionary conference, which met in Scotland last month, is not to end in talk. It will have a vital influence in the spread of Christianity throughout the world for many years.

The outcome of the discussion was the establishment of a continuation committee, which will be the brain and the arm of the conference acting in the future. This means that the conference has not been merely a speaking enterprise; it is not to part and end in talk. It is to live and act. The committee is to be of an international and representative character to inv down lines for a future development. It is to consist of thirty-five members of this conference, distributed as follows: Ten from North America, ten from the Continent, ten from the United Kingdom, and one each. respectively, from Australasia, China, Japan, India, and South Africa. Ten years from now it will doubtless organize another conference-one in which the church on the mission field will be much more largely represented, and in which, perhaps, not only all Protestant agencies will be represented, but also the great Roman Catholic and Greek Catholic communions as well.

Already the continuation committee has met and organized for work. It elected Dr. John R. Mott as chairman and Dr. Eugene Stock and Dr. Julius Richter so vice-chairmen, Mr. Newton W. Rowell, K. C., of Toronto, was appointed treasurer. It was decided that these four officers, together with Sir Andrew Fraser, the Reverend R. W. Wardiaw Thompson, D. D., the Reverend Arthur J. Brown, D. D., the Revprend James L. Barton, D. D., and Count Moltke should form the executive committee. The continuation committee appointed Mr. J. H. Oldham as its secretary, and invited him to devote his whole time to this work.

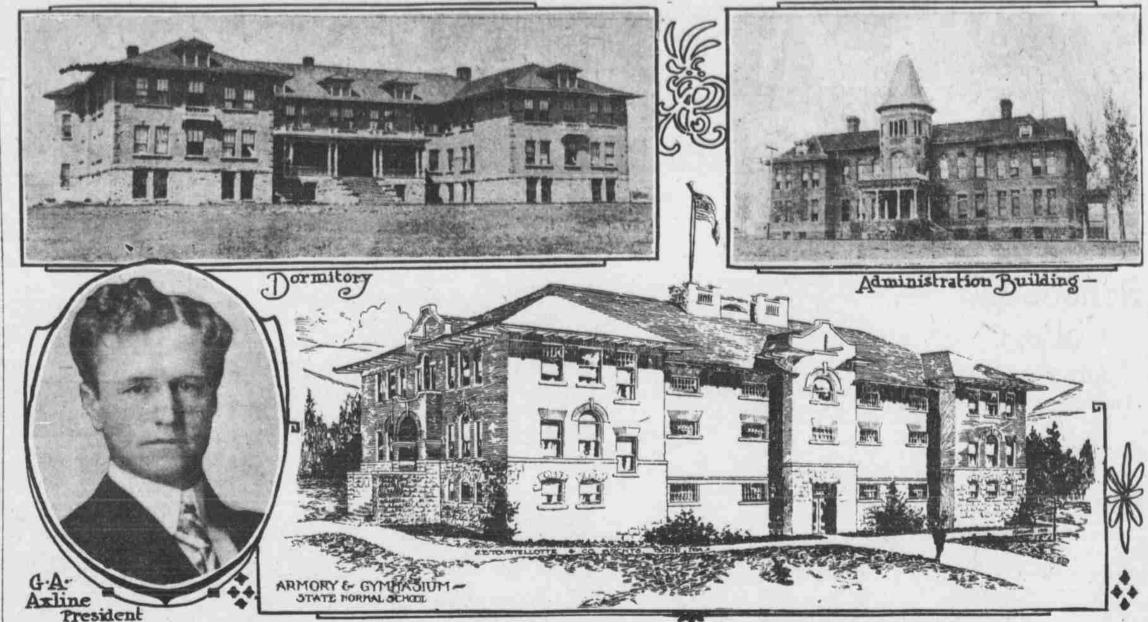

It was decided to take immediate steps to confer with the missionary societies in Europe and America as to the possibility of bringing into existence a body which might serve as a medium of communication between missionary societies and governments in matters affecting the common interests of different missions working in a particular area. The committee resolved to carry further in certain directions the investigations be gan by the commissions of the conference and to undertake certain fresh investiga tions which the proceedings at the conference showed to be necessary. For this purpose nine special committees, having as their chairmen members of the continuation committee, but including members from outside that committee, were appointed to investigate and report on various subjects, including:

1. Unoccupied fields. 2. The creation of a board of study with reference to the training of missionaries. 3. The development of training schools for naries. 4. Christian education in the mission field. 7. The appointment of an international
