

BREAK BETWEEN SPAIN AND POPE

Monsignor Vico, the Papal Nuncio at Madrid is recalled by the Vatican.

MARQUIS DE OJADA QUITS ROME

Complete Severance of All Diplomatic Relations with Holy See.

RIOTING BREAKS OUT IN MADRID

By Many it is Believed Civil War is Almost Certain.

ALL EYES TOWARD DON JAIME

Parties to the Controversy Anxiously Awaiting to See What Attitude the Other Countries Will Assume.

ROME, July 30.—(Special Cablegram.)—Monsignor Vico, the papal nuncio at Madrid, was recalled today by the Vatican, completing the break between the Roman Catholic church and Spain. Marquis De Ojeda, left Rome today, having been recalled by Spain. The complete severance of diplomatic relations between the Vatican and the Spanish government puts an end to all possibility of amicable negotiations. MADRID, July 30.—(Special Cablegram.)—The excitement throughout Spain, following the direction of Premier Canalejas to recall Marquis De Ojeda, the Spanish minister at the Vatican, thus breaking off all diplomatic relations with the Holy See, took the form of rioting late tonight, and reports from the provinces state that disturbances broke out in many districts where soldiers and townspeople were wounded and many arrests made. This is looked upon as the first break. The government attempted to discount the disorder and troops were enroute all day. In official circles there is a grave question what action, if any, will be taken by the other European powers in the event that Don Jaime should succeed in regaining the throne, suddenly makes his appearance in Spain and commences the mobilization of his army.

No Interference Expected. It is believed there will be no interference from foreign powers even if civil war should break out. In case Don Jaime leads a well-equipped expedition against the troops of Alfonso and is successful in overthrowing the throne, it is believed the new government will be recognized if it should assume the obligations of the old government.

Spain is heavily in debt through the expense of the Moroccan war and the Carlists would have to agree to honor all outstanding Spanish bonds and obligations. The clerical element will stand for only one solution of the present situation. They want King Alfonso to resign his entire cabinet and form a new ministry, abdicate the program of clerical reform and withdraw the royal decrees permitting non-Catholic organizations to display the insignia of public worship.

The downfall of Canalejas is not a sufficient punishment to satisfy the radicals in the clerical party. The confusion which now exists gives the opportunity desired by a great lawless element which stands ready to join its forces with either side. The premier gives evidence of standing firm. It is his desire to see Spain's monarchized to such an extent that the clerical element will be absolutely without government influence. In brief, he wants to separate the church and the state. The premier feels confident that he will have the support of the Cortes. In spite of the premier's denials assurances of success, plotting is rife in the imperial family. There are members of the cabinet who wish to see conditions as they were, and there is a movement afoot now to have Canalejas overthrown and a new premier appointed.

King Has No Fear. It was said today that powerful influence is being exercised upon the king to depose Canalejas, but while this intrigue was brewing today the premier calmly allowed the following statement to be given to the press: "We do not fear the threat of civil war. The king and the Spanish democracy support us."

The Roman Catholic press in Madrid published leaders today commenting upon the recall of the Spanish ambassador from the Vatican.

The Catholic press professes to see victory in this event. Our paper advocates the wholesale chartering of special boats and trains to carry delegations of Roman Catholic subjects to San Sebastian, where Alfonso is now occupying his summer castle, where a petition would be presented to the monarch begging him to depose Canalejas. Canalejas is boldly taking up Don Jaime's threat of civil war and throne of the ancient monarchy is tottering towards an unknown abyss.

Students of history claim to foresee a republic for Spain as a result of the present condition. Much depends upon the action to be taken by the Cortes. Carlists do not favor any restrictions upon orders and leaders of the republican-socialist alliance do not try to disguise their hostility to the Canalejas program.

DON JAIME MAY FIGHT

Exiled Pretender Said to Have Backing for Contest.

PARIS, July 30.—(Special Cablegram.)—With the ancient monarchy of Spain standing upon the threshold of civil war, which may end it from the Pyrenean mountains to the Portuguese border, the intrusion of Don Jaime, the exiled pretender to the throne, has not caused any more complications than the report in Bourbon circles here that Miss Anne Morgan, daughter of J. P. Morgan, the American multi-millionaire, may become his queen.

