SOME BOLLERS WILL NOT GO

Members of Mysterious Democratic Delegation Not Against Dahliman.

CLAIM THEY WERE NOT NOTIFIED

I. J. Dunn Still Says He is Going to Grand Island to Start Something on His Own Responsibility.

That mysterious delegation to the democratic convention that was worked up by some one is responsible for a continuous stream of remarks from the Dahliman men who are determined to discredit it before it goes to Grand Island if possible.

Monday morning the rumor was that it would not go anyway because the men on it were put on without their own consent. Some of the fifty-five are complaining that they were not notified of the proposed rump delegation and that they had no intention of backing Mayor Jim.

The Dahliman men are doing their best to circulate a story that the South Omaha meeting was an attempt to snub Shallenberger out of $200 which was to be given to pay the expenses of the crowd that was going to make the protest.

According to the Dahliman men Shallenberger failed to come through with the required amount and the rumpers will have to stay at home. The only man whose determination to upset the sold Douglas county delegation is still firm seems to be I. J. Dunn, who although he persists in his desire not to be classed with the South Omaha movement, still keeps to his intention of going to Grand Island and trying to show that the Dahliman delegates were not chosen in a legal convention.
