CHICAGO, July 28 .- Harold A. Sims, for ner car inspector of the Illinois Central and former superintendent of the Memphis Car company, continued before Master in Chancery Mason today his story of the aleged defrauding of the ratiroad by means of "fake" repairs and padded bills. Sims testified that H. C. Ostermann, resident of the Memphis Car company, seld shares of the concern for persons other than himself (Osterman), and that he (Sims) held five shares of the stock. "We made it a point to do some kind of epair work on every Illinois Central car brought to us so that the inspector would report on it," the witness continued, "Then we would doctor the bill in the office. When cars came in loaded with repair material, we would make some repair on the ears themselves, such as tightening the bolts. When the inspector reported on hem with his 'O. K.' we padded the bills just like the rest. I should judge the pading averaged about 40 per cent.'