For months society journals have published from time to time items of the interest which Don Jaime shows for Miss Morgan and which they say is reciprocated by her. Paris learned today for the first time that Don Jaime's latest entrance into Spanish affairs is to head a rebellion which may be financed by J. Pierpont Morgan.

It is believed that, together with the millions of dollars which may possibly come from America, Spain is ripe for a revolt, which will not only overthrow the government, but will establish Don Jaime to the throne which he has long claimed was his by right of law.

The possibility of Miss Morgan being (Continued on Second Page.)

Mrs. Ricker's Name Cannot Go on the Official Ballot

Attorney General of New Hampshire Rules on Application of Woman Who Wants to Be Governor.

CONCORD, N. H., July 30.—Attorney General Eastman today informed Secretary of State Edward Pearson that the latter has no right to place the name of Mrs. Marjorie M. Ricker of Dover and Washington, D. C., upon the official ballot to be used at the primary election in this state September 6, as a candidate for the republican nomination for governor.

Lawyer Killed by Partner's Widow

D. P. Thomas of Sturgis, S. D., Shot by Mrs. M. McMahon in Quarrel Over Business Matters.

STURGIS, S. D., July 30.—(Special Telegram.)—Attorney D. P. Thomas was shot and instantly killed this morning by Mrs. M. McMahon, the widow of his former law partner. The killing took place in the office occupied by the firm. Mr. McMahon died several months ago and it seems that Mrs. McMahon wanted Mr. Thomas to vacate the office and this he refused to do. David P. Thomas was the partner of Michael McMahon, the pioneer lawyer of Mead county, who died two months ago. Early this morning his widow went to the office formerly occupied by the late firm and demanded of Thomas that he forthwith vacate. Thomas laughingly refused, and was shot through the right eye. It is now learned that Mrs. McMahon had been trying to borrow a revolver yesterday. She was accompanied to the place of the tragedy by a woman relative. The coroner has taken charge of the body. Thomas leaves a widow and four children.

REV. MR. FISHER MAY SURVIVE

Minister Who Attempted Suicide by Cutting Throat Reported in Serious Condition, but He May Live.

Rev. Mr. J. L. Fisher, who attempted suicide Friday afternoon at his residence, 2749 Meredith avenue, by cutting his throat with a razor, is still in a critical condition. Owing to the fact that it was the same physician who operated on him, the minister lost a dangerous quantity of blood, and is now in a weakened condition, with his pulse very irregular. The hospital authorities state that he spent a good night, and they are hopeful for his recovery.

SANTA FE CUTS GRAIN RATE

Charges for Shipments West of Missouri Will Include Delivery at Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 30.—The Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad announces today that rates on bulk grain from Kansas City, Atchafalaya and El Dorado, when shipments originate west of those points, will include delivery at Chicago. An allowance of 1/2c will be made to elevators for performing this service. The new arrangement will become effective September 1. Other Kansas City-Chicago rates, it is said, will take similar action.

SUN HATCHES YOUNG CHICKS

Mother Hen Dies from Heat and Old Sol Takes Pity and Brings Chicks from Shell.

BEATRICE, Neb., July 30.—(Special.)—Hatching chickens in the sun is an unusual occurrence, but Mrs. Herman Bittings today reported that ten chicks were hatched at her place by the sun today. The mother hen died two days ago from heat, and Mrs. Bittings put the eggs in the sun. She was surprised today to find that ten chicks hatched from fourteen eggs.

WEEDMAN DIES OF APOPLEXY

Body of Prominent Citizen of Webster City, Ia., is Found in Cornfield.

WEBSTER CITY, Ia., July 30.—(Special Telegram.)—H. L. Weedman, who disappeared from his home in Webster City last evening, was found dead in his cornfield this morning. His death was due to a stroke of apoplexy. Mr. Weedman had been prominent in Woodstock and searching parties were looking for him all night.

Pioneer Nebraska Jurist Who Died Last Week

A few years ago every ball game that was played in Omaha was opened with the announcement by the umpire, "Is Mayor Moore here? Is Judge Lake here?—then play ball."

