the blik consisted of horned bed seen seen a with quite a sprinking of cow stuff and a moderate supply of feedars. There was quite a liftle sprinking of confed cattle, for which the demand was quite brisk and anything desirable along that line sold anywhere from strong to as much as loc higher at least. Pretty good kinds sold up to $1.45. Range beef stears, although in large supply, commanded steady prices and in some cases salesmen thought the market was strong on the best wrades.