Judge George B. Lake died at his home, 230 Dodge street, Wednesday, at the age of 84. He was born in Greenfield, N. Y., September 15, 1825, and came to Nebraska in 1857. He had been educated at Oberlin college and read law in Elyria. His first law practice in Omaha was in association with A. J. Poppleton. Two years after coming to Omaha he was elected to the territorial legislature and served there for three terms. He was speaker of the house in 1865, a member of the committee that drew up the Nebraska state constitution and was a member of the state supreme bench from 1871 to 1884.

On his return to Omaha his practice was with James W. Hamilton, and at a later time, Henry E. Maxwell was added to the firm. He was an active although silent member of the firm of Hamilton & Maxwell until very recently.

Judge Lake came to Omaha when the residence of the city were on Twelfth and Thirteenth streets, and his first home was on Twelfth and Harney. The property was sold only recently for a new manufacturing plant, but it has been in the same hands for a decade. The present Lake home was built and occupied about twenty years ago.

For a number of years Judge Lake has been seen more frequently at the Vinton street ball park than at any other public place, and his enthusiastic support of the game, which was equalled only by the fan tendencies of the late Frank E. Moores, led to the custom of recognizing him from the field.

WENDLING UNDER ARREST IN FRISCO

Followed Eleven Thousand Miles, Man Accused of Murder of Alma Kellner is Captured.

PURSUIT KEPT UP FOUR MONTHS

Captain Carney at Last Runs Down Suspected Man.

INSISTS THAT HE IS INNOCENT

Alleged Murderer Admits His Identity but Changes Name.

DECOY LETTER DOES GOOD WORK

Prisoner is Found Hiding Beneath a Sink in the Wash Room of a Cheap Lodging House.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—Dragged from beneath the sink in the wash room of a Third street lodging house in this city, where he had been hiding for twenty-four hours, Joseph A. Wendling was arrested today by Detective Burke and Ryan of the local police department. Wendling admitted his identity, but protested his innocence. A few hours after the arrest, Captain of Detectives J. P. Carney of Louisville arrived, to learn that his 11,000-mile search for Wendling had been crowned with success. It was the final telegraphed tip from the Kentucky detective which led to the capture. In his relentless pursuit of the supposed murderer, lasting for four months, Carney many times lost the trail, but the secret of the whereabouts of his quarry always lay with Mrs. Cora Muen, a milliner of Hume, Mo. It was from her home that Carney flashed the information that led to the arrest.

It seemed the irony of fate that the only respectable woman found by Carney to have been connected with Wendling during his wanderings should have been the unconscious means of betraying him. Mrs. Muen, who lives at the home of her aunt in Houston, Tex., and before she returned to Hume she was engaged to the dashing young Frenchman, who dazzled the aunt with tales of his wealth in France, which would come to him with the death of his aged father. Before Mrs. Muen left Houston she grew to fear Wendling and after her return to Hume she broke the engagement.

Trail Lost in Texas.

When Carney received the clue that Wendling was working for a grocer in Houston, the detective began the long search which led him to every county seat in Texas. At Houston he found that Wendling had fled to San Antonio, where he had obtained a position on a ranch near that town, but the hunted man had fled, leaving some of his effects behind. Here Carney lost the trail.

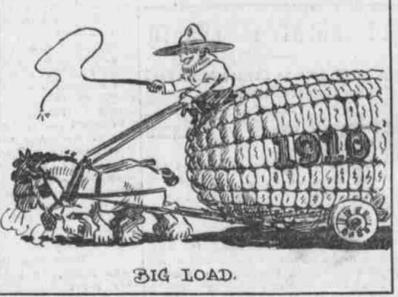

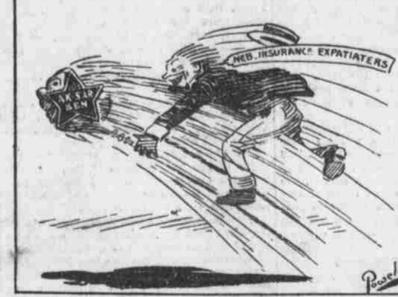

Returning to Houston the detective sent a decoy letter, ostensibly written by the aunt of Mrs. Muen, asking for the address of Henry Jacquemin, the name assumed by Wendling when he left Louisville. The reply, intercepted by Carney, informed him that his prey was in Los Angeles. The detective's trip to Los Angeles proved fruitless and he returned to San Antonio, where he found that Henry Picard, a friend of Wendling, had received a picture postal card from the fugitive. This communication, written in French, was postmarked Rio Vista, Cal.

Abandoning his Texas hunting grounds, Carney came immediately to this city where he procured the assistance of the local detective bureau. Accompanied by Detective Conlin, he went to Rio Vista, and found the man had fled, leaving behind him, however, his name on the payroll of a company which was building jetties along the Sacramento river. Then the trail again became so cold that Carney determined to visit Mrs. Muen at her home in Hume. He reached there just in time to prevent the destruction of a postal which gave the address of Wendling in Vallejo, Cal.

Letters Are Destroyed.

Mrs. Muen had destroyed her correspondence with Wendling and was on the point of burning the postbag when the Louisville police official arrived. When the address was flashed to San Francisco, Detective Burke was at once sent to Vallejo. In the possession of Alice Miller, with whom Wendling had been living, he found the fugitive's photograph and a complete kit of burglar tools. A further search of the (Continued on Second Page.)

Coming and Going in Omaha

Local Events as Viewed by The Bee's Artist.

MORE TROOPS FOR COLUMBUS

Officers Decide to Call Out Two Additional Regiments.

QUIET FOLLOWS THE ORDER

Probability that Military Patrol of City Will Be Established This Afternoon—Governor Harmon Returns.

COLUMBUS, O., July 30.—The Fourth regiment of Columbus, the Eighth of Akron and Troop B of Columbus were ordered out today on strike duty in Columbus. Other troops may be ordered out later. The state emergency board is in session with the governor and will appropriate $50,000 to pay the soldiers and cover other expenses incident to the strike of street car men here.

The governor has consented to the patrolling of the streets by the troops. Everything is quiet following the outbreaks last night and today by strike sympathizers consequent upon the resumption of street car service. Governor Harmon, Mayor Marshall, Adjutant-General Weybrecht, and others at Cleveland have been notified to hold themselves in readiness for a call. No movement of the troops has been made to establish a military patrol over the city, although Adjutant-General Weybrecht is quoted as saying he will take such action today.

MAN WITH BIG HAMMER CALLS UPON PRESIDENT

Physician Will Examine John Schubbell, Who Wanted to See Taft on Religious Matters.

BEVERLY, Mass., July 29.—John George Stenson Schubbell of Baltimore, Md., who said he wanted to see President Taft on religious matters, was taken into custody today by the secret service operatives at the Evans cottage today. The city physician will make an examination of Schubbell. A big hammer was taken away from him.

Hot weather is here, and cool rooms in the residential sections are in demand.

Do you want one? The want ad columns of today's Bee give about all of the information desired about rooms.

All of the best ones are advertised. Look them over. It will be entirely worth while.

If you should not find the one desired, call Tyler 1000 and tell the ad maker what you wish. He will write your ad and place it.

Then watch the replies.

Serious Clash of Races Near Slocum, Tex.

Ten Negroes Reported Killed and Three White Men Wounded in All Night Fight.

HOUSTON, Tex., July 30.—That ten negroes have been killed and several white men injured in a race riot at Slocum, Anderson county, is told in reports received here today.

The adjutant general at Austin was notified of the trouble and sent state rangers to the scene, and in a dispatch received this afternoon says it is probable further serious trouble will be averted. The riot began late yesterday, when James Alford, a white man, had an altercation with a negro regarding a protested note. This led to a general fight between the whites and negroes, in which knives and pistols were used.

When a semblance of order was restored ten negroes were found dead and several more were wounded. It is believed others who were concealed by members of their race have since died. Three white men, whose names have not been learned, were seriously injured.

"Katy" Road to Increase Debt.

PARSONS, Ky., July 30.—Stockholders of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad met today to approve and authorize an increase in the bonded indebtedness of the company, not to exceed $25,000,000 outstanding at any one time, bonds to bear interest at 5 per cent from April 1, this year.

QUARANTINE AREA REDUCED

Department of Agriculture Removes Bar from Nebraska Counties.

DISEASE IN SHEEP AND CATTLE

Eradication Constantly Going on and Government Experts Satisfied with the Results Being Accomplished.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, July 30.—(Special Telegram.)—The acting secretary of agriculture has issued an order, effective August 1, removing the quarantine for manges of scabies from cattle of Dawson county, Montana and from Hayes, Hitchcock, Chase and Dundy counties, Nebraska. This action has been taken because of progress made in eradication of this disease by co-operative efforts of federal and state authorities.

The work has been under way for several years, and from time to time quarantine restrictions are removed from areas as they are free from infection. Large areas have been released from quarantine in the last few years. The territory now remaining under quarantine comprises portions of Montana, Wyoming, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, Oklahoma and Texas. In Montana counties of Teton, Chouteau and Valley remain under quarantine, and in Nebraska the counties of Sioux, Scott's Bluff, Banner, Kimball, Cheyenne, Box Butte, Dawes, Sheridan, Deuel, Perkins, Keith, McPherson, Grant, Cherry, Hooker, Thomas, Logan, Lincoln.

(Continued on Second Page.)

Nebraska Woman Joins in "Back to Ireland" Move

"Back to Ireland" has been a potent watchword in the United States for several months, with the result that a great many former residents of Ireland have returned to the land of their birth for a summer visit. The movement has something more back of it than a mere effort on the part of steamship agents to drum up business for their lines. It is deeply rooted in sentiment, for the love of the "old sod" is still strong in the hearts of all those who claim it for their birthplace.

These go back reverently to visit old scenes and old friends, to renew former ties and to make new ones, and more especially to note the progress that the new Ireland is making. It has been suggested by the Irish Home Going association, which has its headquarters in New York, that great good will come to Ireland as the outcome of this summer's visitations. It is thought that the returning Irishmen and women with their new ideas from a land of ideas will give an impetus to thought and action in Ireland that will be of immense importance in shaping the course of events there.

Nebraska has been represented very liberally in this movement, many citizens of the state taking advantage of the summer to revisit Ireland. One of them, really a "granddaughter" of Ireland, is Miss Catherine L. Duggan of Dakota county, who left in June for a summer among the scenes where her father and mother spent their childhood. Daniel Duggan and his wife were born in Canavee, County Cork, Ireland, and came to America with their parents, who settled in Massachusetts.

From there the Duggans came to Nebraska in 1855 as members of the Father Tracy colony, settling in Dakota county. Here Catherine was born and grew to womanhood. She is now retired from her former vocation of teaching, and is interested in farming very extensively, owning quite a bit of rich Nebraska soil. She is highly esteemed at her home.

MISS CATHERINE L. DUGGAN.

HARRIMAN ROAD HOST TO OMAHA

Thousands Visit the New Union Pacific Shops as Guests of Road.

EVERYTHING IS THROWN OPEN

Throngs of Visitors Accent the Union Pacific Invitation.

M'KEEN SHOPS ALSO VISITED

Great Interest is Shown in This Big Enterprise.

VISIT A LIBERAL EDUCATION

Affair Takes the Nature of University Extension Work, with Chance for Practical Study of the Great Plant.

It was an extraordinary large class in university extension work, to which the Union Pacific and McKeen Motor Car companies gave lessons in practical mechanics Saturday.

From 8 o'clock, the hour announced for the opening of the inspection by the citizens of Omaha, men and women and many children poured through the gates at East street and proceeded to march through the great shops. The actual journey was no joke will be realized when it is stated that the ground area covered by the buildings totals 100 acres. Yet it is doubtful if even the most delicate woman or child in the throng ever gave a thought to the distance covered. On every side and at every turn was something of patent instruction, often of intense interest. The educational features held all thoughts.

In these shops men handle locomotives as children handle playthings; and mastery of products of one branch of the plant were but yesterday regarded as playthings by men who today consider them as marking a new era in railroad building, namely, the McKeen motor cars.

Tremendous looking steel airships were waiting and standing at ready as readily as a tooth pick goes through butter, while others were boring holes and shaving surfaces to the exactness of a thousandth part of an inch. The mighty maw of one machine would crush in a second an inch-wide piece of steel without even perceptible flexure, while alongside would be a machine in which a great crank shaft was being manipulated as a squirrel plays with a nut.

Further up the line dazzling fires were heating big sheets of steel to a blazing white condition. And workmen were continually pulling these pieces out, laying them on a solid anvil as big as a wagon, fixed in the ground. Then these industrial fire-eaters would send a wondrous metal link into the head of a beer barrel and sailed in to pound the sizzling sheet into order. They went around it, indeed, "like a cooper around a barrel," and shortly the wooden mallet would crush the steel into the shape of a barrel, and shortly the wooden mallet would crush the steel into the shape of a barrel, and shortly the wooden mallet would crush the steel into the shape of a barrel.

Further up the line dazzling fires were heating big sheets of steel to a blazing white condition. And workmen were continually pulling these pieces out, laying them on a solid anvil as big as a wagon, fixed in the ground. Then these industrial fire-eaters would send a wondrous metal link into the head of a beer barrel and sailed in to pound the sizzling sheet into order. They went around it, indeed, "like a cooper around a barrel," and shortly the wooden mallet would crush the steel into the shape of a barrel, and shortly the wooden mallet would crush the steel into the shape of a barrel.

Further up the line dazzling fires were heating big sheets of steel to a blazing white condition. And workmen were continually pulling these pieces out, laying them on a solid anvil as big as a wagon, fixed in the ground. Then these industrial fire-eaters would send a wondrous metal link into the head of a beer barrel and sailed in to pound the sizzling sheet into order. They went around it, indeed, "like a cooper around a barrel," and shortly the wooden mallet would crush the steel into the shape of a barrel, and shortly the wooden mallet would crush the steel into the shape of a barrel.

Further up the line dazzling fires were heating big sheets of steel to a blazing white condition. And workmen were continually pulling these pieces out, laying them on a solid anvil as big as a wagon, fixed in the ground. Then these industrial fire-eaters would send a wondrous metal link into the head of a beer barrel and sailed in to pound the sizzling sheet into order. They went around it, indeed, "like a cooper around a barrel," and shortly the wooden mallet would crush the steel into the shape of a barrel, and shortly the wooden mallet would crush the steel into the shape of a barrel.

Further up the line dazzling fires were heating big sheets of steel to a blazing white condition. And workmen were continually pulling these pieces out, laying them on a solid anvil as big as a wagon, fixed in the ground. Then these industrial fire-eaters would send a wondrous metal link into the head of a beer barrel and sailed in to pound the sizzling sheet into order. They went around it, indeed, "like a cooper around a barrel," and shortly the wooden mallet would crush the steel into the shape of a barrel, and shortly the wooden mallet would crush the steel into the shape of a barrel.

Further up the line dazzling fires were heating big sheets of steel to a blazing white condition. And workmen were continually pulling these pieces out, laying them on a solid anvil as big as a wagon, fixed in the ground. Then these industrial fire-eaters would send a wondrous metal link into the head of a beer barrel and sailed in to pound the sizzling sheet into order. They went around it, indeed, "like a cooper around a barrel," and shortly the wooden mallet would crush the steel into the shape of a barrel, and shortly the wooden mallet would crush the steel into the shape of a barrel.

Further up the line dazzling fires were heating big sheets of steel to a blazing white condition. And workmen were continually pulling these pieces out, laying them on a solid anvil as big as a wagon, fixed in the ground. Then these industrial fire-eaters would send a wondrous metal link into the head of a beer barrel and sailed in to pound the sizzling sheet into order. They went around it, indeed, "like a cooper around a barrel," and shortly the wooden mallet would crush the steel into the shape of a barrel, and shortly the wooden mallet would crush the steel into the shape of a barrel.

Further up the line dazzling fires were heating big sheets of steel to a blazing white condition. And workmen were continually pulling these pieces out, laying them on a solid anvil as big as a wagon, fixed in the ground. Then these industrial fire-eaters would send a wondrous metal link into the head of a beer barrel and sailed in to pound the sizzling sheet into order. They went around it, indeed, "like a cooper around a barrel," and shortly the wooden mallet would crush the steel into the shape of a barrel, and shortly the wooden mallet would crush the steel into the shape of a barrel.